COATS OFF IN COURT.

Justice in the East Is Sweltering.

All Records for June Come Within an Ace of Being Shattered.

Strikers in Cincinnati Are Threatening to Go on Strike Tomorrow.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Today was the hottest day this year, and within one-tenth of a degree of the hottest June day in the records of the Chicago Weather Bureau.

From 2 to 3 p.m., the government station's thermometer recorded 98.4 degrees. The record of June 9, 1911, was 98.5 degrees. This high mark was reached only a half-hour, when the sky was partly cloudy and a light lake breeze followed the temperature 14 degrees. Before sunset there was another shift and the mercury climbed back to 98, where it hung.

At 7 o'clock that the sharp drop in the better came, the mercury falling 30 degrees in the next hour, continuing downward at a rapid pace. The late bulletin from the Weather Bureau predicted thunderstorms and cooler weather with fair weather and generally fair tomorrow.

DEATHS IN THE STREET.

Prostration in the street, where the heat waves was reflected from the sidewalks and thrown up by the paving pavements, was, of course, more frequent than that recorded in the dome of the Federal building. Warm as the wind was it served to freshen the thick air a bit.

DEATHS.

The only deaths directly due to the heat, according to police and hospital reports, were those of 16-year-old Sophia Naleta, at the County Hospital, and John F. Collins, manager of the United States Adjustment and Reporting Agency, who was found dead in bed at his residence, No. 3043 West Harrison street.

Fritz Klopfer, No. 1615 Orchard street, an invalid for three years, complained of the heat, and, walking hastily to his room, found a revolver and killed himself.

A trackwalker on the South Side "L," Joseph Modish, No. 211 West Twenty-second street, came near having his name in the list of dead. He collapsed at Sixty-first street, within a few inches of the fatal third rail, but was rescued by companions.

JUSTICE SWELTERS.

Municipal Judge Sullivan glanced in amusement at the wilting lawyers gathered at his bar.

"Take off your coats if you want to," he said, and coats were off in a hurry. Judge McDonald extended the same privilege.

In the streets there were hundreds of coatless. But the traffic policemen in heavy uniforms stuck to their posts over the sizzling asphalt and broiled. They kept their temper fairly well, except when too sociable acquaintances paused long enough to inquire whether it was hot enough. Great powers of self-restraint prevented a hundred arrests for this alleged merry quip.

BABIES SUFFER.

Suffering among the babies and invalid women was pitiful, and after sunset and long after the time when

[A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) June 16.—Potatoes of last year's crop sold as low as 10 cents a bushel in carload lots here today. With several large shipments to smaller cities the biggest potato "glut" ever known here was relieved slightly. The yards were turned into auction pits. Several grocers bought carloads and offered a bushel of potatoes as a premium with grocery orders.

MONEY BILL IS DRAFTED

Wilson Orders It Rushed.

Will Pit House Against Senate to Rush the Measure Through.

Banks, Government, the People Each Will Have Joint Representation.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There is the most optimistic feeling imaginable in administration circles regarding the outlook for currency legislation during the present session of Congress despite the conditions which spell doubt in the minds of observers on the side lines. President Wilson is extremely hopeful and professes no knowledge of Democratic differences which may embarrass action in the near future.

It is planned to put the matter before Congress and the country in concrete form during the present week in expectation that public sentiment will force the issue once the reform measure is presented. There have been several conferences during the day. Representative Glass, chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency, has had a long talk with Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and Representative Underwood, the Democratic floor leader, has been in consultation with President Wilson. The scheme is to start the ball rolling in the House, pass a bill through that body and rely on the moral effect of the House action in forcing the Senate to stay on the job and complete the work. The theory is that if the House gets behind a measure the country will fall in line and make the Senate "see the light." It is kept in mind in this connection, that one-third of the Senate membership must seek re-election by direct vote next year and it is the administration belief that this fact alone will have an important bearing on the situation.

WILSON IS HOPEFUL.

According to information gathered today the administration is hopeful of concentrating attention on currency reform at the present session of Congress by making the matter a party issue. Reliance is placed on the powerful influence of President Wilson as a party leader. At the same time the Democratic House leaders are considering the advisability of pushing the legislation without the medium of a party caucus. Representative Underwood figures that action can be had in the lower house, which has an overwhelming Democratic majority, merely by introducing a bill and letting the sentiment of the country do the rest. A caucus, it is admitted, would bring much friction. In the case of the tariff, it is explained, the caucus was the proper thing, because the country already had spoken on that subject and the majority had only to get together and ratify the popular will. But in the currency matter, it is pointed out, the country has not yet delivered its ultimatum. Once the bill is introduced, however, it is reasoned that sentiment will crystalize rapidly and suggest such changes in terms as finally to bring agreement.

ATTITUDE OF SENATE.

If this theory of House action is substantiated, the question will resolve itself into one concerning the attitude of the Senate. At the present time it may be said that all energies are being directed toward getting a measure through the House, and in view of all the circumstances, there is good reason to believe that success will attend the initial effort. The difficulties in the way of action, even at the House end, have been set forth heretofore in these dispatches, but in connection with these difficulties one must keep in mind the tremendous strategic ability and resourcefulness of President Wilson. He and his advisers are banking on this strategy and resourcefulness. As party leader he has yet to meet his Waterloo—and it is a little early in the game even to fear such a thing in the view of administration supporters.

FEATURES OF BILL.

The essential features of the bill which will be introduced, probably this week, have been known for some time. They are tentative, it is true, but they have been approved by the Secretary of the Treasury, and it is believed that President Wilson is behind the Secretary. It is expected that changes will be made to meet the demands of popular sentiment after the issue is squarely presented. Under the terms of the bill in its tentative form, the country will be divided into fifteen geographical subdivisions in each of which a regional reserve association may be formed. The Federal board of reserve, which it proposes to establish at Washington, would be vested with authority to increase the number of regional associations. The national banks in each of these subdivisions would be required to participate in the formation of the regional reserve associations, while State banks which met certain conditions and requirements of organization, would be permitted to participate as member banks of these associations.

FOR NINE DIRECTORS.

There will be nine directors for each regional reserve bank. Three of these directors will be bankers elected

Multnomah County Treasury Stands to Lose Five Thousand Dollars Annually by Physical Examination Requirement While Outside States Reap the Benefit.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND, June 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Multnomah county (Oregon) treasury stands to lose $5000 a year through the enforcement of the new marriage license law according to the statement of Deputy County Clerk Cochran today. Comparisons of the figures for the second week in June indicate that the number of licenses has fallen off more than 50 per cent. In 1912 the second week produced just 100 applicants. During the past week the number was thirty-five. The number of marriages of Portland people in Vancouver, Washington, is correspondingly large, said Cochran. "The enforcement of the law requiring applicants to pay a medical fee is going to deprive the county of a lot of money." The receipts of the marriage license department last year were $10,953. A total of 3621 licenses was issued and a fee of $3 collected for each one.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NOGALES (Ariz.) June 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An unusually large number of prominent Nogales (Ariz.) residents and members of the Mexican colony, together with leading United States military and civil authorities, consular and other functionaries of the Mexican government, accompanied Mrs. R. F. Del Valle and her daughter to the railway station here for the arrival of Reginaldo F. Del Valle, personal peace envoy of President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan, who arrived this evening from Hermosillo, the revolutionary capital of the State of Sonora. There passed from Mr. Del Valle's lips and those of his accomplished wife and daughter most friendly and courteous words of farewell. The northbound train on which they departed left here tonight at 6:30 o'clock, fifteen minutes after Mr. Del Valle's arrival from the south. From Tucson Mr. Del Valle will proceed with the greatest haste on his journey toward Mexico City. The ladies will return to Los Angeles.

Mr. Del Valle had but very little time here in which to speak of his visit in Hermosillo, but he thanked the correspondents for the kindly interest shown in his peace mission to Mexico.

It is believed that Mr. Del Valle, free agent that he is, became acquainted at first hand with conditions as they are in Hermosillo and that he acquired much information in the city. He had hoped to visit the front yesterday, but was constrained to

LAST BILL IS SIGNED.

But Worse Is Yet to Come.

Enforcement of the Johnson Laws Will Mean Hardship to All California.

Retrospect and Forecast of the Havoc Wrought and the Ills a-Coming.

People May Have to Pay an Ad Valorem Tax to Meet Frightful Cost.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, June 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At midnight the time for executive consideration of the bills passed by the last Legislature expired, and all that failed to receive the Governor's signature have failed to become laws. Several he has signed will undoubtedly have to run the gauntlet of the referendum before they go into effect.

First in importance from the standpoint of the administration of the bills enacted and approved are Johnson's so-called "commandments" to the lawmakers.

These bills proposed the following laws:

Weights and measures' law, "blue-sky" law, "minimum wage" commission, "immigration commission," water commission, mothers' pensions law, workmen's compensation law, eight-hour extension act, rural credit commission, and civil service.

Others of equal importance which have received gubernatorial approval are: Redlight and abatement act, alien-land bill, State Board of Education bill, full-crew bill, net-container bill, pipe-line bills, medical bill, direct election of United States Senators, automobile-registration bill, revenue-and-taxation bill, repeal of the corporation franchise tax bill, and others.

WHAT IT COSTS.

The "ten commandments" will cost the State within the next two fiscal years approximately $1,408,000, as follows: Weights and measures, $40,000; "blue sky," $10,000 and salaries; minimum wage commission, $15,000; immigration, $50,000; water bill, $50,000; mothers' pensions, $460,000; workmen's compensation and State employees' insurance, $280,000; rural credits, $2000.

Indirectly some of them may cost a great deal more.

Road and highways, exclusive of the improvements under the $18,000,000 State highway bond act, will aggregate an expenditure of many thousands.

Improvements and new buildings for State institutions and university work stand to cost the State more than $4,000,000.

New jobs created, new commissions and bureaus, salary increases and new courts authorized will give Gov. Johnson the distribution of patronage amounting to almost another million within the coming biennial period.

SUMMARIZED.

Summarized in its entirety, including its own expenses, the Legislature just closed has spent, with the Governor's approval, a trifle more than the estimated revenue for the coming biennial period. The general appropriation bill as signed provides for the expenditure of nearly $13,700,000, while special appropriation bills, including mothers' pensions, free textbooks and one or two other extraordinary items, bring the total up to about $6,000,000. About $30,000,000 is estimated as the State's revenue for the next two years. The general and special appropriations and the State aid to elementary high schools and the university will approximate a grand total of $31,000,000. In order to meet the obligations incurred by the Legislature and Governor a dip into the surplus of the State treasury to the extent of $1,000,000 seems probable, or else an ad valorem tax must be levied on the people.

JUGGLING OF LAWS.

Because of the recent juggling of the laws, the Controller is unable to estimate accurately what the revenue for the coming period may be. The automobile tax will be productive of nearly $800,000 annually; the inheritance tax, which is constantly growing, with its increased rates may net considerably more than it has, and the host of professions, individuals and various businesses which are to be taxed under the provisions of new laws enacted will swell the revenue still more.

SIX HUNDRED DEATHS.

Approximately 600 laws enacted by the recent Legislature were permitted to die today, according to the Governor's own declaration. Many he was unable to digest because of the lack of time; many were passed under the directions of the executive with no intention of approving them, and others, some meritorious, did not receive executive sanction because they failed to bear proper Bull Moose earmarks.

"BLUE-SKY" BILL.

The "blue-sky" bill, which vests in a commissioner of corporations sole authority to regulate or sanction any investment company, is a measure on which Southern California promises a referendum. The redlight abatement bill will be held up by a referendum; the workmen's compensation act may suffer that ignominity, and its companion bills, establishing State insurance, if tested in court, according to many law members of the Legislature, will be declared unconstitutional. The water conservation bill, "railroaded" through the Assembly by administration leaders at the Governor's direc-

Rule of Distance in Dancing.

Every City Council in the United States Is Urged to Enforce It.

Uniformed Inspectors With Tape Measures Latest Demand of Terpsichore.

Professional Teachers Blame the Smart Set for Bad Animal Stunts.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Public censors of dancing, who shall be armed with rules and tape measures, and force all dancers to remain at least six inches apart when they step the light fantastic, are advocated by the United Professional Teachers of Dancing.

While the thermometer "turkey-trotted" between 95 and 110 deg., and even September Morn sought a palm-leaf fan, the dancing teachers today opened their eighth annual convention and laid down the six-inch rule as the first for purifying terpsichorean art.

There were thirty-two dancing teachers present, and they decided to ask every City Council in the country to pass the one-half-foot-dance-distance ordinance and censor dancing the same as plays, moving-picture films and postcards.

This rule, of course, will not be necessary in the public dance halls. Proprietors of the halls, most of them are teachers, admit their institution needs no "clean-up." The private club and the private "hop" are the places that need censoring, say the instructors.

ANIMAL DANCE.

"All this animal dance stuff is taught in the private club," said W. F. Braun of Pittsburgh, who is a member of the association advisory board, "and until that is censored the eyebrow gavotte and the horse trot and the other bad dances will give us trouble."

IN SOCIETY, TOO.

J. Louis Guyon, president of the organization, elaborated upon this same idea in a little chat to the delegates. He asserted that "the people who are supposed to be in society dance, the objectionable dances, the dance of the masses is perfectly all right.

"Every few nights a member of some exclusive club will come to our public dances and try to step the same steps that are popular at the club. We have to warn him, and then if he doesn't stop we pull him off the floor. The police would arrest us if we permitted the club turkey-trotting, bunny-hugging, one-stepping and dipping."

COLLEGE YOUTH BLAMED.

But before the club, the college boy is too blame for the degeneration in dancing, say the teachers. They attribute this to the fact that the collegian goes on a gay slumming party, learns a new step and then introduces it to his girl friends as the "latest craze" at the dances of his alma mater.

Convention delegates had expected to give some exhibition steps of a few new dances today, but the weather was too hot. They may adjourn to some bathing beach and don swimming suits for this part of their convention programme. They will go for a lake excursion tomorrow. The convention will last throughout the week.

PART ROMEOS FROM JULIETS.

ENGAGED PAIRS BARRED FROM MARCHING TOGETHER.

State University of Washington Adopts Rule Applying to Betrothed Couples at Public Functions to Prevent Confusion Among Those Who Are Not Engaged.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE, June 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Notice: No engaged couples shall march together in the Baccalaureate Sunday or commencement day processions." Such was the manifesto which abashed a number of members of the graduating class at the University yesterday morning when the 260 Seniors lined up at Denny Hall to march to Meany Hall for the baccalaureate sermon.

This unusual proclamation, which embarrassed several Romeos and Juliets of the near-alumni group did not come from the office of Isabella Austin, dean of women, who is in constant conflict with Dan Cupid while trying to prevent the little god of love from making a clean sweep among the university undergraduates. But the regulation was instituted by Dr. D. C. Hall and Bursar H. T. Condon, assistant marshals of university commencement week, who declared upon the protests of quite a few confused seniors that the practice of betrothed couples marching together during past commencement affairs caused considerable comment.

"The rule is a good one," declared Condon, "but it is ineffective in many cases, since neither Dr. Hall nor myself are mind readers. The honor system is naturally adopted."

Last Bill Is Signed.

tion, will be battled over in the courts.

From all angles, the legislative session of 1913 has shattered records. It passed more bills, appropriated more money, cost more money, lasted much longer, and furnished more national comment of belittling character than any previous assemblage. Hundreds of so-called "freak" bills introduced failed of passage. Many, however, were rushed through, and a large percentage of this lot have been signed by Gov. Johnson.

So many laws have been enacted and approved and are of such radical and freakish nature, that California people will never hear of many unless an attempt is made to enforce them.

Labor unionism scored in almost every law it wanted on the statute books, with the possible exception of the "cement dust" bill, which met defeat by a scant margin. More advanced legislation favoring unions now is on the California statute books than in any other State of the Union. Some measures enacted border close to ridiculous, others are humane and reasonable and have no tendency to work undue hardship on the employer.

A JOB.

Of the bills signed today, one marks the culmination of the most flagrant job ever pulled off in the Legislature of the State. This is the Water Commission bill. Emissaries of Johnson invaded the floor of the Assembly lobbying for it, begging for it, threatening for it, offering executive favor for it. But all these efforts failed and it did not receive a constitutional majority. In desperation, a bold stroke was made. A majority was counted, although not cast. This has been shown beyond dispute. But the record was not corrected. Col. Killingsworth's affidavit that he had not voted for the bill as recorded, disappeared before the journal was printed. The bill actually did not pass, but the Governor has signed it, and a resort to the courts is now the only possible remedy. This is the pet measure of the old Pardee State Water Commission, discredited by Glavis, and now to be perpetuated. The new commission will consist of five members, the Governor and State Engineer and three others to be named by Johnson. It gives the Johnson-Lissner machine power over all the unappropriated water in the State, and also over all water, whether appropriated or not appropriated, which is now not being put to a beneficial use.

The act provides for fees and charges for water for power purposes and also provides for the control of waters for irrigation purposes.

CIVIL SERVICE.

The Civil Service Bill, signed today, is another triumph of the machine. The first Legislature under the Johnson regime, two years ago, had no use for civil service. Johnson fired every old State employee he could reach and put in his own henchmen. Those he could not discharge were legislated out of office. And new jobs have been created wherever excuse was found. The machine fears that its days are numbered, that at the next State election it will be kicked out of office. Hence the civil service law just passed. This will protect the Johnson henchmen. A Democratic Governor may be elected next year, but the army of State employees will view that possibility with equanimity, for their jobs are safe. Incidentally, the Governor has another commission to appoint, three jobs at $3000 each annually, besides a chief examiner, secretary, etc.

SALOON CLOSING.

The saloon closing bill was also signed today. All saloons in the State must close at 2 a.m. and not open until 6 a.m., after the 10th day of August, next. This hits San Francisco and Sacramento in particular, but does not affect most of the wet towns in the State.

A department of tuberculosis under the State Board of Health is created by another bill, just signed. The director of the department will receive $3000 a year.

The asexualization bill was signed. It provides that the State shall have power to asexualize any incurable patient before release from any State hospital, or any prisoner of a State penitentiary, known as a second-termer, a third-termer, sentenced for assault on a woman, or who is a pervert.

ENDLESS VARIETY.

Among other bills signed today were:

Senate bill No. 389—Tenement-house regulation and the establishment of standard of construction and building to be compiled with.

Assembly bill No. 182—$10,000, water stock, Southern California Hospital.

Appropriations aggregating several million dollars were approved today by Gov. Johnson. In the list are included appropriations for the State institutions, for the State normal schools, State hospitals, and money to pay claims against the State and to make up deficiencies in funds of the several departments of the State.

In the list are the appropriations to pay the expenses of the elections on the $3,000,000 capitol extension bonds and the $750,000 for State fair bonds. The largest single appropriation is $500,000 for free textbooks. This money is to print the books and to distribute them to the children of the State.

Two new institutions are approved: State training school for girls to cost $200,000 to be located on a site to be chosen later, and the new State hospital for Southern California. Other appropriation bills signed are:

State armories—completion of San Francisco armory, $7000; completion of Los Angeles armory, $7000; completion of Sacramento armory, $5000.

STOPS CLOCKS TO SIGN BILLS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, June 16.—Clocks in the Governor's and Secretary of State's office were stopped shortly before midnight tonight in order that the Governor might legally attach his signature to the mass of unsigned bills upon his desk, passed by the last Legislature. The Constitution provides that all bills must be signed, chaptered and filed with the Secretary of State by midnight of the thirtieth day after the adjournment of the Legislature, excluding Sunday.

About 670 of these 1233 bills submitted to the Governor for final approval had been signed at 11 p.m. Confusion attended the final procedure but not to the extent that has marked the final lap of former sessions. It is estimated that between 800 and 850 bills, including all special appropriation measures, will receive gubernatorial approval.

Among the bills of importance signed at a late hour tonight were the non-sale of ducks bill, Assemblyman Brown's measure abolishing the straitjacket in prisons, the non-shipment of abalones bill, the Sutherland amendment to the corporation taxing method, the amendment to the inheritance tax law and the bill for the submission to the people of the bond issue for the San Francisco harbor commission; also the board of optometry bill, the Humboldt Normal School bill and the last two of the "ten commandments," the water commission and civil service bills.

County government acts, providing increases in salaries and offices in the various counties. It is probable the remaining county government acts will be signed before the Governor finishes his task.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 16.—[Special Dispatch.] At the hearing before the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors today when friends of the harbors at Los Angeles, Long Beach and Richmond were heard, Senator Works exploded a mild sensation by declaring that he did not approve of the idea of the government asking the local communities to aid in improving harbors.

"If the improvements should be made, then the government ought to make it regardless of any contribution by the community supposed to be interested," said the Senator.

"Such assistance is only a donation to the government for what the government itself ought to do in making improvements. Conditions at Richmond indicate that the government ought to improve the harbor traffic terminus of two great railroads and the site of many manufacturing industries."

What the Senator said of Richmond applied as well to the Los Angeles, Long Beach and other localities.

FOR LOS ANGELES.

Representative Stephens told the board of the need of giving more depth of water in the outer harbor at Los Angeles from Dead Man's Island to the turning basin, but the chairman observed that few ships having a draft of more than thirty feet were being built and that only the trans-Atlantic liners needed a forty-foot channel. He asked for statistics as to the number of vessels drawing a draft in excess of thirty feet. John Craig, the shipbuilder of Long Beach, said later that eighteen ships were being built by the German lines for trade to the Pacific Coast, having a draft of thirty to thirty-five feet and a tonnage of 18,000.

WORKS COMPLAINS.

"The government does not keep up with the progress of our part of the country," said Senator Works. "It is too slow. The government ought at least to keep up with Los Angeles. We have to come here and urge and insist on the government improving its own harbors which are a money-making things for the government. One mistake is the talk of the Los Angeles harbor and the Long Beach harbor. They are practically one harbor. While we are talking about the growth of Los Angeles we don't want to overlook Long Beach. I don't know whether our Long Beach friends will look for me to say it, but it will not be very long before all that section will be part of the city of Los Angeles. We are entitled to these improvements and we are helping liberally to make one of the great harbor of this country at that point. All of that section is moving along faster than any other part of the country, and this applies to the whole Pacific Coast. We only ask you to do what is right. Look at it in a broad-minded way and do what is just and right under the circumstances."

BELL TALKS.

Representative Bell, in whose district Long Beach harbor is located, told the board that one result of the improvement of the harbor and the municipal dock had been to reduce the price of lumber $5 per thousand feet and the price of cement in like proportion.

DATA LACKING.

Col. McKinstry, the local engineer, showed that he had been unable to make estimates asked for because he had no data. He was in favor of a survey being ordered which should take in the proposed Long Beach Harbor work inasmuch as the additional cost would be "only a few dollars." He said:

"I expected that the survey would be ordered for otherwise I could not make the estimate of cost that Congress expects. I have never recommended a width of channel at San Pedro of 750 feet. Los Angeles wanted that and Mr. Goodrich, the expert Los Angeles employed at $100 a day, recommended a width of 750 feet."

Col. McKinstry gave the board some valuable information about the character of the bottom which would have to be removed in making suggested improvements.

CALIFORNIANS HEARD.

PLEA FOR IMPROVEMENTS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Delegations from San Francisco, Los Angeles and Stockton, Cal., accompanied by members of the California delegation in Congress, today appeared before the United States Board of Engineers for rivers and harbors to advocate harbor improvement projects.

Senator Works, addressing the engineers in support of the propositions took occasion to discuss and criticise the present method of making Federal appropriations for rivers and harbors. He disapproved the "contributory" plan, declaring that if the government thought enough of any project to undertake its improvement it should bear the entire expense as a matter of public policy.

The board was urged to approve plans for deepening and widening the inner harbor at Long Beach and the harbor of Los Angeles as a joint project and for the improvement of the harbor at Richmond across the bay from San Francisco.

Immediate improvement at these places was urged because of the prospect for early completion of the Panama Canal and the consequent increase in immigration from Southern Europe by way of the new waterway. The delegates declared that a large German steamship company intended to place in the Pacific Coast trade fifteen new steamers and that it will make an effort to divert a large part of the immigration now going to New York.

The citizens of both Long Beach and Los Angeles were said to be willing to bear half the expense that may be fixed by a government survey.

At Richmond the city is asking that the government make a survey of a proposed harbor and then undertake the work on a contributory basis, the city already having nearly two million dollars available. It was contended that the construction of the harbor was a necessity to relieve the congestion at San Francisco and other bay points and to obviate the rehandling of freight for inland destinations.

The Stockton delegation urged the board to make an investigation of flood conditions at that place and to undertake the improvement of its harbor, which flood waters are threatening to destroy through depositing of silt caused by erosion.

Frederick Jansen and Miss Stierlin have expressed willingness to release attachments so as to avoid bankruptcy proceedings.

The preliminary hearing on the charge of felony embezzlement will be held Wednesday of next week instead of Friday. It is asserted on good authority that Dreischmeyer will plead guilty and ask for immediate sentence.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

IPSWICH (Mass.) June 16.—The industrial reputation of Ipswich was vigorously defended by Judge Charles A. Sayward at the resumption today of the case nineteen persons charged with rioting during the strike disturbances last week. The court had examined mill records indicating that during January, February and March, a maximum of $8.42 and a minimum of $6.99 in wages for a full week of fifty-four hours, were paid Poulitsa by Zou, a young Greek girl, who testified on Tuesday that during a year and a half in the mill she received about $2 a week, "never more and some times less."

Recalled to the stand to explain her earlier testimony the Bizou girl said that she turned her pay envelope over to her father and that he told her that she was earning $2 a week. She admitted that even while she was learning her work in the mill she received $5 a week.

The health authorities became involved in the industrial difficulties today when they began an examination of tenements occupied by Greeks to learn whether the sanitary laws are being violated.

ST. In spite of the fact she is more than ten years older than he is, Busch says they are well mated.

Busch is an expert horseman and has often appeared in horse shows and won high honors. A lover of sport, he has often met Mrs. Lambert, also a devotee of sport. She is a horsewoman, a golfer, a champion roller skater and a long distance pedestrian.

She was divorced last January from Marion Lambert and was awarded the custody of the three children and $20,000 a year alimony as long as she remained unmarried.

PERSHING ROUTS MOROS; SUFFERS SLIGHT LOSS.

With a List of Six Dead and Seven Wounded, American Commander in the Philippines Drives the Natives from Their Fastness—Night Attack With Small Fire and Cold Steel Decides the Issue.

[BY CABLE AND FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

MANILA, June 16.—[Special Dispatch.] With the loss of six killed and seven wounded, Gen. John J. Pershing's force of American troops and Filipino scouts and constabulary has driven the rebellious Moros led by Dato Amil from their last stronghold on the top of the extinct volcano forming the highest peak of the Bagsag Mountains, in the heart of the Island of Jolo. A night attack with small fire and cold steel decided the victory after two mountain guns and the automatics had raked the Moro position from noon until after dusk. The savage Sulu tribesmen fought, with their characteristic desperation, in a position turned by the hand of nature into a formidable fortress. Few of the Dato's kris wielders thought of saving their lives by flight over the precipitous back trails until the interior cup of the cotta was running red with the blood of white man, loyal brown soldier, ad the death-disdaining darker sons of the southern archipelago, swinging their spears and krises with the ferocity of fanaticism born of the oath of Juramentado—"death to the Christian."

The attack was made by Pershing after a strong force had occupied the neighboring craters of Jahaloo and Bungay. Mountain guns were carried by hand in sections to positions on these heights from which a withering fire could be poured into the cotta. The American cavalrymen led the way up the steep ascents almost bare of hand hold or foothold, after they left the cover of the cogon grass on the lower slopes.

DANGERS ENCOUNTERED.

Many grass-hid pockets and other dangers had to be encountered in the upward trail before the assailants were exposed to the sniping of the Moro riflemen. The marksmanship of the latter was so good—a vast improvement from anything shown in earlier fighting in the Southern Philippines—that Pershing decided to stalk the final cotta under cover of the tropical darkness. The moon did not rise until, with shrieks of savage hate, the Mohammedan videttes spied the leading American soldiers scaling the volcano lip. Then, under the first pale shafts of the yellow moonlight, the valleys of Bagsag and Jabal, showing wide patches of white black below, pandemonium reigned. A shower of spears and arrows and a scattering volley of bullets greeted the Americans. The latter discharged rifles and revolvers as they leaped to their perches and crept, foot by foot, up the sheer wall of brittle and powdery dead lava. Several of the Americans and Filipinos had to fight with their bare hands as they came to grips with the Moros, thick as bees in their cup-shaped fort. There were no outer entrenchments, the Moros following their usual practice of hurrowing the military engineer work of nature. The Filipino soldiers, constabulary fought with great gallantry, the seasoned scouts in particular. Many of these little brown soldiers have worn the khaki of Uncle Sam in pride and through fierce fights in all parts of the northern, western and southern islands, since Pershing was hunting for Aguinaldo in the hills up in Pampanga.

GALLANT FIGHT.

It was a great and gallant fight, the last battle on the Island of Jolo, according to the wireless dispatch which reached Gen. James Franklin Bell at division headquarters this morning. Gen. Pershing has now loose several strong parties of scouts to hunt the scattered remnants of the rebels through the almost impenetrable cogon patches, where they are now trying to hide away with the soldiers retire to the barracks of Jolo City, the ancient walled capital of the Sultan of Sulu, head of the Moro medans in the Sulu regios. Gen. Bell and Gen. Pershing are satisfied that the lesson taught at Bagsag will insure a semblance of peace, at least among the still wild Moros—until a call to kill excites them once more. While the American school system has succeeded in civilizing the children of even the wild Bagobo and Lanao tribes, the old fighters will remember the easy days of their lawlaxity are not to be tamed. They keep up their horse fights—and the nies taught to battle with each other to the death—and they still look with feel of the jagged, razor-edged "kris"—a heavy, long sword of highly-tempered steel, the hilt of which forms a straight line with the hilt to point, but the edges are curved like the body of a small wriggling snake. The grass.

Thoroughbred Stock

You know what that expression means when applied to a horse—especially if used by one who knows horses.

What a thoroughbred is among horseflesh the Chalmers "Six" is among motor cars. And we use the term exactly—as the old horseman would use it—and not in the careless speech of the grandstand.

For the Chalmers "Six" rings true to the thoroughbred definition—"pure bred and of running stock."

Staunch of frame and sinew, powerful, full of life, alert and eager, yet easily controlled—this great car has all the thoroughbred qualities.

Clean-cut in appearance, trim, graceful, well-groomed, the "Six" gives the same delight as a handsome, proud, blooded race horse.

And the "Six" is a pedigreed car, too. Its predecessors—Chalmers "30" and Chalmers "Thirty-six"—were winners before it—victors on track and road; record breakers in sales, too.

The "Six" is built in Chalmers shops under the direction of men who take as much pride in a fine motor car as horsemen ever took in fine racing stock.

And this great car, with such "stuff" in it (as the horsemen say), with such lineage behind it, such quality and breeding in every line of it, we sell for a medium price—$2750.00 for the 7-passenger Touring Car.

More satisfaction, service, pride of possession you cannot buy. Better performance you cannot find in any car men have yet built. Everything in the way of convenience and luxury this "Six" supplies you.

May we offer you proof in the car itself? Phone or call at our salesroom.

Both Erfger and Sykes were taken to the Central Emergency Hospital.

POLICEMEN PLEAD GUILTY.

Five Officers of the San Francisco Force Go to Jail for Nine Months for Conspiracy.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—Five suspended members of the San Francisco police department pleaded guilty to conspiracy with bunco men today and were sentenced to serve nine months each in the County Jail. Two other policemen, similarly, charged pleaded not guilty.

The five visited Frank Esola, convicted of grand larceny, at the County Jail last night, the meeting having been arranged by Asst. Dist.-Atty. Thomas Brennan, but the details of the conference were withheld.

There were in all eight conspiracy indictments, one having been found against former Detective Frank Esola, sentenced to five years in Folsom Penitentiary. An effort was made today by counsel for both the defense and the prosecution, when Esola changed his plea to this charge from not guilty to guilty, to have him sentenced as the others who had pleaded, with the understanding that the two sentences should run concurrently. Judge Dunne, however, was in doubt as to whether a man might serve out County Jail sentence while serving time in a penitentiary, and took the matter under consideration.

The two who pleaded not guilty to the conspiracy charge are Arthur Wynne and Charles Taylor. They were not indicted upon the felony charge.

The five were taken away to the County Jail and the work of selecting a jury to try the remaining two was commenced.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
PHOENIX (Ariz.) June 16.—A long-standing quarrel over poisoned dogs ended fatally today at Sayer, a mining camp not far from Phoenix, where Leonard White shot and killed Allen Cameron, a neighbor. White met Cameron in front of the post-office. Then he drew a revolver and fired five shots. Cameron fell, mortally wounded, and died almost immediately. It was reported that he was unarmed. White surrendered to the authorities.

Los Angeles Woman Secures Order Restraining Official from Disposing of Mementoes Given to His Favorite Niece Which Have Been in Litigation for Several Months.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]
SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES June 16.—[Special Dispatch.] Mrs. Alice K. Bentz of Los Angeles, sister of Harry R. Cooper of Oakland, husband of the late Mrs. Ida McKinley Morse Cooper, favorite niece of the late President William McKinley, today obtained an injunction restraining H. Taylor Curtis, an auctioneer, from conducting an auction sale of seven barrels, five boxes and two crates of mementoes given his niece by the martyred President. Mrs. Margaret McKinley Morse Heidt, daughter of Mrs. Cooper, deceased, and wife of Lieut. Heidt, U.S.N., is made party defendant.

The mementoes are the same over which Mrs. Heidt and Harry Cooper have been fighting in and out of court even since the death of Mrs. Cooper.

During the litigation, the goods were packed and sent to a warehouse, from where they had mysteriously disappeared when Mrs. Heidt, then Miss Morse, went to obtain them.

Through the court she sought to recover the lot and finally did, and they were turned over to Curtis to sell.

Mrs. Bentz claims the property under a bill of sale executed to her by her brother, Harry Cooper.

SETTLE RIGHTS TO HOLD JOBS.

ATTY.-GEN. WEBB TO PASS ON CIVID SERVICE LAW.

Question of Tenure of Chiefs, Superintendents and Heads of Departments at Sacramento Will Be Involved as Meaning of Exempting Clause Is in Doubt.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Whether or not superintendents, chiefs and heads of departments in the State government shall hold their jobs permanently under the civil service law that goes into effect in August is an important question that must be answered by Atty-Gen. Webb and later, perhaps, by the Supreme Court.

The civil service bill originally exempted these classes of State employees by the last of fourteen exempting clauses incorporated in the bill. But in the bill amended this final exempting clause was tacked onto the clause just preceding it, after a comma that followed a specific reference to employees of the State Railroad Commission. As it now reads the law might be construed to exempt only superintendents, chiefs and heads of departments in the railroad commission.

The Civil Service law will go into effect on August 12, when a civil service commission of three members still to be named by the Governor will assume office. It will place the service of the State strictly on the merit basis, eliminating so far as may be favoritism and politics. Employees of the State of one year's standing or more will be entitled to permanent positions. Employees of two months standing or more will be required to serve six months on probation before their places are secure. All new appointments will be made after competitive examinations.

[By Atlantic Cable and by Federal (Wireless) Line Overland to The Times.]
ROME, June 16.—[Special Dispatch.] William J. Burns, the American detective, has passed a fortnight in Italy investigating the Musica case, and also the disappearance of the Hungarian banker, Ernest Havas, from Nice, who was supposed to have committed suicide. He discovered Mrs. Musica was in Naples.

"I regret to say," said Burns, "that in going about the city I recognized in many Americans, supposed to be here owing to ill health, runaways from justice, or persons who had troubles at home."

PEEBLES STILL GOING.

He's Ninety-two and It's Hot in Gotham, But the Angeleno Doesn't Mind It.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The only passengers on the Atlantic transport liner Minnehaha, which arrived from London tonight, who did not seem to mind the heat, was Dr. J. M. Peebles of Los Angeles, Cal., who will be 92 years old on March 23 next. Dr. Peebles has arranged to start on his trip around the world in the fall of 1915. Dr. Peebles told the reporters last night that he owed his good health to avoidance of drugs, eating proper food and regular rest and exercise.

RESCUES CREWS FROM TYPHOON.

Vessel Rides Through Storm Which Caused Havoc.

Passengers Thrill as Sailors Launch Lifeboat.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Two thrilling rescues at sea, accomplished in the midst of a fierce typhoon, were witnessed by passengers of the Pacific Mail liner Manchuria, which arrived today from the Orient. Capt. Andrew Dixon and his officers were responsible for saving the lives of fourteen members of the crew of the Filipino schooner Santa Santiago and twenty-seven members of the crew of the Swedish steamer Nippon. The Manchuria safely rode through the typhoon which wrecked the smaller vessels and caused havoc along the Philippine coast early last month.

The rescue of the shipwrecked mariners on the Santa Santiago was effected with great difficulty, as the maelstrom of sea made it impossible to launch a lifeboat and the men were exhausted, having been for two days clinging to their storm-tossed bark without food or water. Signals of distress were sighted on May 9, while the Manchuria was en route from Nagasaki to Manila on her outward voyage. Capt. Dixon bore down on the disabled vessel, which was awash in the terrific seaway. The men were clinging to the shrouds with great difficulty and every wave threatened to tear loose their grip and carry them to death.

RARE SEAMANSHIP.

With rare seamanship Capt. Dixon brought the big liner to within hailing distance of the schooner and shouted words of encouragement to the sailors. Then, steaming close to the disabled craft, the captain ordered his men to throw lines to those on the schooner. While the liner's passengers looked on, tense at the rail, the shipwrecked mariners were one by one hauled on board, where they told a terrible story of suffering. The schooner had become dismasted and unmanageable with the first blast of the oriental storm, and for days the men had little to eat or drink. They had given up hope of rescue when the Manchuria was sighted coming to their aid.

Three days later, while the Manchuria was steaming from Manila to Hongkong, the Nippon, which was bound from Manila for Singapore, was sighted aground on Scarborough Shoal. Heavy seas were sweeping her decks and aloft the sailors could be seen clinging to the rigging. The vessel was hard and fast on a reef and was being pounded to pieces by the rushing combers.

A lifeboat was successfully launched despite the heavy sea running, and the twenty-seven souls on board the stranded steamer were brought safely to the Manchuria's side.

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 16.—[Special Dispatch.] Valuable additions to the Museum of Vertebrate Zoology of the University of California, will be the outgrowth of an expedition now being conducted by university professors in Marin county. The party includes representatives from the University of California and Stanford. Walter P. Taylor, Charles L. Camp and G. F. Ferris are members of the party. STEWARD WRAPPED IN SILK.

San Francisco Customs Authorities Think They Have Found New System of Smuggling.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]
SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 16.—[Special Dispatch. With the arrest here of Leoncio Balois, a member of the Stewards' department of the United States transport Logan, the customs authorities believe they have stumbled upon a new system of smuggling.

Balois has implicated Marino Morales, captain's boy on the Logan, and Dan Scatena, proprietor of the "Frisco," a dance hall at No. 847 Montgomery avenue, and a girl.

Balois was apprehended by Customs Inspector E. H. Montell as he was leaving the transport dock, and was found to have a suit case in which was hidden two silk embroidered ladies' kimonos, and a silk shirt. A search of his person revealed twenty yards of pongee silk wrapped about his body.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]
SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF TIMES, June 16.—[Special Dispatch.] Cowbells tied with white ribbons jangled merrily on the trunks that enclosed the wedding finery of Miss Alice Greenebaum, who left for Fairbanks, Alaska, this morning, to marry Al. Hirshberger, a wealthy business man. The bride-to-be, who is making this long journey to meet her future husband, was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. E. DinKelspiel. SUPREME COURT ADJOURNS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
WASHINGTON, June 16.—When the Supreme Court adjourned today until October, some twenty-five complete cases were left undecided. Among these were the cases of Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, the officers of the American Federation of Labor, who are asking for a review of the decision of the District Courts holding them in contempt for alleged violation of an injunction in the Bucks Stove and Range Company case. Execution of the sentences thus will be delayed at least until fall. Gompers, who was sentenced to a month in jail, has been very ill for several months.

Other cases on the leftover list include the California oil land suits by individuals against railroads.

The Chickering

It is the aim of all who have taken the trouble to investigate to eventually own one of these beautiful instruments. The Chickering is the Piano by which all others are measured—it is the world's standard—an instrument that has kept first place in the estimation of great Pianists and Musicians for over 90 years.

If you can afford a Chickering we urge you to buy it—without a Chickering in the home you cannot say, "I own the world's greatest Piano."

The Fairbanks

But perhaps just now you are not in a position to buy a Chickering. In that event choose one of the popular Fairbanks Pianos, use it two years and then, when you are ready for a Chickering your Fairbanks will be taken back, and all the money you have paid in the meantime will be credited to you. The Fairbanks is unquestionably one of America's greatest Pianos, at a moderate price. In tone construction and durability it is worth a great deal more than its cost. Come and hear the Chickering and the Fairbanks today—there's a musical treat in store for you.

ILLINOIS WOMEN SHORT CHANGED

Ethiopian in Woodpile Suffrage "Victory."

Get No Chance to Vote Taxation Bodies.

Politicians Slip One Over Skirted Element.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 16. — [Exclusive dispatch.] "Women of Illinois are being 'short changed.' They have a noble victory and equal suffrage assured, but while they have been congratulating themselves the politicians at Springfield have been smiled quietly at the compliment planning to spring on them. The blow is scheduled to fall tomorrow when the bill comes up in the senate calling for the abolition of the State Board of Equalization.

That was the assertion of William H. Malone, Mayor of Ridge and a member of the board by the legislative measure.

"I can speak of it from a disinterested standpoint," he said, "even though I will be out of a political job if the bill goes through because the salary goes right with it. I can abolish the board, but not the salary, and for four years they'll have to go right on paying salaries of twenty-five members of the board.

"Here, though, is the way the scheme works out: The women for years have cried that they were taxed without being represented. It was the same cry that our revolutionary ancestors voiced—'taxation without representation.' Well, they fought the good fight and won. Now the women may vote. It is a great victory. The Governor says he is for it.

"He may be, but, nevertheless, the bill that comes up tomorrow is the Governor's pet measure. He has advocated the abolition of the board and the appointment by the governor—of a tax commission of three members to serve for six years, two years longer than the board itself is elected for. The board is to be abolished is composed of men appointed by the people, too.

"At any rate, abolition of the board simply means that the most important State office for which women have voted will be out of existence the taxing body, in which they most interested. They voted for Governor; they voted for legislators. That leaves but one membership the most important office for which women may vote.

"And," continued Mr. Malone, "women have noticed it. They came to me and asked me about it, and when I confirmed her fears she was much put out. But it will be done, of course, in the flagrant attempt to 'short change' women.

"Again: when the bill calling for tax commission came up to be voted for passage it was defeated. The recommendation was added to by the Governor wished the bill to

TARIFF TINKERS RUNNING AMUCK.

Cattle, Hogs, Wheat on Free List Unrestrictedly.

Citrus and Liquor Schedules Are Left Unchanged.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The much mooted agricultural schedule of the Underwood tariff bill was suddenly upset again by the majority members of the Senate Finance Committee today when a motion was made to reconsider action taken earlier in the day approving the free listing of live stock and wheat subject to a countervailing duty. The proposal now is to strike out the provision for countervailing duty and leave cattle, sheep and hogs and wheat on the free listing unrestricted. Members of the committee said tonight that this probably would be done by the majority. No reason for the change was announced.

For weeks the equalization of the agricultural raw products and finished products which were differentiated in the Underwood bill, has been a problem for the Democratic Senators in which President Wilson has taken an active interest.

TO EQUALIZE RATES.

The House put meats and flour on the free list, leaving live stock and hides dutiable at 10 per cent. ad valorem and 10 cents a bushel respectively. The Senate finance subcommittee soon after receiving the schedule agreed to equalize the rates and eventually voted to make the raw materials and the finished products all dutiable. No sooner had this conclusion been reached than Senator Simmons and other Democratic Senators of the Finance Committee declared that the problem would not be settled rightly if left that way. They were of the opinion that all products which enter into the cost of living should go on the free list and President Wilson agreed with them.

Senator Simmons communicated this information to the subcommittee and it reconsidered its action, placing all these products on the free list. Later it was announced that the committee would adopt a countervailing duty clause, which would make the products free only from countries which did not make them dutiable on this country. This would operate against the free entry of live stock from such countries as Canada and Mexico.

ENLARGE FREE LIST.

The committee further enlarged today the free list by voting to take hemp and ramie from the dutiable list. The Underwood bill rates on hemp were from 1 to 1½ cents per pound to grade. It was argued that these products should not clash with other products of the farm and that the free listing them the cost of living would be beneficially affected. Rates on finished products from these materials were materially reduced.

It also was decided not to consider the amendment proposed by Senator Hitchcock, which would provide a graduated revenue tax on the output of tobacco. This amendment followed suggestions made by Atty.-Gen. Wickersham, but which the administration did not see fit to indorse at this time.

DUTY ON BANANAS.

Bananas, which have never been subject to a tariff tax, were put on the dutiable list by action of the committee. To encourage American growers was given as the reason.

Despite many protests against the duty in the citrus fruit rates, made in the House bill, the Senate committee left the schedule as it was. No change was made in the liquor schedule, but it was left open for amendment. Senator Pomerene having asked to be heard tomorrow on the matter.

ST. LOUIS TERMINAL WINS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, June 16.—The Terminal Railroad of St. Louis won a victory in the Federal District Court today, when Circuit Judges Sanborn and Smith filed an interlocutory decree instructing the terminal company to file new contracts in accordance with the Supreme Court decision in the ouster suit brought by the government.

The decree does not conform to that submitted by the government, which specifically prohibited the Terminal Association from levying a bridge toll on traffic entering St. Louis from the East.

The decree filed by Judges Sanborn and Smith today is similar to that filed a year ago by District Judge Trieber of Arkansas and which was objected to by the government on the ground that it did not go far enough in removing tolls from the so-called bridge arbitrary. The decree filed today directs the terminal association to submit to the court for final approval its contracts with its constituent roads. If these contracts are approved the final decree in the case will be entered.

As the arbitrary already has been abolished on the long haul traffic, the government asked that the interlocutory decree specifically prohibit the levying of the bridge toll on coal traffic from the Illinois fields.

Counsel for the terminal association resisted such a decree, claiming that the association actually levied the arbitrary on all traffic, but that the railroads absorbed the charge on the long haul.

Judge Sanborn filed a statement that the government would have an opportunity to object to the contracts of the terminal association with its constituent roads before a final decree was entered for the enforcement of the Supreme Court decision.

Oxnard Says It Will Be Here With Free Sugar.

Admits He Got One Million for Watered Stock.

Denver Man With Overcoat Surprises Senators.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 16. — Henry T. Oxnard, known as the "father of the beet industry," and the vice-president of the American Beet Sugar Company, was the principal witness today before the Senate Lobby Investigating Committee. Mr. Oxnard was on the stand several hours and told the committee how New York bankers who helped organize the beet-sugar company insisted on putting in about $15,000,000 water in a $20,000,000 corporation; how he and his brothers had made about a million by the sale of their share of the watered stock, and gave warning that the Underwood bill with its free-sugar provision would result in his opinion in the formation of a new "sugar trust" which would not violate the anti-trust law.

The committeemen took Mr. Oxnard over most of the ground that other anti-free-sugar witnesses have covered. He told them he received $10,000 a year in his official capacity, but that it was not for "legislative work." The questioners learned that he had been fighting reductions in sugar duties for many years and heard with interest that he knew something about "Sugar at a Glance," the celebrated pamphlet that was made a Senate document and sent over the country, postage free, under the frank of Senator Lodge.

A SURPRISE PARTY.

The committee got a surprise today when A. Y. Moore, owner of the Fargo (N. D.) Courier-News, and A. M. Baker, general manager of that paper, gave their testimony about an editorial recently printed in the Courier-News which Senator Gronna thought was a reflection upon him and led to their being subpoenaed. Both men made the long trip to Washington in answer to the Senate summons and then declared under oath that they knew nothing of the editorial until they saw it in print. It was written, they said, by James A. Metcalfe of Glendive, Mont., temporarily employed while Baker was away from Fargo. Both Moore and Baker said that they had no reason to doubt Senator Gronna's political and private integrity and honesty, and Moore said that a retraction might be printed. Metcalfe had written the editorial, they thought, merely in a flippant way.

ANOTHER FROM DENVER.

Another witness was Aaron Gove of Denver, employed at $5000 a year by the Great Western Sugar Company, who said he had given up the last eight years to a study of the economic side of sugar and to convincing Congressmen of the soundness of his views for a duty on that article. Mr. Gove testified that before his employment by the sugar company he had been Superintendent of Schools at Denver. Although the thermometer outside the committee-room was trying hard to step over the 100-deg. mark, and two electric fans were kept busy all day long in an endeavor to make a cool spot in the surrounding heat, Mr. Gove sat for a half-hour in the witness chair with an overcoat over his knees. He had not talked with many Senators, he said, but he remembered a dinner with Senator Bristow at which he tried to convince the Senator of the necessity of the "Dutch standard." Instead of convincing Mr. Bristow, he explained, he came away convinced that the Dutch standard was unnecessary. Twice in eight years he had appeared before committees of Congress and he had delivered addresses before various organizations on the sugar question.

"SUGAR AT A GLANCE."

Harry A. Austin, employed by Truman G. Palmer, the Washington representative of the United States beet industry, was the last witness. The committee spent nearly two hours in an attempt to find out just what happened to "Sugar at a Glance," after the Senate ordered much of the material in it printed as a public document, and its actual appearance in pamphlet form. They endeavored to find out what he knew about an alleged order of the Senate regarding the printing of the pamphlet, which does not appear in Senate records, but is printed in the title page of "Sugar at a Glance." The best information Austin could give was that this alleged order which has aroused the indignation of the committee must have appeared in proofs received at Palmer's office from the government printing office. Officials of that office have already explained to the committee that they knew nothing about this order, but they have not been put upon the stand. They probably will be heard later.

Health Restored by Eckman's Alterative

If you are a sufferer from Glandular Tuberculosis, or know of any one so afflicted, it might be well to investigate this case, where the writer declares after a year of suffering, he found permanent relief and full recovery to health by using Eckman's Alterative, a medicine which has been effective in many cases of Tuberculosis:

"Gentlemen: In March, 1909, my doctor pronounced my case Tuberculosis in the Glands, and a number of operations in a hospital failed to benefit me. In the meantime, a friend of mine advised Eckman's Alterative. The wounds in my neck were still open, and in a frightful condition when I started to take it. After using two bottles I found I was improving, having gained weight, could eat and was able to sleep. I continued using it until I was well, which was in November, 1910. Before I took the medicine I had three hemorrhages; since I have been taking it I have not had any. On November 11, 1910, I started to work, and since that time I have not lost one day's work through sickness. I highly recommend Eckman's Alterative to anyone who is suffering from Gland trouble."
(Affidavit) JOSEPH B. WHITE.

Eckman's Alterative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious in cases of severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. For sale by The Owl Drug Co., and other leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence.

West Virginia Coal Miners Are Restless Again.

Operators Accused of Violating Agreements.

Detective Feltz Testifies Before Senate Committee.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHARLESTON (W. Va.) June 16. [illegible] renewal of industrial war [illegible] Cabin Creek mine [illegible] strikers, the Senate mine [illegible] Committee continued today its [illegible] of witnesses. Miners, [illegible] and agents of the mine op- [illegible] down from the strike [illegible] of a new strike de- [illegible] district again thrown [illegible]

[illegible] STRIKE.

[illegible] of the United Mine [illegible] No. 17 has not [illegible] strike on Paint and [illegible] Thomas Haggerty, a [illegible] International miners' [illegible] tonight.

[illegible] NO PROMISE.

[illegible] be sure of the men [illegible] up in the field," he [illegible] operators have not lived [illegible] under which the [illegible] work, and which [illegible] Hatfield. We [illegible] prevent a further strike, but I am convinced that the miners up there have already decided not to continue to work under the conditions which prevail there now. Meetings were held in the creeks yesterday, and the men expressed dissatisfaction with conditions. They decided to strike and the union cannot control them."

A STRIKE WANTED.

A committee of miners from the Cabin Creek section came to Charleston today to urge the United Mine Workers' officials to call a general strike. They bore the instructions of a mass meeting held in the hills yesterday.

CUMULATIVE TESTIMONY.

The testimony presented to the Senate committee was largely routine and cumulative. Thomas L. Feltz vice-president of the Baldwin-Feltz Detective Agency, which supplied the mine guards for the Paint and Cabin Creek operators during the strike, was the principal witness.

Mr. Feltz told the committee that when the trouble on Paint and Cabin creeks was at its height his concern had about 110 armed men on Cabin Creek and about thirty-five on Paint Creek. He also said that his company had from six to ten men working in the strike district as "secret service operators." These men, he said, furnished information to the operators and his agency.

"Did your men make a list of those men who were organizers for the United Mine Workers and those men who were active in the union for the use of the operators?" asked Seymour Stedman, attorney for the miners.

The witness said such a list had been compiled.

"One of the objects of your organization," asked Mr. Stedman, "when it is employed is to prevent the organization of branches of the United Mine Workers?"

"Yes, that was one of the objects of our employment on Cabin Creek."

Mr. Feltz denied emphatically that any of his men operated in the strike district after Gov. Glasscock declared martial law. He also denied that any Baldwin-Feltz men were on the armored train which fired on the strikers' camp at Holly Grove in February.

Senator Kenyon ascertained from Mr. Feltz that men were employed "to join the unions to find out what was going on" in order to carry out the purposes of preventing union organization.

Attempts were made by attorneys for the miners to introduce correspondence purporting to be between secret agents of the Baldwin-Feltz agency, but the committee declined to receive them, as they did not relate to the trouble in the Paint and Cabin Creek fields.

Senator Martine was interested in the character of men employed by Mr. Feltz for work as guards in the coal fields and he questioned him closely as to the instructions issued to men who were hired to work as guards.

Scores of witnesses called by the miners today testified that the principal trouble in the strike district was caused by the conduct of the guards.

When the committee began its night session Feltz resumed the stand. The committee decided to take under advisement the question of demanding from the witness the names of the "secret service operatives" who worked among the miners in the strike zone. Mr. Feltz was not examined further and the miners' attorneys concluded their case with the calling of several minor witnesses.

Before the operators began their case, Senator Swanson warned the attorneys that advices from Washington indicated that the committee would be forced to leave Charleston on Wednesday and urged that they endeavor to put on their principal witnesses before then. The operators' attorneys urged that the committee plan to return to Charleston for hearings later, if the trip to Washington was necessary, but the committee reached no decision.

Paul J. Paulsen, the first witness called for the operators, said he was an officer of the United Mine Workers. He declared he could not say whether several persons, including "Mother" Jones, were employed by the United Mine Workers.

J. C. Cowherd discussed an incident which he said occurred on Cabin Creek as he was traveling through there. He said that a mob of strikers "beat up" a man who was traveling with him.

Under examination by Senator Kenyon, Mr. Cowherd told the committee that he believed the mine guard system was the cause of all the trouble in the district. He said he thought that if the mine guards had not aroused the miners, they would have been willing to treat peaceably with the operators.

Lee Calvin, the ex-mine guard who described the trip of the armored train to Holly Grove, was recalled for cross-examination by counsel for the operators.

"Did you say to Quinn Morton, the mine operator, after the train passed Holly Grove, 'Didn't we give them hell?'" asked Attorney Knight.

"No, I never said anything like that," said the witness.

He denied that he had been employed as a detective by the United Mine Workers of America.

Dr. C. A. Ray was the next witness. He is the company doctor for the Consolidated Coal Company, on Cabin Creek. He said the sanitary conditions of the company's mine were as good as could be maintained.

Dr. Ray described at length, health conditions on Cabin Creek, saying that the community was generally healthy. Dr. Ray said that the inauguration of the guard system on Cabin Creek in 1904, resulted in an improvement of conditions as to law and order on the creek. He was unable to tell Senator Kenyon whether the guards were the cause of the outbreak of the trouble.

OTHER TESTIMONY.

A. H. Honaker, a merchant of Holly Grove, said he was arrested by fifteen mine guards and taken from his house. He had allowed miners to erect tents on his property, he said, after they had been ejected from the company's houses. The guards, he added, dumped the furniture of forty or fifty miners on his land and he had allowed them to remain.

C. R. Shaw of Parkersburg said he was taken into the coal fields during the strike with his wife and children. He said he worked at Mucklow for four weeks and that he received no pay.

"It was all used up in the company store," he said, "and the store said I owed the company money."

P. H. White, a negro miner, said that he was "run off the creek" by Hurxthon Morton, son of a coal operator, Quinn Morton, and a guard, E. C. Payne.

W. R. Connell, president of the Paint Creek Collieries Company, took a place at the table used by counsel for the operators today. He talked at length with the lawyers and manifested a deep interest in the examination of witnesses.

Thomas L. Feltz, who said he was vice-president and general manager of the Baldwin Feltz Detective Agency of Virginia, which supplied the guards for the Paint and Cabin Creek operators, was the next witness. He was asked at length as to the methods of book-keeping of his agency and said that his concern did not preserve the records of its charges for service. Attorney Stedman for the miners endeavored to ascertain how much the agency charged for supplying guards for duty, but was unable to secure such a statement from the witness. Feltz said he did not know whether he could supply such a statement.

Feltz said that under an oral agreement with M. T. Davis and R. T. Thomas, coal operators, his agency had 110 guards on Cabin Creek when martial law was declared. They were paid, he said, a per diem payment and expenses, railroad fare being included in expenditures. He denied that guards rode into the field on railroad passes but about a dozen men were given passes to ride up and down the creek, he said.

Feltz declared his agency never owned a machine gun, but his men on Cabin Creek had used machine guns owned by the company. He said his agency had no guards in the field after martial law was first declared. His guards operated one machine gun during the strike, he said, in the first battle at Mucklow.

Under examination by Senator Martine, Mr. Feltz said that he had endeavored in vain to find the origin of a story to the effect that a "human hyena among the mine guards had mutilated a woman's breast."

"I offered a reward of $500 for any information on this story," said Mr. Foltz, "but was unable even to find out where the story began."

APPROVES BOND ISSUE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Southern Pacific directors at a special meeting today approved plans for the sale of probably $30,000,000 notes to local bankers. While the amount is not definitely known, this was the total of the note issue, permission for which was obtained from the California Railroad Commission.

Later, however, the Arizona Commission raised some objection to the issue as originally proposed, and arrangements have been made for a distinct issue to finance the company's needs.

The notes will probably be sold to the Central Trust Company.

Big Bull Moose Plans to Rough It in West Two Months, Then Pay Visit to Kermit.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The report that Theodore Roosevelt contemplates a round the world tour, which was published in several newspapers this morning, was denied today by persons who are in a position to know.

Roosevelt does contemplate paying a visit to his son, Kermit, in Brazil, and afterwards lecturing in Argentine. His plans, however, are not definitely made as yet. There is even a possibility that he will not leave this country at all.

Roosevelt is going to go out West, starting July 9 with his two youngest sons, Archie, who has just graduated from Andover, and Quentin, who is still at Groton. He, expects to be roughing it in the West for more than two months.

UNIONIST GIVES BOND.

CHARLESTON (W. Va.) June 16.—John P. White, president of the United Mine Workers of America, voluntarily gave bond of $1000 here today for his appearance on November 18 on an indictment charging violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

Arrangements have been made to argue June 30 on a demurrer to the indictments recently returned, which name nineteen officials of the Mine Workers' Union.

A BOY AS A MULE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LA CROSSE (Wis.) June 16.—Charged with hitching his 12-year-old son Frank to a cultivator beside a mule and working him in the field in a temperature of 120 deg. in the sun, John Friesmuth was sought today on a warrant issued on complaint of the State Public Humane Officer.

Coats Off In Court.

the drop in temperature came, the streets and parks were crammed with people seeking relief. Again came the warnings of the health department against the use of alcoholic liquors and overeating and worry and haste. At the same time came a plea for good treatment of animals. The Illinois Humane Society, to which came hundreds of reports of suffering horses, sent out directions whereby horses may be saved.

"Don't overfeed the horses," says the bulletin, "and don't overwork them. They can't stand as much in hot weather as at other times. Water them often and let them rest in the shade when they show exhaustion. Any delay is dangerous and owners will save their animals if they will order drivers to use simple means of prevention."

HIT BY LIGHTNING.

Two buildings were struck by lightning and one person was injured when a severe hail and thunderstorm visited Evanston, in the afternoon.

Charles Jones, a theological student at Northwestern University, fell from the third story of Willard Hall, when the wind made him lose his balance. He was washing windows. Both legs were fractured.

A vacant house at Ridge street and Madison avenue, was struck by lightning and slightly damaged. At the residence of D. W. Carlton, No. 1423 Wilder street, lightning tore off one entire corner of the house and dismantled the kitchen.

The heat of the recent three days is an ominous forerunner of the weather to come to Chicago, weather which will be avoided by those who can afford to go away to summer resorts or alleviated by devices in many residences.

But thousands of Chicagoans have to stay home because their poor dwellings offer little resistance to the intense humidity. In the great army which will suffer most keenly are women and children. And of them all the sufferings of the babies will be the greatest. The babies have one food and that is damaged most quickly and poisoned most easily by the heat. When their milk is not kept cool and bacteria form in sufficient quantities the baby faces a hard fight for life.

The babies' free ice fund will be continued this year for contributions from those who gave last year and in previous years and from those who have not given before but wish to do so now. A small amount left from last year has been put to immediate use.

The programme followed by the charities in 1912 was to issue coupon books good for ice on any wagon of the Consumers Company. The books were distributed from the Charities' office at No. 165 North La Salle street and at the various sub-stations and assisting agencies throughout Chicago. Eugene T. Lies, general superintendent, has notified eleven field organizations and thirty day nurseries of this year's programme.

BITTEN BY DOGS.

Twenty persons were bitten by dogs made vicious by the heat during the last twenty-four hours according to reports received at police headquarters.

The instructions spread broadcast by the health department urged citizens to partake generously of buttermilk and a cooling draft.

The South Park Board opened eleven beaches between Grant and Jackson Parks and thousands took advantage of the chance to get cool. The beaches south of Jackson Park and those along the north shore also drew great crowds.

The heat was general throughout the middle West, the East and South. Springfield, Ill., was one of the hottest places, the mercury there registering 98 degrees. Numerous cities reported 96 degrees. In forty-eight places the thermometer registered 90 degrees or over.

BRAVE STRIKE OF ICE MEN.

CINCINNATI SWELTERING, BUT DEFY UNIONISTS.

With Temperature at Hundred and Two Degrees, Employers Say They Will Not Yield to Men's Demands, Who Threaten to Quit Work Tomorrow.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CINCINNATI (O.) June 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With the threatened strike of ice wagon employees which is scheduled for Wednesday morning, Cincinnati with a temperature of 102 deg. faces a situation that causes the street car strike of a month ago to fade into insignificance. That the strike cannot be avoided, is the opinion of the union officials. The union officials contend that unless the employers give in to their demands for an increase in pay, the plants will be tied up completely, except for delivery to the hospitals. They say that enough men will be allowed to continue to work as is necessary to meet this emergency.

The employers in a statement today announced that they could not meet the men's demands. The unionized employees are asking for an increase from $15 to $18 a week for drivers and from $10.50 to $15 for helpers during the summer months. During the winter months they ask that they be paid $16 for drivers and $13 for helpers. The drivers now receive from $13 to $15, while the helpers receive $10.50. They also ask that they not be required to work on Sunday.

It is understood that the Ice Delivery Company, the largest in Cincinnati, has arranged with various independent ice companies for a united stand against the demands of the union. It is reported that each ice company has put up a $500 bond that it would stand against granting the demands.

PHILADELPHIA EQUALS RECORD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—The heat record here for June 16 was equalled at 3 o'clock this afternoon when the official thermometer on top of the government building registered 95 degrees. Along with it, however, came a low percentage of humidity and a stiff southwest breeze.

DENVER MAN SPELLBOUND.

Railroad Rates.

STATE RATES UPHELD AGA[illegible]

Two-Cent Passenger Fa[illegible] Found Constitutional.

Decision in Minnesota C[illegible] Cited as a Precedent.

More Important Rulings the Supreme Court.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 16.—[illegible] out varying a dot from the [illegible] laid down last week in the [illegible] sota rate cases, the Supreme C[illegible] the United States upheld today [illegible] railroad rate legislation in [illegible] Arkansas, Oregon and West [illegible] ia. This legislation includ[illegible] cent passenger laws in Missou[illegible] Kansas and West Virginia; [illegible] freight rate laws in Missouri and [illegible] kansas, and freight rates [illegible] Portland in the Oregon case [illegible] only exception to the sweeping [illegible] proval of State statutes was [illegible] case of several weaker roads [illegible] souri.

The Kentucky case was not [illegible] ed. It involves an attack upon [illegible] rates from river points to inland [illegible] tillery cities and an attack [illegible] constitutionality of the [illegible] act, enabling the State Railroad Commission to fix reasonable rates on interstate business.

Justice Hughes announced the decision in the rate cases today in [illegible] did in the Minnesota case [illegible] ago. Wherever the police power of the State laws interfere with interstate commerce, the case is referred to his Minnesota opinion. He disappointed any who hoped the court might, in some way, modify that decision.

FROM THE BENCH.

"We need not review the arguments addressed to us concerning transportation in Missouri or the relation of intrastate and interstate rates," he said, "for the present case has its special features. Because of location of the State, and of the Mississippi and Missouri rivers as basing points in many of the controlling questions have been presented with reference to the authority of the State to establish reasonable intrastate rates throughout its territory, unless there is the exercise on the part of the State of its constitutional power over interstate commerce and its instruments, is not to be disregarded any material respect from the case which was considered and decided in the Minnesota rate cases."

FEW WORDS REQUIRED.

The Oregon and Washington cases were decided in favor of the roads in a few words, the only point involved by the railroads being that the State interfered with interstate commerce.

Justice Hughes read the opinion on examination of claims in the Missouri and Arkansas cases that the property of the railroads would be confiscated by the intrastate business would be reduced.

As a result, the lines [illegible] become operative on the [illegible] Burlington and Quincy; the [illegible] Topeka and Santa Fe; the [illegible] City Southern; the Missouri [illegible] and Texas; the Chicago, [illegible] land and Pacific; the Chicago, [illegible] Louis, Kansas City and Colorado; the St. Louis and San Francisco; the St. Louis Southwestern; the Southern Pacific; the St. Louis and [illegible] and Southern; the Wabash; the [illegible] cago, Milwaukee and St. Paul; the Chicago and Alton.

For the present, the rates will become operative on the Chicago and Hannibal; the Kansas City, Clinton and Springfield; the Kansas City Great Western; the Quincy, Omaha and Kansas City and Grand Island.

VALUATION.

The court refused to consider the valuation placed upon the roads in Missouri by the State Railroad Board as a basis for fixing the "present value" for figuring what is a fair return on confiscated property. The court took the case of the Missouri Pacific and showed that by applying the State's ment value (multiplied by two, as was done by the Federal court in Missouri) to the whole system, the result would be a dividend in excess of the earning power of the system. Besides, he said, the State has nothing to show upon what basis assessors fixed their valuations. The court demonstrated that the Federal court avoided the mistake of applying the Minnesota rate decision.

Apportionment of proportion between passenger and freight traffic, leaving to gross revenue, was disapproved for "reasons stated in the Minnesota rate cases."

Coming to an examination of expenses, Justice Hughes said the plan adopted by the Federal court in applying the reasons leads to the same objection as to the Minnesota cases.

However, as to the Missouri, Kansas and Texas; the Missouri, Kansas and Texas; the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific; the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy; the St. Louis and San Francisco; the St. Louis Southwestern; the Southern Pacific; the St. Louis and Southern; the Wabash; the Chic

Globe Mills morning. At 10 precisely the special cars will the Times Building to convey Mrs. Haffner-Ginger's cooking to the Globe Flour Mills, they will receive the utmost hospitality, including lunch. We shall be shown all over the wonderful mills and be let into the secret by which special wheat becomes flour for special cooks who make special bread.

Mrs. Ginger informed the audience yesterday that an additional interest will be added to the occasion from the fact that the mills teem with amiable, good-looking young men, whose express duty it will be to make things charming for the visitors. How does she know, pray, that we are not all suffragettes? Still, we shall have an opportunity of gauging the lady-cook's taste in such matters. I have often wondered whether cooks have the same taste as ordinary mortals, haven't you?

En Casserole.

The lecture yesterday afternoon was devoted to the casserole and all its insiduous charms, as promised, and we saw a chicken and a young cabbage prepared in this fascinating manner. Not to know the casserole is to have missed much. In appearance it is a brown glazed dish, deep and round, with a tightly-fitting lid. It goes into the oven and is afterwards served on the table, with perhaps the trifling addition of a white napkin swathed round it, if style seems desirable.

We saw the chicken chopped up quite small—nice, sizable pieces for serving—with a very sharp chopper, an important accessory for every kitchen. It was then browned in butter and the giblets were stewed for gravy. The whole was placed in the casserole dish, seasoned, covered with plain crackers and popped in the oven with the lid on tight. In about an hour it was ready—and I defy you to taste better chicken. Tender, savory, painfully appetizing. Painfully, because we had to endure the knowledge that it was not for us. We might look and smell, but not taste. That piece de resistance would charm some other palate than ours.

Creamed Cabbage.

But we were allowed to try the cabbage. Ah, yes. Creamed cabbage en casserole is a dish to gladden sad hearts. A young, innocent cabbage was chopped small by the lady-cook and placed in layers in a casserole dish, each layer separated with slices of cheese and cracker crumbs. Milk, flour, butter, seasoning were all added with the masterly touch and the dish that finally issued from the oven proved that the plebeian cabbage, a pronounced climber of late, had at last taken its place in society and become socially secure. Creamed cabbage en casserole is patrician—boiled cabbage is merely vulgar.

These casserole dishes are the most captivating affairs and cooking in them becomes a sheer delight. It is really quite difficult to spoil a casserole dinner. One can get the dishes large enough to accommodate a whole ham or a pair of chickens and in addition to the simplicity of the method, it really adds vastly to the flavor. Mrs. Ginger got her dishes at Parmelee-Dohrmann's, but most of the good firms in town stock them. A trick to know is that a thorough greasing with lard and a gentle warming in the oven before use the first time is a useful assurance against cracking. The dishes are, of course, fireproof and heat-resisting, but occasionally an inferior one will play one false, and prevention is better than cure any day.

Dixie Biscuits.

A pleasant surprise were the Dixie biscuits with which the lady-cook wound up the afternoon's demonstration. My private opinion is that one could wheedle any sort of concession out of anyone if they could make Dixie biscuits like that.

One egg, three-quarters of a cup of lard, flour, sour milk, in this case zoodar, the Bulgarian cultured milk, and salt—these were the humble ingredients that were transformed into food for the gods under the fairy fingers of the lady-cook. We observed that the dough was very soft, and that there is a distinct knack in the artful little way in which they are folded over with a soupcon of butter 'twixt the folds. When we were finally allowed to sample them, they proved entirely adorable.

Wednesday's Programme.

The fruit and jelly canning programme for Wednesday should attract a bumper audience, (the auditorium was filled to the window sills on casserole day,) for we all want to know how to put up the lovely California fruit when it is plentiful, against the days when it is scarce and dear. Mrs. Ginger will show us the very latest and best methods adopted by the best professional cooks and we may consider ourselves very fortunate to be given this opportunity for culling such knowledge absolutely free at The Times Cooking School.

We are also to be introduced to an interesting beverage known as Nuco, with which we shall all be served. It is said to have all the advantages of chocolate, with many added charms, and positively none of its stodginess. The heavy oil in cocoa and chocolate makes it very hard to digest, and this element is entirely absent from the new drink.

Mrs. Ginger also gave us a little disquisition on diabetes and assured us that two-thirds of us suffered therefrom, but many of us never know it. So long as I don't know about it, I don't particularly care, but for the benefit of the miserably well-informed, Mrs. Ginger gave them a few kindly hints. Diet is the secret, of course, and if one will regard all starchy and sugary things with a scornful eye and taboo acid fruits like grapes, grapefruit, etc., with a discriminating selection of meat, the trouble can be overcome and serenity restored. But I am sorry to have to add that I am afraid Dixie biscuits are starchy. It's a cruel world.

In each regional dis- ...trict reserve association will be ...the agency of the United States ...Treasury and the member banks ...will be in right of examination of the ...books to ascertain whether they meet ...the required conditions as to solvency ...and other tests. This means that ...the bill will not contain any provision ...for guaranty of bank deposits.

...Each regional reserve association ...will be required to carry a reserve of ...40 per cent on behalf of its deposits. ...They will serve as banks of re-dis- ...count for their member banks, but ...only on prime commercial paper, ...that matures in not more than ...90 days from the date of its ...purchase. The proposed Federal board ...is to be established at Wash- ...ington, but will be superimposed upon ...the system of regional reserve ...associations. This Federal board will ...have powers of supervision and ...control. The plan calls for nine ...members of this board, three of them ...to be named by vote of the regional ...associations; four will be ap- ...pointed by the President and the ...two ex officio members of the ...board will be the Secretary of the ...Treasury and the Secretary of Agricul- ...ture.

...THE MEMBERSHIP.

...The bill does not provide member- ...ship on the board for the Comptrol- ...ler of the Currency. With the except- ...ion of the two government officers ...who will be ex-officio, all other mem- ...bers of the board will be elected or ...appointed, as the case may be, ...by the Federal board of re- ...serve directors, but they will be issued to ...the Federal reserve association for ...any additional or expansion ...issues. These Treasury notes will be ...secured by a first lien on the capital ...and surplus of the regional ...reserve associations, that first lien carrying ...with it a first lien on 12 1-2 per ...cent of the amount of gold of ...the banks in the vaults of the ...banks, further protected by a ...first lien on the combined as- ...sets of the regional reserve association ...and the member banks, and finally se- ...cured by the prime commercial pa- ...per held by the member bank ...in the regional reserve bank. ...It is supposed that a pro- ...vision will be imposed on ...the currency issued under the ...provisions of the proposed law. It ...is not clear, however, that no ...tax has been stipulated. If it was ...it would be a tax the plan ...would overthrown by ...the courts.

...BANK CREDIT FREER.

...There will be an "equitable ...elasticity" of bank issues, but not a ...word, taking into considera- ...tion the difference in time, is the ...equivalent of issues based on ...commercial paper of same time in close touch ...with the money market. The theory ...behind this provision was that it ...would check any tend- ...ency on the part of banks to hoard ...their reserves. In this connection it may ...be noted that the statistician feels ...that the recent state- ...ments of Bradstreet's indicate the ...availability of ...approximately currency notes ...under the new law, will have a ...tendency to prevent any ...further issue of cash by banks at the ...present time. It is believed that ...there is no danger in conse- ...quence of this provision and that ...the banks would be prone to hold ...their cash for crop ...purposes later in the sea- ...son when there will no necessity for ...it.

BRAZIL ENVOY AT STEEL PLANT.

SEES MANUFACTURE OF GUNS AND ARMOR PLATE.

Minister of Foreign Affairs and Party from the State Department Is Shown Over Bethlehem Works, Then Pays Visit to Lehigh University.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SOUTH BETHLEHEM (Pa.) June 16.—Dr. Lauro Muller, the Minister of Foreign Affairs of Brazil, now in this country, came to South Bethlehem today to inspect the plant of the Bethlehem Steel Company, accompanied by officials of the State Department at Washington. In the absence of Charles M. Schwab, president of the company, who is in Europe, other officials of the company met the party. Dr. Muller appeared eager for the day's inspection. The hottest weather of the year greeted the Brazilian party.

The South Americans were shown the manufacture of the small-caliber rifle, the projectile-forging department, gun forging and the machine shop where guns of large caliber are being manufactured. The armor plant was also inspected. The Brazilian party also saw some of the material that is going into the great guns being manufactured for the Argentine battleships Moreno and Rivadavia. The Moreno is nearing completion at Camden, N. J., and the Rivadavia at Fore River, Mass.

Luncheon was served from 1 to 2 o'clock and after that the party witnessed the firing of eight-inch armor-piercing shells.

A visit to Lehigh University and the local country club were enjoyed and later Dr. Muller and his party boarded their train for New York.

"DESTROY THE CONSTITUTION."

So Read His Predecessor's Political Testament, But the Kaiser Destroyed the Testament.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, June 16.—A remarkable story showing Emperor William's attitude toward a constitutional monarchy was related today at the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his reign by the faculty and students of Berlin University.

Prof. Otto Hintze, professor of constitutional and administrative history, declared that the Emperor himself had told him years ago how he had first disregarded and then destroyed the standing appeal made by Frederick William IV of Prussia to his successors to abolish the Prussian constitution. The Emperor said the first documents he found in his desk after his succession, was an envelope containing the political testament of Frederick William IV, which was to be delivered to each of his successors on his accession. It urged in the strongest terms the revocation of the Prussian constitution before the taking of the coronation oath by the new monarch.

Frederick William IV, who had granted the constitution to Prussia during the stormy days of the middle of the nineteenth century, always regretted his act, but did not find either the opportunity or the courage to revoke it. Emperor William, like his father and grandfather, had no inclination to follow the advice of Frederick William IV, but he went further, and destroyed the document for fear of the influence it might have on some young and inexperienced successor.

MRS. SHELDON DEAD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. George R. Sheldon, wife of the banker and treasurer of the National Republican Committee, died today after an operation in her home, No. 4 West Thirty-eighth street. She was taken seriously ill ten days ago, but had been in frail health for some years. Mrs. Sheldon had been married since December, 1881. The couple had two daughters. In October, 1910, Miss Gertrude Sheldon was married to Samuel Stevens Sands, son of Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt by her first marriage, only a month before the other daughter had divorced William Fuller in Reno.

Many passengers arrived from Hermosillo. They report that not one week will pass before the Federals are in Hermosillo. Federal troops are arriving in Guaymas at the rate of 800 every twelve days, and Gen. Ojeda is slowly but effectively advancing, the passengers state, in masterful fashion.

WILSON APPROVES PLAN FOR ALASKA RAILROAD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 16.—President Wilson gave today his approval to a plan for immediate legislation authorizing the construction of government railroads in Alaska, if any measures outside of tariff and currency reform are to be considered at this session. The revised Alaskan bill, as it will be introduced in the Senate tomorrow by Senator Chamberlain, leaves the entire control of constructive work to the President.

The committee today eliminated the provision for a special commission to construct the roads and also the provision which would have authorized the government to develop and control the coal fields in the territory. A bond issue of $40,000,000 would be authorized for the railroad development and provision would be made for the use of Panama Canal machinery in the construction work.

DELDA FOX IS DEAD.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 16.—[Special Dispatch.] Miss Della Fox, who for nearly a quarter of a century was one of the bright stars of comic opera and musical comedy, is dead. She died in the Rebeau Sanatorium in this city, Sunday afternoon, but it was not until today that the news of her death became known in theatrical circles.

Intestinal obstruction was the cause assigned for her death. Miss Fox was taken to the sanatorium Saturday from the home of her sister, Mrs. Nathan L. Roth, after a sudden illness. No operation was performed.

Miss Fox made her last appearance on the stage on April 7, last, when she appeared as Sarah Sykes in "Rosedale" at the Lyric Theater, under the direction of William A. Brady. She was given a most cordial reception by the audience.

Often within the last dozen years she has been reported dying. In 1911 after undergoing an operation for appendicitis in a New York sanatorium, it was believed the end was near. At that time she was delirious.

Forty years old, Miss Fox had been a stage favorite since she was 7, when she made her first public appearance as the midshipmite in "Pinafore." She was born in St. Louis, October 13, 1872, and was the daughter of A. J. Fox, a photographer.

GERMAN EMPIRE TAKES HOLIDAY.

Carnegie Congratulates Him on Peaceful Reign.

Industrial Prosperity of Kingdom Emphasized.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, June 16.—The twenty-fifth anniversary of the accession of Emperor William to the imperial throne, was celebrated today throughout the German empire as a general holiday.

The commemoration, which had been deferred from its actual date out of respect to the memory of the Emperor's father, Frederick, coincides with the forty-second anniversary of the triumphal return of his grandfather at the head of his victorious army after the Franco-Prussian war and was naturally marked by considerable military display.

Emphasis, however, was laid also on the peaceful aspects of the Emperor's quarter century reign—industrial and civic developments and the material prosperity of the country.

CARNEGIE'S ADDRESS.

The presentation of an address from the American Peace Society by Andrew Carnegie, R. S. Brookings of St. Louis, and J. G. Schmiddapp of Cincinnati, gave the Emperor an opportunity of bringing out this aspect of the occasion. He responded to Andrew Carnegie's congratulations on the completion of his twenty-five years peaceful reign with an emphatic "I hope we shall have twenty-five years more of peace."

The day began with a "general reveille." The massed military bands from the division of the guards summoned the Emperor to his window with deafening music played in the inner courtyard of the castle. The bandmen then paraded Unter den Linden.

In the meantime 7000 school children had replaced the bandmen in the Castle court yard where they sang several songs to the evident pleasure of the Emperor.

THE RECEPTION.

The reception of deputations and the presentation of addresses began at 10 o'clock but was interrupted from 11 o'clock till 2 o'clock by his majesty's reception of representatives of the government offices, the army and navy, the parliament and various municipalities.

The impressive ceremony of the mounting of the castle guard was followed by a luncheon to the imperial family at the castle. To a delegation of Englishmen received by his majesty this afternoon the Emperor said:

"I can assure you I shall continue to do my best to preserve peace and promote the friendly relations ships existing between our two countries."

The array of deputations seemed almost endless. The delegates represented organizations of every kind and all brought with them artistically executed addresses and handsome gifts.

IMPOSING TESTIMONIALS.

The most imposing testimonials were the endowment of $6,250,000 raised by the German municipalities for charitable and educational establishments and the national subscription of $950,000 devoted to German Christian missions in which Catholics and Protestants participated, the Catholics raising $625,000 and the Protestants $325,000.

It was expected that amnesties affecting minor civil and military offenders would be proclaimed during the day and a shower of decorations was conferred, the list filling many pages of the Reichsbote. Nobody was overlooked. High officials gathered the biggest orders but literature, science and commerce were well recognized. The weather carried out the Hohenzollern tradition, being sunny and warm. Spectators stood throughout the day in thousands around the castle and along the principal thoroughfares.

REMARKS OF CARNEGIE.

The Americans presented to the Emperor an address signed by a large number of their countrymen. The address was in part as follows:

"His Imperial Majesty, the German Emperor:

"On behalf of organizations and societies which represent the effort of American citizens of every section, creed and race to advance the cause of civilization, we venture to express to your Imperial Majesty our congratulations on a reign notable in countless ways, in none more so, than in the maintenance of twenty-five years of unbroken peace between Germany and the other nations of the world.

"The memorable words of your majesty shortly after ascending the throne, 'The peace of my country is sacred to me,' came both from the head and from the heart. Sacred indeed the peace, the order and the prosperity of the German people have been.

"More than once during the last twenty-five years, it has been the high privilege of your majesty not only to exercise peaceful forbearance, but to inspire it in others.

"We beg to tender our thanks to your imperial majesty for what you have done to prevent war and to advance the coming of the day when there shall be peace on earth to men of good will.

"We congratulate your majesty on the notable advance made by Germany in every field of human effort during your peaceful, prosperous and civilizing reign. Long may it continue unbroken."

THE WEATHER BACK EAST.

Ninety-eight, Says the Forecaster, on the Roof, but Down Below It Was Hotter.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 16.—[Special Dispatch.] Chicago sweltered today. Uncle Sam said it was only 98 deg., but many thermometers on the street level went to the 104-deg. mark. The only relief in sight is a local thunderstorm which the weather man calls "probable." The heat wave has now overspread the entire country east of the Pacific Coast region, the highest temperatures of the present season having been reached at many points throughout the Middle West. The highest of the temperatures in the United States was 100 deg. at Yuma, Ariz., and the minimum was 42 deg. at Flagstaff, in the same State. Other temperatures:

CONGRESSMAN AT JOHNSTOWN URGES LIBERTY.

Missouri Representative Tells Pennsylvania Germans at Celebration in Honor of Kaiser Country Is in Danger from Representatives Who Disregard Their Oaths.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

JOHNSTOWN (Pa.) June 16.—Members of Congress were sharply arraigned here today by Representative Bartholdt of Missouri, in a speech at the German Day celebration, for their alleged yielding attitude toward prohibition and other sumptuary legislation. He took for his text, "Personal Liberty," and called on all "liberal" citizens to join in a fight to offset the "Puritan cause."

"Are you aware that the last Congress, composed of a Democratic House and Republican Senate," he demanded, "passed a prohibition measure by more than a two-thirds majority; and that the lawyers who constitute 85 per cent. of the membership knew it was unconstitutional, and voted for it anyhow? It is a fact.

"President Taft, true to his oath to defend the Constitution, had the courage to veto that bill, but the same two-thirds majority, although they had taken exactly the same oath as the President, passed it over his veto.

"When things have come to such a pass that responsible lawmakers will overthrow the Constitution for a popular fad, do you not agree with me that our liberties, for which the Constitution is our only guarantee, are in the greatest possible danger?"

The Missourian declared the struggle of the age in the United States was between the Puritan and his blue laws, on one hand, and the pleasure-loving Germanic people on the other. He denounced the collection of funds in churches, and by religious organizations, which, he charged, were used to intimidate lawmakers in both the national and State Legislatures.

"The struggle between these two wholly different theories of life is on, my friends," he said, "and it is becoming fiercer every day.

"I do not exaggerate, my friends, when I say that if this movement is not stopped, and stopped soon, the American people will find themselves wrapped up in a network of 'dont's' which will completely hamper their freedom of action."

SHOW UP CUSTOMS' FRAUD.

United States Grand Jury in Philadelphia Begins Inquiry Into Alleged Discrepancies.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—The United States grand jury began today an investigation into alleged customs frauds at the port of Philadelphia. It has been alleged that big importers have defrauded the government to the extent of hundreds of thousands of dollars by having imports passed in without duty as "samples of no value."

One arrest was recently made, that of Robert S. Brierly, a former examiner of merchandise, who was dismissed from the customs service. He is charged with passing as of no value a parcel containing a flag valued at $50 consigned to Rodman Wanamaker. It is alleged by the government, however, that Brierly in three years had passed more than 400 importations in a similar manner. He is being prosecuted only on the flag case.

Henry N. Arnold, Special Assistant Attorney-General of the United States, said this afternoon that John Wanamaker, in whose store the flag was exhibited, would not be called as a witness.

ANTI-CHRISTIAN OUTBREAK REPORTED FROM CHINA.

[BY CABLE AND FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE OVERLAND TO THE TIMES.]

PEKING, June 16. — [Special Dispatch.] The American legation has received a report from Hinghwa, Fukien province, in Southeastern China, that a rebellion has broken out which has taken a strong anti-Christian turn, owing to the opposition of the missionaries to the opium traffic and to their giving information to the government as to the districts in which opium is grown. Many Chinese Christians have been killed and others have been taken prisoners and maltreated, while the churches have been despoiled.

The troops are apathetic and inactive. Failure to crush the rebellion means a general state of anarchy, the destruction of churches, the killing of Christians and the renewal of opium cultivation. The situation is regarded as serious.

SELL ALMANACS, MAKE FORTUNES

Angeleno Millionaires Vie for De Luxe Book Trust.

Transactions Shown Up at Hearing in Chicago.

Worthless Editions and Pi Art Eagerly Bought.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 16.—[Special Dispatch.] The foibles and activities of Pacific Coast millionaires occupied today's examination into affairs of the "de luxe book trust" before Master in Chancery Thomas O'Donnell. An excursion into the field of valuable paintings by William Hume, president of the "de luxe" company, and James Pinkerton described in the testimony.

How almanacs and comparatively worthless books were converted into de luxe sets which brought fabulous sums and details of the sale of well-known pictures to one eccentric California millionaire for $131,000, were among other deals brought out. The evidence was in connection with a suit for an accounting brought by T. Eaton of Eaton & Co. against the firm of Tomlinson, Hume & Co.

ANGELENO IS MENTIONED.

The name of E. P. Clark of Los Angeles, a multi-millionaire, was brought into the case for the second time when it was shown at the hearing today that Clark purchased books for his home from the firm of which Hume was head.

"Who is E. P. Clark of Los Angeles?" asked Attorney Ossa in cross-examining the witness.

"Did you regard him as a good business man?"

"Yes, any man who can make several million dollars is one."

"Mr. Hume, did you not tell me that besides a famous collection of paintings and statuary, owned by the Meredith Calhoun collection, I knew of another set of books, twelve in number, and did you not tell him it would take $40,000 the one and $125,000 for the other?"

"No."

HOW DEAL WAS MADE.

In answer to objections to the line of testimony by the defense Attorney Creekmur said:

"We learned of another book deal with Clark, in which he paid $40,000 for twelve pictures, and the matter has been kept a secret long. I want to show that this deal was gone into about the same time in connection with the purchase of the Meredith Calhoun collection."

"Plunket did not know anything about art," said Hume, "so I told him to go ahead and get what he could. I also said that if he found a chance to dispose of the Meredith Calhoun collection, on which we had a good option, we would serve our notice at once."

Hume stated that he called on a number of multi-millionaires on the Coast and found things as he expected, that he wired Plunket and received a reply from Chicago.

PRINCESS ELUDES RUSSIAN CO

DISAPPEARS SUDDENLY NEW YORK HOME

Girlish Wife of Noblesse's Own Cavalry, Into Which an Inquiry Had Been Started Missing and Embassy of Emperor Are on Her Trail.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 16.—[Special Dispatch.] The Princess Olga Xenine of Russia, the girlish wife of Prince Alexis of the Czar's Own Cavalry, has disappeared from the Hotel Astor in this city, and the Russian Consul has had his secret police on her trail ever since she came to this country to be married.

She had started proceedings to secure a divorce from Prince Alexis, and had intended to become an actress in this country, it is said, should give up her claim to the title.

The young woman, who is only 20 years old, had been married in Russia to meet the exacting requirements of Knickerbocker society, but the alliance, befitting her rank in every way, apparently resulted unhappily. Her physician from the office of Dr. Campbell, the Russian Consul, and Steiner, who was asked to keep an eye on the Princess, attempted to see her this morning and were told that she could be called on only by appointment. Her baggage has been packed and is ready to be shipped on short notice, it is said. She has adjusted a heavy veil over her face when she entered the cab which was to take her to the chauffeur to go to her destination. She would give him further instructions. So far as has been learned, could ascertain the cab was followed. Two telegrams were received at the hotel for the Princess, but it is said they were not accepted by her maid.

HEBREW AID SOCIETY
Two Hundred Thousand Dollar Building in Chicago Is Dedicated.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 16.—The new home of the Hebrew Aid society, a negro Y.M.C.A., the only one in the country here, was dedicated today. Addresses by Rabbi Emil G. Hirsch and Julius Rosenwald, who is president of the board of directors of the institution, and nearly 2000 persons were present to hear the addresses.

"It started me when I was asked to speak on negro Y.M.C.A.," said Rosenwald, "but I am not yet begun to learn. I have learned more than I can ever teach. I have learned that warm weather does not put the negro to sleep."

The Times is the only newspaper in Los Angeles that does not make a practice of permitting agents, newsboys and dealers to return unsold copies of its issues. Neither does it celebrate or predate its editions, or indulge its circulation by printing more copies than are actually necessary to supply its patrons.

The Times' entire circulation is practically net, and it is more genuine and superior in every respect to that of any other newspaper in Southern California.

THE WEATHER.

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, June 16.—[Reported by Ford A. Carpenter, Local Forecaster.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 30.00; at 5 p.m., 29.97. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 60 deg. and 90 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 84 per cent.; 5 p.m., 07 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., northeast, velocity 2 miles; 5 p.m., southwest, velocity 12 miles. Highest temperature, 69 deg.; lowest, 57 deg. Rainfall for season, 12.84 inches. Barometer reduced to sea level.

WEATHER BUREAU BULLETIN. — The pressure distribution over the American continent and the adjacent ocean is such as to indicate warm weather with a deficiency of precipitation the coming week over much of the country. There will be scattered thunder-showers the first part of the week along the northern border, and by the middle of the week showers will set in along the East Gulf and South Atlantic coasts. No important storm is charted to cross the country during the ensuing week.

H. E. WILLIAMS,
Acting Chief United States Weather Bureau.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.—Generally fair weather prevails over practically all of the country. The only exceptions are showers in Wyoming, South Dakota, Southern Texas and along the valley of the St. Lawrence River. The distribution of pressure shows little change from that reported last week. A ridge of high barometer extends from Manitoba to Florida and another high area is off the North Pacific Coast. Elsewhere the pressure is low. This sluggish state of the air brought about warm weather throughout the Mississippi Valley and eastward. Temperatures above 90 deg. were registered Sunday as follows: Tucson, Phoenix, 98 deg.; Des Moines, St. Paul, 90 deg.; Chicago, Kansas City, St. Louis, North Platte, Montgomery, Jacksonville, 94 deg.; Denver, Dodge City, Huron, Moorhead, Knoxville, Louisville, Raleigh, Washington, Tampa, 92 deg. Aside from intervals of cloudiness, the weather in Los Angeles and vicinity will be fair Tuesday.

Outside Purchases Diminish, Decline Being Accelerated by Interpretation of Supreme Court's Decision in the Several Rate Cases. Pressure on Union Pacific.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 16.—In spite of the resolute advance of stocks late last week and the evidence of increased buying power, the market today showed none of its resiliency. There was some difference of opinion which the course of the day's trading did not entirely clear up whether the buoyant upturn was merely a temporary reaction from the acute depression which preceded it, brought about largely by an oversold condition, or whether it heralded returning confidence and a betterment in fundamental conditions. On the assumption that the rise would proceed further bull traders bid up the list in the early trading, but it was evident that outside buying had diminished and that the market was receiving support aside from that given by the professional element. Short selling was resumed, and the market turned downward. The decline was accelerated by the interpretation put by the street upon the Supreme Court's decisions in several rate cases, the most important of which —the Missouri case—followed closely the lines of the Minnesota case. With the decision against the railroads in a majority of the cases, traders attacked the railroad list, and succeeded in forcing material recessions. Union Pacific was under pressure and selling apparently was influenced by gossip to the effect that the Attorney-General would oppose any plan for dissolution of the Harriman system which did not dispose of Central Pacific. Canadian Pacific was weak. London traded in about 20,000 shares here, mostly in the forenoon, when trading was heavy. Total sales, par value, were $1,697,000. United States threes registered declined 2-8, and Panama threes coupon advanced 1-8 on call.

BOWLING EXPERTS ROLL TOURNEY OVER WAVES.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA bowlers gathered Sunday to the number of 105 for the various contests scheduled as the first tournament of the Southern California Bowling Association, on the Barrett alleys at Ocean Park, where hundreds of visitors watched the play from noon until nearly midnight.

Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company's team took first prize in the five-hand team tournament, on their score of 2665. The team was composed of Brison, Love, Payn, G. Smith and Higby.

Second prize was captured by Steel and Turner's No. 1 team, formed by Turner, Steele, Cochran, Hartley and Darrow, who ran up a total of 2660.

Fourth prize was won by the Hammond Lumber Company team, whose record of 2574 pins was earned by Reed, Harris, Burke, Ward and Weber.

Steele and Turner's team No. 2, while not in the prize list, accomplished a feat probably never duplicated, nor likely to be seen again. Leaning toward figures suspiciously suggesting familiarity with the game of craps, Hershey, Kuhn, Windisch, Tetzlaff and Balch ran their three games out in totals calling only for the figure seven, each game being a tie with the other two. The respective totals read, 777, 777, 777.

Other competing teams were the Long Beach, Hyde Park, Barrett Drives and Leatherne.

MANY DOUBLES ENTERED.

Twenty-four double teams entered the second event, in which the same number of prizes were hung up. Their members were:

Fisher-Robinson, Stawn-Mackenzie, Hayes-Griffith, Schaffer-Grazier, Steele-Darrow, Taylor-Turner, Hartz-Payne, Franz-Faulstick, Patterson-Shepard, Brison-G. Smith, Mast-Veselich, Ballard-Stasch, Shay-Hartley, Young-Rawlins, Cochran-Wilburn, Meador-C. Smith, Lauhon-Sheele, Balch-Keller, Ward-Burke, Harris-Dubois, Davison-Blume, Emery-Reed, Oulette-Tompkins, Jenkins-Season.

Thirty entries for the single tourney were made by Reed, Payne, Wertz, Cochran, Oulette, Shay, Balch, Darrow, Steele, Hayes, Tompkins, Higby, Stasch, Tetzlaff, Taylor, Grazier, Robinson, Young, Hartley, Milburn, Ballard, Burke, Brison, Morris, Fisher, Turner, Mackenzie, C. Smith and Rawlins.

Mrs. H. C. Scott-Atf. E. Mackenzie; Mrs. G. S. Lapham-E. M. Strawn; Mrs. A. J. Johnson-D. Meador.

Scores of all competitors are to be compiled today by Tournament Secretary Turner.

Ozone and opportunity seemed incompatible with the best performances of inland bowlers, only moderate records being scored on the new pier alleys. At a late hour Shay's game of 230 stood unchallenged, and the total of 1179 made by Shay and Hartley stood as high in the doubles.

The Executive Committee in charge of all arrangements, named subcommittees from the following membership:

President, H. E. Meyers; secretary, Alfred E. Mackenzie; treasurer, E. W. Henry; Harry Burke, F. Lauhon, C. M. Turner, Gus Steele, Fred Barrett, T. R. Fussell and Grover Ballard.

Just Himself.

"DON'T CALL ME WOLGAST THE SECOND"—DUNDEE.

BY AL G. WADDELL.

"Where do you guys get that stuff about me being Wolgast the second?" questioned the Italian fighter, with the Scotch trade label, after he had finished his last work-out for the argument with Jack White, at Jack Doyle's playground Sunday afternoon. "I'm no Dutchman and Dundee the first, for me; and he is a better man than Wolgast, too, if you want to know it."

Dundee worked out yesterday before the largest crowd that ever congregated at Doyle's except for a champion. The little Italian finished his training siege in a blaze of glory, stopping Gus Anderson, one of his sparring partners, in the third round of their dress rehearsal. Anderson is a lightweight and a pretty good man at that, but Dundee put him down once and when the light began to flicker, Scotty Montieth, Dundee's chief of staff, cut the bill and called time.

GOSSIPERS REBUKED.

When it was all over, groups of wise ringsiders told each other that Johnny was a wonder and predicted that he would be a Wolgast some day. This line of gossip followed the fighter to his dressing-room, where it received a frigid welcome.

"When I started fighting I never grabbed some other guy's name and tried to make a reputation," protested the gentleman who meets White tomorrow night. "I got a good name from my manager and I don't care to be anything but Johnny Dundee. They say I fight like Wolgast. It might be so, but I have not copied any of his stuff, have I, Scotty?"

The little manager wiped away a few pints of perspiration and said that Dundee had invented his own style and went on rubbing his boy's hide.

One of the visitors got inquisitive.

"Will you beat Jack White tomorrow night?"

"Ask Scotty," replied Dundee.

"How about you, Scotty?"

HASN'T PLANNED FIGHT.

"Well Johnny will make it a great fight," was the assurance. "If White is anything near as good as Johnny, it will be one of the greatest battles ever fought on the Pacific Coast."

Johnny was asked if he had planned his fight for tomorrow night.

"Nope," was the reply. "I never figure out what I will do to a fighter. I take 'em as they come and fight 'em back in my own way. I just wait to see what they try to do and then I do my share.

"From what I hear about White, he will be a different proposition from Kilbane. They say he fights and that is all I want. You can't make a fight when the guy in the ring with you won't fight. That's the way it was with Kilbane in the last fight I had here.

"I wish I'd got a crack at Wolgast, You guys would not be talking about Wolgast the second."

Blow.

STATE OFFICIAL IS FELLED IN ROW OVER MONEY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Maddened by the notion that he was being unjustly deprived of money which he believed to be due him on account of an injury received in an accident, Joseph Pendo, a miner, attacked with a heavy cane A. J. Pillsbury, commissioner of the Industrial Accident Board of California, in his office in the Royal Insurance building on Sansome street this afternoon.

Pendo struck Pillsbury a stunning blow on top of the head with the heavy stick, and would have struck him again,

The Y.M.C.A. Brotherhood will hold a meeting at 6:30 o'clock this evening in the Y.M.C.A. building. Rev. C. L. Kirk, pastor of the First New Testament Church, will speak on the subject, "The Supreme Necessity of the Church of God." All men, especially strangers in the city, are invited.

Trolley Bandit Still Free.

The bandit who held up a Cummings-street switch-back car Saturday night and robbed Conductor J. Gallagher of $24 is still at large. The hold-up was on Fifth street, far from the Boyle Heights Police Station, but officers there were on the ground in a few minutes. The car does not pass the station.

For San Joaquin Agriculture.

General Colonization Agent Seagraves of the Santa Fe, accompanied by Roger M. Roberts, the newly-appointed agricultural expert for the Coast lines, arrived yesterday on a tour of inspection. Roberts was formerly manager of the University of California farm at Davis and is to take charge of agricultural development along the Santa Fe lines in the San Joaquin Valley, with headquarters at Fresno.

Summer Rates at Y. M. C. A.

The four-months' summer rates are now in vogue at the Young Men's Christian Association and hundreds of men and boys are taking advantage of them. For a fee of $5 a man gets all the privileges of the association for four months from the day he enters, and for an additional payment of $3 he can also secure the privileges of the athletic field at the Stephenson-avenue clubhouse. Boys are offered the four-months' privilege at the main building for $3. The special rate is made with the idea of giving all men and boys the opportunity of knowing just what the association has to offer in the way of athletic training, tennis, handball, swimming, etc.

Nation's Playground.

With the battle cry of "Make California the future playground of the Nation," boosters of all varieties will assemble at the Hotel Del Coronado at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon for the second meeting of the California Celebration Commission. Industrial Agent White of the Salt Lake, Secretary Zeehandelaar of the Merchants and Manufacturer's Association, Assistant Passenger Traffic Manager Byrne of the Santa Fe, General Passenger Agent Peck of the Salt Lake, Traffic Manager Pontius of the Pacific Electric, and General Passenger Agent Batturs of the Southern Pacific, and representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, probably including Secretary Wiggins, will be present.

Insurance Outing.

Arrangements have been completed for the seventh annual outing of members and friends of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company at Alpine Tavern, Mount Lowe, Thursday. Two hundred and fifty guests will be served with dinner. There will be dancing. Harry J. Brown, purchasing agent of the company, will have charge of the party. Officers who will be present are: George I. Cochran, president; Gail B. Johnson, vice-president; Danford M. Baker, second vice-president; Lee A. Phillips, third vice-president; Rich J. Mier, fourth vice-president; C. I. D. Moore, secretary, and W. H. Davis, general counsel. Professor Larkin of Mt. Lowe Observatory will receive the party after the dance and speak on astronomical matters. The three-million candle power searchlight will be operated.

"Bugs" for "Ad" Men.

The Golden Potlatch Bug from Seattle is in the city and at a weird ceremonial at Christopher's today all the members of the Los Angeles Ad Club are to be innoculated. Every member of the advertising organization who desires to emerge from the ranks of the parasite and drone and become a member of the immortal band of Hemipters, or True Bugs, will depart from the luncheon with the sacred sign emblazoned on his wrist. H! Bug, chief ceremonial bug, the keeper of the mysterious and royal insect powder and other joy bugs, will direct the innoculation rites and anoint itching palms with a sparkle of optimism. Ed A. Borgum will direct the festal ceremony. C. E. Rosenberg of the Sales Managers' Association will talk on "What Is a Sales Manager?"

Admitted to Practice.

In the United States District Court yesterday the following graduates from the University of California College of Law were admitted to practice, on the motion of Dean Porter: Daniel M. Critchley, David D. Stuart, Dave W. Ling, Ovila Napoleon Normandin, Earl Thomas Miller, John R. Berryman, Jr., John Henry Walsh, Ira Woodruff Black, John F. Leary, Carl Witherspoon Gibson, Walter Asahel Ham, William Albert Sherwin, John J. Craig, Joseph P. Sproul, Litta B. Hibben, Gladys Moore, Harold R. Smith, Albert William Olmstead, James D. Randles, Kirby Dalton Little, Maud Stilwell Shattuck, Alfred A. McDowell, J. Ira Courtney and C. C. Manning. The entire party after taking the oath before Judge Wellborn repaired to the District Court of Appeal, where Dean Porter made a similar motion, and the oath was administered by Justice Allen.

UNCLE SAM WINS FLOOD CASE.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The Supreme Court decided today that the Federal government was not financially responsible for the flooding of more than one hundred plantations on the Mississippi as a result of levee construction. Efforts were made to hold the government responsible for the value of the lands flooded, in all about $7,000,000.

Long Beach.

LAWYERS SAY CITY IS SAFE.

LONG BEACH NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR RECENT DISASTER.

Los Angeles Law Firm Employed to Furnish Opinion Affirms View of Other Lawyers that Municipality Cannot Be Held for Damages. Water Supply Is Short.

LONG BEACH, June 12.—Mayor Hatch this morning received from the law firm of O'Melveny, Stevens & Milliken of Los Angeles an opinion on the city's legal liability for damages resulting from the empire day disaster. It is the result of two weeks' inquiry into the law, and, in five typewritten pages, discusses the case from every angle, and is similar in finding to an opinion recently received from the law firm of Anderson & Anderson. Denuded of all its legal phraseology the opinion in plain English is as follows:

"We are of the opinion, however, that the Long Beach Auditorium may be, owing to its public character impressed upon it by the statute through which the city was authorized to construct and maintain such a structure, and especially in view of the plan provided for its management and the nature of the uses to which it has been devoted, reasonably classed as a governmenta laffair, and if such be its character, it then clearly follows that the city is not legally liable for the injuries and damages in question, even though such injuries and damages were the result of negligence on the part of the city or its agents."

This opinion, while it relieves the city of any legal responsibility, will not in any way lessen the activities of the miuncipality in caring for the dead and injured and looking after the wants of those who are still suffering from the events of that sad day. The Relief Committee is still as busy in looking after the suffering as they were the day after the tragedy, and on Wednesday the people will vote practically unanimously, it is forecast, to authorize the City Council to vote a special tax levy of 20 cents, which will provide a fund of $60,000 to meet these expenses being incurred. The Relief Committee today made a rough estimate that the funeral expenses and undertaking bills will amount to $15,000; expense of caring for 300 injured, $35,000, and aiding dependent families for indefinite time, $10,000—a total of $60,000. This may not be enough, but whatever more may be needed will be voted just as willingly as the initial sum. Tonight representatives of every civic body in the city met at the City Library and mapped out a campaign for getting out a big vote on Wednesday by districting the city and appointing a rallying committee with autos to carry people to the polls. Talks on the subject were made by leading men of the city, and enthusiasm over Long Beach's ability and desire to see that justice was done reached a high point.

WATER SUPPLY SHORT.

The water department today issued an appeal to water consumers to exercise a little economy in the use of the fluid, with the warning that unless this was heeded the board would be compelled to enforce restrictive rules.

The light rains of the past two years has lessened the underground supply, which is reported lower than for ten years past. Duirng the past year 1200 new connections have been made in the city and the city is pumping every available inch of water and but for flowing capacity off the new well in the Alamitos group, the situation would be bad.

The new well in the Citizens group, which is down 1156 feet, is barren so far because of a collapsed casing and it will be some weeks before the trouble is removed and the water cut in. Another trouble is the failure to receive the air compressing pumps by which the flow of the pumping wells would be increased. The Dayton firm were delayed by the floods there and will not be able to forward the pumps until July.

POSTMASTER ASPIRANT.

"Provided there is to be a change in the present incumbency," reads petitions which are being circulated today asking the President to appoint as postmaster L. W. Shuman, present City Auditor, who is strong in both political and non-partican circles.

Shuman has been an avowed candidate since the election which elevated a Democrat to power, but because the incumbent still has over half his appointive term to serve, Mr. Shuman believed he should have a square deal and not be removed for any political difference with the administration. Other Democrats, however, have not been so considerate, and for the past week Shuman's friends have been at him to get busy, and he finally consented, on condition that the phrase above quoted be inserted in the petitions. Two sets of petitions are in the field, one for signatures by non-partisan voters and one for Democrats, and they are being rapidly signed up.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Fifty-five grammar-school boys and eight leaders left the Y.M.C.A. building this morning and boarded a special electric car for Sierra Madre, from where they hiked over the Mt. Wilson trail to the Y.M.C.A. summer camp site on the west fork of the San Gabriel River, and where they will enjoy a two weeks' outing. They will return here June 30.

While playing soldier today Louis Roberts, aged 11, was shot in the right leg when his stepbrother, William Lovell, accidentally discharged a toy cannon. Surgeons removed about 100 tiny shot from the injured member. The accident, however, will not prove a serious one.

To hold the splintered bone in place surgeons today put steel plates on the limb of Edward Mead, who suffered a fracture of his left thigh in the auditorium disaster. The bone it was found was shattered badly.

Black Hand?

RED GASOLINE'S WEIRD TRAIL.

More Mystery Develops in House Explosion.

Over a Score of Fires in the Neighborhood.

Owner of Last Place Says He Is Hounded.

Gasoline as an ally of the Black Hand in the destruction of the home of J. D. Trapani, No. 1502 East Fourteenth street, early yesterday morning, has brought another element of mystery into the case. The police are puzzled between a possible concrete case of the Mafia and a string of similar fires in the Italian quarter surrounding the Trapani home. With the two perpetrators of the explosion lying swathed in bandages at the Receiving Hospital the authorities have a clear case of wilful destruction of property, but aside from the statements of Trapani himself and a cluster of threatening letters purported to have come from the Black Hand there is little evidence to show that the act was committed in pursuance of the oath of blood atonement.

The most recent tragedy in the Italian quarter has started an investigation on the part of the police, insurance adjusters and others into the long list of mysterious fires that have occurred in the Trapani neighborhood in the past two years. More than a score of burnings similar to that which demolished the Trapani home have left their red trail across Little Italy. In nearly every instance evidence of gasoline or distillate was found. In most cases, say insurance men, the furniture or fixtures of the tenants was topheavy with insurance. Here is a partial list of the more recent fires:

GASOLINE EXPLOSION.

Trapani's residence was torn to pieces by an explosion which the police say was caused by gasoline. Joe Principe, one of the injured men under arrest, and his partner, as yet unidentified, opened a screen at the rear of the Trapani residence, while Trapani and his family were away. They were not interrupted in their work. The gasoline which they ig-

The sketch, made in the hospital by a Times staff artist, makes all possible allowance for the burns and bandages. The lower picture is of the one identified as Joe Principe.

COUNTY AUTOPSY SURGEON.

The Board of Supervisors yesterday created the position of autopsy surgeon and pathologist, to be attached to the County Hospital, and appointed Dr. A. F. Maisch to the position at a salary of $2000 a year, and expenses when called outside the city. It is estimated that this appointment will save the county at least 50 per cent. in the annual cost of autopsies, which have run all the way from $3400 to $5000 a year.

In the addition to the saving of money the county will be in possession of all the records of such cases, whereas they are now secured with difficulty when required, such work being in the hands of a man named by the Coroner. The position was created at the suggestion of Superintendent Whitman of the hospital, concurred in by the Hospital Committee of the board. At the superintendent's suggestion, a resolution was also adopted requiring medical students to pay a fee of $5 for the privileges of the free clinic at the hospital.

A Filibuster.

TAKES UP FIGHT AGAINST THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

Supervisor Norton Goes Home After the First Skirmish and Leaves Field to His Harmonious Colleagues—Fails in His Campaign of Obstruction.

A new tack was apparently taken yesterday by the little Earl contingent in its efforts to harass the District Attorney's office through Supervisor Norton. Much curiosity and gossip were created from the fact that the Board of Supervisors, following noon adjournment, went into secret session and remained there until 2:15 p.m. The board was then called to order by Chairman Pridham and immediate adjournment taken until 3 o'clock, so the members could go out and get dinner.

The large crowd interested in bids that were to be opened and other business to come before the board spent the time in discussing the probable important question that called for such urgent action behind closed doors.

From underground sources enough was learned to make it appear that the Earl so-called Taxpayers' League, first revived to foster opposition to Albert Lee Stephens in his campaign for City Attorney and later resuscitated to boost Earl's henchmen for the City Council, is now being used as a club by Supervisor Norton to bolster up Earl's puerile quarrel against Dist.-Atty. Fredericks.

In the name of the same headless one-man organization, Norton also is supposed to have started a campaign of opposition to the county salary ordinance, in retaliation for his failure to compel the District Attorney to disclose the names of certain detectives of his department before Norton would agree to an approval of the warrants for their salary.

When the salary of the new autopsy surgeon was being fixed at $2000 a year Capt. Manning smiled over the top of his glasses and remarked: "Hadn't we better see all the committees in town before we fix this salary?" He then voted with the other members.

Norton failed to attend the afternoon session, saying he was sick and was going home. Nothing was brought up in the open meeting, beyond the quiet remark of Capt. Manning, to indicate what had transpired in executive session, and the members declined to talk about it.

FUND IS SWELLING.

Subscriptions for Entertainment of Delegates to International Christian Endeavor Convention Heavy.

Over $6000 of the $15,000 needed for the entertainment of the International Christian Endeavor convention has been subscribed, according to announcement made yesterday by directors of the convention league. Several churches are making collections for the fund.

As the biennial convention of the Young Women's Christian Association has been added to the dozen other conventions that will be held in this city in 1915, the league decided to throw its support to San Francisco to secure exposition-year conventions for that city.

Announcement was also made that the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen had been invited to hold their next international convention in this city and that an organized effort is being made to bring the triennial conclave of the Grand Commandery of Knights Templar to this city in 1916.

Fatal Ingenuity.

DIES IN TRAP SET FOR CATS.

Youth Electrocuted by Wire Strung on Fence.

Neighbor Families Look On as Juice Kills.

Desperate Efforts to Save Lad Prove Futile.

After having spent all his spare time for a week in rigging up an electrical contrivance to kill cats that preyed on a neighbor's chickens, Harold Wittrock, a 14-year-old boy of No. 1402 Lemon street, was electrocuted by his own handiwork at 8:10 o'clock last night. He was dead before the ambulance from the Receiving Hospital could reach the place.

With E. J. Morris, of the same age, Wittrock had strung a live electric wire along the top of a high wire-netting fence in the rear of the home of E. A. Morris, No. 125 Wilson street. Cats had been killing the Morris poultry, and the two boys, possessing considerable mechanical adeptness, had originated the unique method of exterminating them. It was young Wittrock's suggestion that they string the live wire along the top of the fence and connect it with the electric current that feeds the house. When the cats started to crawl over the fence in search of young poultry they would be instantly killed by the shock.

The last test was being made last night. During the construction of the arrangement all the members of the family had been agreeably shocked by contact with the wires, none suffering any ill effects from receiving the 110 volts. After an exciting evening all was ready for the visit of the cats, when Wittrock went out to make the final test. He touched the wires and screamed. He stood with his hands still in contact with the current.

Young Morris rushed to pull him away while the elder Morris hurried into the house and disconnected the switch. The boy was instantly killed. He was the son of Harold Wittrock, Sr., and was a student of the Manual Arts High School, specialising in electrical work.

THREE-DAY HOLIDAY.

Merchants and Manufacturers Favor Week-end Rest Beginning With July Fourth.

The directors of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association favor a three-day holiday for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 4, 5 and 6. The board adopted these resolutions at a meeting yesterday afternoon:

Whereas, this association has for some years attempted to obtain uniform observance of holidays by the commercial and industrial interests of this city; and,

Whereas, some classes of business have decided to close their establishments from Thursday evening, July 3, to Monday morning, July 7, 1913.

Therefore, be is resolved, by the board of directors of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association that the employers be requested, whenever consistent with the transaction of their business, to close their establishments on Friday and Saturday, July 4 and 5, thereby giving their employees a three days' holiday, and without great inconvenience to the general public.

What's in It?

HE WILL FIGHT SLANDER SUIT.

VESTRYMAN DECLARES ACTION AN ABSURDITY.

Supervisor Norton Wants Twenty-five Thousand Dollars Damages for Remark Johnson Says He Didn't Make—Friends of Latter See Hand of a Politician in Case.

E. P. Johnson, Jr., defendant in a $25,000 slander suit brought yesterday by Supervisor R. H. Norton, last night announced his determination to contest the action, which he calls "absurd."

Norton alleges as a cause for damages that Johnson asserted at a parish meeting of Christ Episcopal Church that Norton had included a gasoline charge in his report as treasurer of the parish for "gas" really used in an automobile belonging to the church to further Norton's campaign for Supervisor.

Johnson declares that this was manifestly impossible, as the Supervisor campaign was over before the alleged incident occurred; that his remarks were made in a joking way and were so understood by his audience and that they referred to a campaign for the election of a new vestry. As a matter of fact, he said, the machine was accepted in part payment for the sale of the church rectory, and was taken from the garage for exhibition purposes by others than Norton.

Norton's attorney, Fred R. Baker, recently directed the Rial bunco investigation, but denied at that time being retained by E. T. Earl. T. A. Williams, secretary of the Christ Church vestry, is Johnson's attorney, and was present when the alleged "slander" was perpetrated. He corroborates his client, and declares that nothing slanderous was said or intended.

According to Rev. Baker P. Lee and Johnson, Norton was not present at the time the alleged slander was spoken, and his knowledge of what actually occurred is therefore hearsay. Friends of Johnson also assert that, in their opinion, Earl is mixed up in the business for political reasons.

From Father Junipero.

WEE LIVE OAK STURDILY BEARS HISTORIC WEIGHT.

A live oak of illustrious stock.

This is Fr. Emeritus d' Diego telling to little Catherine Costella the story of the tree on which Junipero Serra hung a church bell to call the Indians to prayer after landing at Monterey Bay. The little tree is a seedling from that first live oak and is now at the Plaza Church.

TO THE devout who will this week flock to the Plaza Church on the occasion of the historic mission's annual fiesta the object of perhaps greatest single interest is a tiny live oak tree, scarcely thirty-six inches high. It is a seedling from the historic tree, under the spreading branches of which Father Junipero Serra celebrated the first mass after his landing at Monterey Bay. From one of its limbs Father Junipero suspended a church bell to summon the Indians to the sacred service. The location of the parent tree was at Playa Junipero, an inlet in Monterey Bay.

This was in 1773. The ancient tree lived until about twelve years ago, and its trunk is being preserved as a cherished relic at the San Carlos Mission at Monterey.

Mrs. A. F. Rico, formerly of Monterey, gathered acorns from the tree just before it died, and planted a great many of them, but out of over fifty seedlings the little tree at the Plaza Church is believed to be the only one which survived. Later the little tree was given to Bert Rico of Montebello, and he has presented it to the Church of Our Lady of the Angels. After the fiesta it will be planted in the church patio, but during the festival it will be on exhibition with an admission charge.

The formal opening of the fiesta occurred last night, but a large number attended at an early hour to take advantage of the typical Spanish dinner prepared by Mrs. George Johnson and her associates. The evening's events included fancy dancing, songs, a Spanish drill by altar boys, addresses by John Scott and Joseph Coyne, president of the Knights of Columbus, and music by the "Mission Play" orchestra, a feature promised for every evening of the week's festivities.

This evening's entertainment is dedicated to the "Native Sons, and Hon. Antonio Arfila will make the principal address; "El Trenzado" will be given by the choir girls of the parish; "El Borracho" will be given by Gabriel Quiros, and "A Doll Within the Cloister" will be put on by Raymond and Viola Junge.

Says Billy Matuskiwiz.

HEIRESS DOESN'T NEED ANY ALIMONY, ANYWAY.

FOR fifteen long years William Matuskiwiz, property clerk at the City Jail, has laid aside $25 every month from his salary as policeman, and sent it to his wife, Louise, as alimony ordered by Judge Waldo M. York back in 1898, when a decree of divorce was granted her. This faithful obedience of the court's order distinguishes Matuskiwiz as the long distance alimony-payer of this county.

Patience ceased to be a virtue, however, when he discovered that his divorced wife had inherited a snug fortune of $10,000, perhaps more. He objected to slicing his salary when she had a comfortable income, and he did not believe he should be compelled to continue obeying the order of the court, made at a time when there were four young children to be provided for.

He and his erstwhile wife appeared in Judge Monroe's court yesterday, where the matter was presented. Mrs. Matuskiwiz denied that she has $10,000 or any fortune. She admitted to an interest in a house built in 1887, in which her brother and sister share until the estate is free from debt. She stated that since obtaining her divorce she was compelled to do house cleaning to support her children and pay for the violin lessons of Eddie, the youngest son, who has now passed away.

She declares she has no income and needs the $25 a month. Matuskiwiz answers that the daughters, Louisa and Johanna, have become of age and are married; therefore they are not dependent upon his ex-wife for support. Judge Monroe continued the case a week to investigate the alleged inheritance.

INDORSEMENT REQUIRED.

Indiscriminate Charity Condemned as Too Heavy a Burden on Merchants and Manufacturers.

The following resolutions were adopted yesterday afternoon by the directors of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association requesting members of the organization to adhere strictly to the rule to make donations to only those charitable institutions that have obtained a written indorsement from the association:

Whereas, the demands on the business community by charitable and philanthropic institutions have lately increased to such an extent, through direct appeals and through benefits, that the merchants have reached the limit of their ability in this respect; and

Whereas, such institutions have always been supported by our merchants in the most liberal spirit and by generous contributions, almost reaching 85 per cent. of all the moneys collected for these purposes; and

Whereas, in many cases the public spirit and liberality of our merchants have been abused to the extent that only a small part of the money so collected through benefit performances reaches the institution in whose interest such benefits are supposed to be held;

Therefore, Be it resolved by the board of directors of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, that our members are requested to strictly adhere to the rules not to donate or subscribe to any appeals for financial aid unless a written indorsement of the institution so soliciting has been obtained for that purpose from the association.

THEATER-PARTY PLANS FOR ORPHAN CHILDREN.

Full Orpheum Bill and Few Extras to Be Given Free by "The Times" to Two Thousand Tots Saturday Morning—Society Women to Assist in Caring for Little Ones—Wonderful Dogs to Be Feature.

THE TIMES has arranged, through the courtesy of the Orpheum Theater and its management, to entertain all the orphan children of Los Angeles with an immense theater party next Saturday morning.

The affair, unique of its kind, will be begun at 10 o'clock a.m. There will be room for 2000 in the big theater, and every orphan child in Los Angeles will be invited to be present, regardless of color, religion or nationality.

There will be an especial show arranged from the present Orpheum bill, of acts especially suited to the youngsters, and the programme is such this week that this is easily possible. Not only this, but there will be a full orchestra to play marches and patriotic pieces, as well as the music for each act.

The programme will include, first, the music; then the remarkable Meehan dog act—dogs that play, leap, dance, box and a lot of other tricks—big dogs and little.

Then will come Lester, the wonderful ventriloquist and his dummy; the dummy that bosses him and makes the act very funny. Lester can "throw his voice" in a remarkable manner, and he never moves his lips while talking through the dummy.

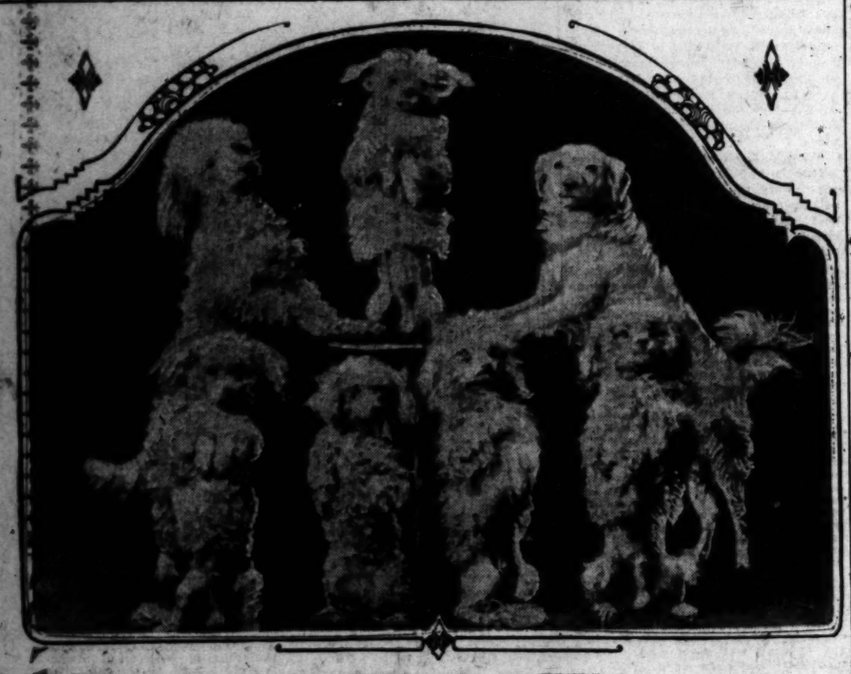
Last will be the Gus Edwards' "Fountain of Youth," with twenty-five persons in the act—boys and girls as well as grown-ups. This one act has six scenes and lasts almost an hour. The show will run about two hours, and each event in it will be such as a child can thoroughly appreciate.

There will be no admission charged to this big Times-Orpheum Theater party; every orphan child is invited free. Arrangements will be made for street car transportation, matrons and others to be in charge of the children, and a committee of women will be at the theater to see that everything is made pleasant and agreeable for them.

There will be no bother with tickets or reserved seats—all seats will be available, and badges issued by The Times will be good for admission. These badges will be sent to the orphanages direct, and will be honored at the door.

It is possible, too, that there will be a few thrills not yet announced to make the affair more than usually pleasing and memorable.

Full details of the arrangements will be announced later, and in them instructions will be given as to the methods to pursue in every case for each asylum. But it is not necessary for the orphans to worry over such matters; they can know from this that they are all included; they are all invited, and if they don't all come to the Times-Orpheum Theater party at 10 o'clock a.m. Saturday next—doors open at 9:30 o'clock—it will be their own faults.



Meehan's dogs,

To be seen at the orphans' benefit at the Orpheum.

Do It for Health.

SWAT THE FLY 'n FILTH CARRIERS.

TWELVE GENERATIONS A YEAR FROM SINGLE ONE.

The Insects Are Born in, Live in Filth, and Are the Known Distributors of Many Diseases, and Should Be Systematically Killed Early in the Season.

[Washington Star:] Terming the house fly the "international insect," Dr. Arthur L. Murray of the District of Columbia Health Department, in an address, comprehensively outlined the origin and development of the pest, described the methods by which it spreads disease and suggested measures for exterminating it.

The health expert stated that at the end of each season certain flies, on account of some special vitality or fitness, are able to survive the winter in a more or less dormant state.

"When we consider the prodigious reproductive powers of the fly we can readily understand that not many members are required to regenerate the entire tribe within a comparatively short period," he said. "The females of these over-winter survivors come forth with the first warm weather. Each female deposits about 120 eggs at each laying.

"Under favorable conditions the eggs will hatch into small white larva or maggots one-fourth of an inch in length in twenty-four hours. At the end of from five to seven days the maggots molt and pass to the pupal stage, which is a trifle larger than that of the larva, and become brown in color. After a second period of from five to seven days the adult fly issues from the puparium ready to cause both man and beast as much annoyance and misery as he is capable of.

"Thus, it is seen that the cycle of development of a fly occupies from ten to fourteen days, the warmer the weather the shorter the period of development. It has been estimated by Dr. Howard, etomologist for the United States Department of Agriculture, that twelve generations of flies may occur in a locality geographically situated as is Washington, in a single season."

Dr. Murray stated that it is estimated that 26,278,705,600,000,000,000 flies may spring from a single ancestor in one season of twelve generations. But fortunately, he said, there are many factors which prevent all the eggs laid by one female from becoming adult flies. It is believed to be a conservative estimate, he declared, that only 4,154,000,000 flies compose the aggregate descendants of one female insect for a single season.

Dr. Murray pointed out that flies invariably select the filthiest places in which to breed. The necessary conditions for the hatching of the eggs are two—heat and moisture. These factors usually are best supplied under filthy conditions, such as fermenting and putrefying vegetable and animal matter, the garbage pail, the refuse pile and the carcass of dead animals.

Referring to the habits of the insects, he stated that flies normally will not travel more than 300 to 500 feet from their breeding places, and that the elimination of the breeding places, therefore, will make possible the extermination of the disease-spreading horde.

"Flies are born in filth, live in filth and carry filth," said Dr. Murray. "They eat at our table, even from the same plate; drink from the same glass, wade through the butter, gambol over the sugar, swim in the milk and frequently end by committing suicide in the coffee. They disturb the sleep of the infant; often seriously annoy the sick, as in cases of typhoid fever or other depressing illnesses.

"But now for the more serious charge against his flyship. The insect is the known distributer of many diseases, such a typhoid fever, tuberculosis, intestinal disorders, especially among infants, and cholera. Other diseases probably carried by the fly are anthrax, plague, trachoma, erysipelas, septicemia, hospital gangrene, smallpox and the eggs of certain of the animal parasites, such as hookworms, tapeworms and the nematodes of round worms."

Dr. Murray expressed the opinion that flies carry infective organisms principally by means of their feet. They visit the open garbage pail, the obstructed sewer, the puddle from the leaky waste pipe and other insanitary places, he pointed out, and then fly to the unscreened kitchen, lunchroom, bakery or grocery store and leave their visiting cards of bacteria and filth.

"In all their visits they leave behind them unseen, but nevertheless dangerous, messengers of illness and death from their germ-laden feet. Disease attacks human beings only when they are brought in contact with it."

Dr. Murray recommended the following measures for the eradication of the pest:

Kill or destroy as many flies as possible early in the season and thus prevent the development of their offspring.

Eliminate as far as possible their breeding places. Keep everything clean, using as a motto, "No refuse, no flies."

Screen your houses and encourage others to do likewise. Use fly paper, fly traps and other methods of destroying the insects. Show the fly no mercy; he offers no quarter.

Special effort should be made, Dr. Murray said, to keep flies away from the sick, particularly those who are suffering from contagious and infectious diseases.

PERFECT HUSBANDS.

[Des Moines Register and Leader:] If the girls of Kansas wait until they find the man who comes up to their standard of an ideal husband, the young men assert, there will be a falling off in the marriage rate. The young women want too much and are too exacting, the men say.

The latest fixing of standards for an "ideal" man is the result of a census taken among the girl students in the Kansas colleges which was carried out by the branches of the Young Women's Christian Association in these institutions. Even cooking should be one of the good qualities for a man to possess before he is worth marrying, according to the reports of some of the young women who filed their opinions.

Of course, in the reports there were exceptions. Short girls said that ideal men should be more than six feet in height, while tall girls nearly always said that they believed short men were nearer perfection than tall ones. Plump girls were in favor of thin men, and thin girls assume that the perfect husband should weigh well over the 200-pound mark.

The concensus of opinion, however, does not insist that the perfect man be a giant. Five feet eleven inches is plenty tall enough, and 159 pounds is about the right weight, they think. His waist measurement should not be more than 31½ inches and it is not necessary for him to be an Adonis in facial beauty. He should have at least six inches chest expansion, and when he inflates his lungs, the tape should measure forty inches.

Not only must he refrain from drinking, but he cannot even smoke a cigar if he wants to be in the perfect class. He must be a fluent conversationalist, jolly, accommodating, a sportsman, always neat in appearance, truthful, never flatter, and above all he must admit that his wife and sisters are his equals. He must always be courteous to men and women alike, and be religious without being a bigot. There are other minor qualifications called for in the standard measure, but this is as far as the marriageable young men ever get.

In retaliation the young men are to start a census campaign and ascertain just what the ideal standard of college men is. They promise that the girls' list will be taken from all colleges when they get through.

SETTING HENS HATCH FISH.

Chinese Give the Naturalists of Other Nations Several Points Regarding Breeding of Fish.

Dr. Leonard Keene Hirshberg, A. B., M. A., M. D., of Johns Hopkins University, gives the following account of the manner in which the Chinese develop fish spawn into young fish:

Out in the land where the youngest republic is just budding into the world's powers, in the land of Confucius, China—no longer the Chinese empire of the school books—the coolies that make their living as fishermen and breeders of young fish have discovered a simple way of making roe or fish spawn develop into young fish.

They search the small streams and brooks of the country, wade around in the shallow waters or row about in strange craft, and take from the surface all the bunches of spawn that are found floating there.

These multitudes of fish eggs are then gently and without injury placed in the shells of hens' eggs, from the end of which a bit of shell has been removed to allow the contents to be thrown out, and then, when the shell is filled with the roe, the end is carefully plugged with absorbent cotton and the egg shell filled with the spawn is placed beneath a setting hen.

After several days—the time, of course, depends upon the species of fish as well as the condition of the setting chicken—the egg shell, filled with the fish eggs, is emptied into fresh water, which has previously been heated by the sun's rays. In a couple of more days all of the small fry will have hatched out, and thereafter for some time they are kept in fresh water until ready for distribution and sale to the various aquaria and small streams of the land.

The Chinese have known for thousands of years how to incubate artificially not only hen's eggs but the eggs of fish, reptiles, birds and other animals. It is, therefore, in accord with their previous history to find them in the lead in inventing methods of hatching out young fish.

As the eggs of fish incubate naturally in their native element—water—the experience of the Chinese in starting the process on land, with the aid of a setting hen, has taught them to be careful that sufficient water is introduced into the hen's egg shell along with the roe, to keep the latter from drying up instead of hatching out young fish.

WIFE'S FAITH SUSTAINS HIM.

ERCANBRACK IS ARRAIGNED ON BRIBERY CHARGE.

New Hope Comes to the Santa Barbara Carpenter Accused of Having Tried to Buy a Postmastership, With Arrival of Life-Aged Companion—Released on Bond.

Borne up by the presence and unfailing loyalty of his wife, Lucinda, companion of forty years, Charles H. Ercanbrack, the Santa Barbara carpenter, went into the United States District Court yesterday and was arraigned on the charge of offering Senator Works a bribe of $1000 for the appointment of postmaster in Santa Barbara. He was given two weeks to decide whether he will say "guilty" or "not guilty" and was released on a $2500 bond.

The arrival of Mrs. Ercanbrack from Santa Barbara yesterday seemed to dispel much of the gloom that hung over the misguided office-seeker during the few days that he was in jail. The brave spirit shown by the wife in the hour of tribulation, her assuring words and her report that his fellow-townsmen had expressed unwavering faith in the integrity of his purpose seemed to give hope to Ercanbrack.

There was an affectionate, but silent, greeting between the old husband and wife in the jail corridor. The attendants saw tears come to the wife's eyes and her lips tremble and then straighten into a determined line in her effort to be brave. She whispered something that no ears but the husband's heard and then arm in arm they walked away from the latticed room, where the old man had slept two nights without his feather bed and with no tender hands to tuck the covers in.

Both the carpenter and his wife seem to feel keenly the sorrow that has come to them in the late afternoon of their lives. Mrs. Ercanbrack wore the garments of a woman in mourning. A dark veil shaded her face during the court proceedings.

The defendant's friends believe that the court will deal leniently with him since it appears that his alleged violation of the law was due to ignorance rather than premeditated wrong. Ercanbrack said that never in his life has he been able to obtain anything without paying for it and that he supposed the same rule applied to Federal appointments.

Hands scarred with toil, long years at a carpenter's bench, and fifty years of integrity, will tip the scales of justice in Ercanbrack's favor, his fellow-townsmen believe. Bond for Ercanbrack was furnished by C. F. Trenwith and E. C. Roeder, both of Santa Barbara.

Supreme Court Reverses Finding for Defendants in Kern River Stock Case.

The Supreme Court has reversed the finding of the Superior Court of Los Angeles county in favor of the defendants in the action brought by the R. H. Herron Company against William P. Shaw and others.

This was an action against the defendants as stockholders of the Kern River Mining and Power Company, to recover a separate judgment against each for the amount unpaid upon his subscription to the capital stock.

The case turned upon the question whether or not the stock held by the defendants was fully paid up. The authorized capital stock of the company was $1,000,000, or 1,000,000 shares of $1 each. Of this the defendants held 537,635 shares. The complaint alleged that they only paid 10 cents a share for such stock.

The lower court found that certain persons, not named, owned certain water rights, mining claims and mining machinery; that solely in consideration of the transfer of these holdings by the owners to the company, it issued to them 695,000 shares of fully paid non-assessable stock. Nothing further was paid. The market value of the property is said not to have exceeded $69,500. It was further held that the real market value of the property was $695,000, but the opinion was held that it could not be developed to a value in excess of that sum; that the defendants had acted in good faith. The stock owned by the defendants is a part of the 695,000 shares.

Walker says the films don't tell the story of the appearance of things today because they display the craters in eruption. Now, he declares, the dead lava is as hard as flint and as smoot has glass, and the soldiers will have great difficulty in securing a substantial anchorage for their tents.

It is almost impossible to bore holes in the lava, he says, so the tent ropes must be made fast to the nearest ledges. There is no water within miles of the craters, and of vegetation there is none. All food stuff must be packed from Honolulu, and should an eruption occur while the army is encamped there the boys will not have to wait for the "retreat" to be sounded. The heat and sulphur fumes make it hotter for the soldiers than the fire of an enemy, and altogether he does not look upon the experiment of the establishment of a defensive camp there as a midsummer night's dream.

HEARD FROM AFAR.

Praise for Los Angeles Fire Department Comes All the Way From Auckland, N. Z.

Fire Chief Eley received a letter yesterday from H. W. Smith of Auckland, N. Z., praising the fine showing made by the local fire department.

Smith stated that he had seen the motion pictures made of the fire department in action a year or more ago. These are just being shown in New Zealand cities, and they are attracting much favorable comment. The demand for them has been so great that they have been repeated nightly at the show houses.

The pictures were taken by the Selig company and the fire department received $1000 for the pension fund for this privilege. They were not shown in Los Angeles, but Chief Eley has received commendation of them from many sources throughout the United States and other countries.

ABBOT KINNEY ON FATHERHOOD.

Venetian Believes in Nation Honoring Sires.

Points Out Privileges and Duty of Parent.

Rev. Baker P. Lee Talks Temperance on Street.

VENICE, June 16.—Pleading that the trend of today was towards the exaltation of the mothers of the race far above that of the father, and that the prolongation of the race depended on a fuller recognition of the fathers of America, Abbot Kinney, in a speech before a mass meeting at the Auditorium last night, advocated the national observance of a "Fathers' Day."

The hundreds gathered at the meeting perfected organization and will issue a call to the country to join this city in proper celebration of the virtues of fatherhood. Mr. Kinney said in part:

"The greatest and the culminating work imagined by man for the supreme universe power is the creation of human beings," said Mr. Kinney. "To the deity is always attributed this highest and original mystery of life. Man possesses this culminating God-given power to create human beings. It is the grandest and most glorious of his powers. In exercising this wonderful privilege man lives again. He re-creates himself, joined inseparably with the life of the woman beloved. Cupid is the sacred emblem of true love.

"The heart hunger of woman for the true love and its pledge, the child, has been consecrated by the establishment of "Mothers' Day."

"There can be no mother without the man to love, support and defend the woman and renew life in the child.

"The time has come for the American people to consecrate the holy mystery of creation in the father as well as the mother.

"The grand privilege of man to be a father and to renew his life with one he loves fully recognized in all its wonderful power will make cleaner, stronger and greater fathers for the race.

"To be a father with the highest satisfaction to himself and the greatest value to the state requires in the man a trinity of powers. He must care for and develop a healthy body, full of vigor and of strong vitality evenly balanced. He must develop the mind for the capacity to realize and meet conditions through the body machine. He must develop character that sets the true aim and ideal for the efficient action of the body and mind. Character provides the self-confidence and spiritual enthusiasm without which there has been no great man, great woman, great family, great nation or great achievement.

"With this trinity of power man is reliable, efficient, and has the capacity for a full and joyous life. Material success is made certain, but the material standard falls into its proper place and is recognized as not being the aim and end of life action, but as a means to the end. This end is a renewed life for the father joined with the mother strong and improved for a world immortality to the superman.

"Men with the ideal fatherhood must set the standard of health, integrity and efficiency above all temptation. Intelligent fathers will shut out body and mind idleness, waste and degradation. As the conditions of the body and character are in the father and mother, so will the renewed life tend to be weak and degenerate or strong and glorious in the union of life in the child in whom they live again. The evolutions of life from the single cell to the highest man has proceeded through vast periods of time under tremendous stress.

"No full life, no life with the maximum of individual happiness or results can be lived by either sex without the completed use of the sex type in which the individual lives. We may prepare life to the rose tree; the rose we have always. The rose tree could not even be tolerated, much less cultivated, without its bloom. The splendid flower, lovely in its form, color and fragrance, makes the thorns negligible. We will have the rose, thorn and all. The flower is the expression in the rose tree in all its life range into its perfection of beauty to seed and live again. Human life is the same. The thorns are always with us. Love alone makes life tolerable, and it desirable, makes it glorious. Bringing the experience coming with advancing years men finally realise the blessedness deceptions and destructive weakness of a dominating material standard. The material standard, set above all spiritual things is destructive to a person, a family and a nation. It has destroyed [illegible] will always.

THE TIMES CAMP, instituted two years ago, is a wonderful success. During the two former seasons over 2000 boys have enjoyed a vacation at Catalina absolutely without cost to them.

This year the camp promises to exceed all previous records. Boys from everywhere in Southern California are daily turning in subscriptions for Times credits. Times outside agents report that more boys are working for their vacation than have already qualified to their orders until they have secured the required six. If this record is true, the camp will have to be enlarged and a few more cooks hired. Even there will be room for all. The capacity can be increased if necessary, and The Times would, in fact be glad tod o it. "The more the merrier" is the slogan here.

Yesterday a little fellow asked, "What do you say when you ask a man or woman to take the paper?" Three or four other fellows present looked around in surprise. Here was a new one. ABBOT KINNEY ON FATHERHOOD.

Function Believes in Nation Honoring Sires.

Points Out Privileges and Duty of Parent.

Dr. Baker P. Lee Talks Temperance on Street.

VENICE, June 16.—Pleading that the trend of today was towards the exaltation of the mothers of the race to where that of the father, and that the prolongation of the race depended on a fuller recognition of the fathers of America, Abbot Kinney, in a speech before a mass meeting at the auditorium last night, advocated the national observance of a "Fathers' Day."

The hundreds gathered at the meeting perfected organization and will issue a call to the country to join this city in proper celebration of the virtues of fatherhood. Mr. Kinney said in part:

"The greatest and the culminating truth inscribed by man for the supreme universe power is the creation of human beings," said Mr. Kinney. "To the deity is always attributed the highest and original mystery of life. Him possesses this culminating God-given power to create human beings. It is the grandest and most glorious of his powers. In exercising this wonderful privilege man lives again. He re-creates himself, joined immortality with the life of the woman he adored. Cupid is the sacred goddess of true love.

"The heart hunger of woman for divine love and its pledge, the child, is best consecrated by the establishment of 'Mothers' Day.'

"There can be no mother without the man to love, support and defend the woman and renew life in the child.

"The time has come for the American people to consecrate the holy mystery of creation in the father as well as the mother.

"The grand privilege of man to be a father and to renew his life with the love fully recognized in all its wonderful power will make cleaner, stronger and greater fathers for the race.

"To be a father with the highest ambition to himself and the great state to the state requires in the man a trinity of powers. He must develop and develop a healthy body, full of vigor and of strong vitality perfectly balanced. He must develop the mind for the capacity to realize all of most conditions through the body machine. He must develop character that sets the true aim and ideal for the efficient action of the body and mind. Character provides the steadiness and spiritual enthusiasm without which there has been no man, great woman, great family, great nation or great achievement.

"With this trinity of power man is strong, efficient, and has the capacity for a full and joyous life. Manliness is made certain, but the moral standard falls into its proper place and is recognized as not being the final end of life action, but a means to the end. This end is a worthy life for the father joined to the mother strong and improved by the immortality to the superman.

"So with the ideal fatherhood as the standard of health, intelligence and efficiency above all temptation, intelligent fathers will shut out body and mind idleness, waste and dissipation. As the conditions of body and character are in the father, so will the race be found to be weak and degenerate, or strong and glorious in the health of life in the child in the days to come again. The evolution of life from the single cell to the perfect man has proceeded through vast periods of time under the laws of nature.

"So full, so life with the maximum of individual happiness or misery is lived by either sex without the perfected one of the sex type and the individual lives. We may compare life to the rose tree; the flowers have always. The rose tree may not even be tolerated, much less cultivated, without its bloom. The flower, lovely in its form, with its fragrance, makes the thorns endurable. We will have the rose, thorns and all. The flower is the expression in the rose tree in all its life of the perfection of beauty to live again. Human life is the same. The thorns are always with us, but the flower makes life tolerable, makes it glorious. It is the experience coming with the fulness and destructive force of a dominating material element. The material standard set by material things is destructive of character, a family and a nation. It has destroyed nation after nation and will always.

"This is the American danger. One of its effects in the past and with us today is the making of obliteration of the pleasures, greatness of race necessity of reproduction. In America under this deceptive standard we rejoice over increased wealth and increased population. We welcome millions on millions of immigrants born of foreign parents while we cut down our own birth rate to a point already below our death rate of Americans of more than two generations. If California can comfortably support ten million people, who are these people to be? Progressive race sterilization in America is a death inviting folly. To prevent the loss of America to Americans we must renew reproduction of our own human lives. The fact that fatherhood is really a glorious personal and patriotic privilege must be made known.

"The condition of a State and its power is determined by its conditions and the power of the human units composing it. No State can long remain above or below the average of its human units, of its men and women. Death removes the human units at the appointed time. To live, the State must see its human units reproduce, recreate and live again.

"The dignity, the achievement and the necessity of reproduction of its best lives is the first and greatest interest of every State to inculcate and promote."

TEMPERANCE ORATORS.

To an immense crowd of pleasure seekers on the plaza yesterday Rev. Baker P. Lee, and the son of Frances Murphy spoke on temperance. They pleaded in the ears of hundreds who poured out of the two saloons and nineteen liquor-serving cafes in the vicinity. To those in the restless, ever-moving crowd Rev. Dr. Lee and Murphy told the evils of intemperance. Some laughed, some turned serious faces from the jostling crowd and show barkers to give ear to the eloquent men.

When Dr. Lee and Murphy first began, many in the band stand seats moved away. But their seats were taken by some who came to listen out of curiosity, and remained to stay and hear facts. It is an unusual event for a temperance speaker, a Salvation Army worker or the like to speak or even appear publicly in Venice. None can deny that Venice was bettered by the visit of Dr. Lee and Murphy.

NEWS BRIEFS.

An auto driven by W. J. Stratten was struck by Short Line car No. 534 at Westminster avenue Sunday at 2:30. The front end of the machine was demolished, but neither Stratten or his wife, who was riding with him, were hurt.

A rat created a panic in the Venice dance pavilion last night by appearing in the northwest corner of the floor and running towards the center while a hundred couples or more were waltzing. Women screamed and ran for shelter, and their male escorts were not far behind them. The rat ran up the dress of a woman from Redondo who gave her name as Edith Burlock.

SHALL WE HAVE FIESTA?

Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association Asks Members to Express Themselves.

Members of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association will be asked to express their views on the proposed revival of La Fiesta de las Flores in Los Angeles next year. The directors of the association voted to canvass the membership on this question at a meeting yesterday afternoon. The following communication, signed by Secretary Zeehandelaar, will be mailed to the association's members:

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of this association a resolution was adopted to revive La Fiesta de las Flores in 1914, provided the prevailing sentiment of the members is expressed in favor of such celebration at that time.

From different sources the suggestion has been made that a celebration next year would be beneficial to the city at large and to the commercial interests in view of the fact that no convention or public movement is scheduled for 1914, and that some effort should be made to show that the spirit of enterprise in Los Angeles is still active and that the merchants are still wide awake.

The California Celebrations Committee, of which this association is a participating member, has been organized for the purpose of advertising throughout the United States the fact that California is the playground of America during the entire year, and in that way attract many tourists and visitors for a period commencing in October and ending in May.

In order to carry out the spirit of the resolution above quoted, and to ascertain the sentiment of our members, you are urgently requested to fill out the enclosed card as full as you desire and mail in the enclosed envelope. The returns will be submitted to the board of directors for further action.

Please send your reply before July 15.

RATE WARFARE NEARS AN END.

NEW RULE PROMISES DECISIVE ACTION THIS TIME.

Three Railroads and Pacific Electric Interested in Redondo Branch Lumber Case—Large Amount of Legal Talent Arrayed—Revision Downward Interstate.

With the State Railroad Commission's abrogation of its ten-day publicity rule to allow the Southern Pacific to be included in the list of defendants in the so-called "Redondo branch lumber rate case," the hearing of the amalgamated cases, scheduled for Thursday before Commissioner Loveland, promises to be the decisive battle of a desultory warfare that has been carried on between the contesting parties for two years.

The list of defendants includes the three local railroads and the Pacific Electric. The complainants are the City Lumber, Higman Lumber, California Hardwood Lumber, Pacific Lime and Elder Building Material companies, all situated on or reached by the Redondo branch of the Santa Fe, hence the name of the case.

The bone of contention is the rate of 6 cents per hundred charged on lumber delivered to the complainants from either East San Pedro or San Pedro, this rate being 2 cents higher than the one proffered for deliveries within the city. Reparation in the sum of $2842, retroactive to December 7, 1911, is also asked by the complaining companies. It is further stated that other companies may claim—something like $5000 in overcharges if the case is decided against the railroads.

A large array of legal talent is promised for the hearing. The complainants will be represented by President Stewart of the Merchants' Traffic Association; the Pacific Electric by ex-Judge McKinley; the Santa Fe by Attorney Camp and Solicitor Clotfelter; the Salt Lake by General Counsel Halstead; the Southern Pacific by General Counsel Durbrow and Counsel Squires.

A third party to the case is the G. M. Simpson Lumber Company, which will intervene on the grounds that it also has been overcharged through shipping lumber from the North to the complainants, f.o.b., Los Angeles.

LOWER CLASS RATES.
HELPS SMALL SHIPPERS.

Class rates between this city and many Eastern California, Arizona, New Mexico, and Nevada points will be revised downward to the extent of from 10 to 50 per cent, under a new freight tariff that will become effective July 15. As a result of the revision, local jobbers are promised a distinct advantage over their El Paso and Denver competitors in the fight for the growing business of our neighbors to the East.

Less-than-carload shippers will be materially benefited by the revised rates. In other words, traffic eastward will attain to greater fluidity than is possible where jobbers have to combine several shipments in order to get the material benefit of the carload rate.

Some idea of the general reductions may be obtained from the following table of the reductions to Phoenix: Class 1, $1.94 per hundred to $1.65; class 2, $1.67 to $1.37; class 3, $1.55 to $1.22; class 4, $1.42 to 99 cents; class 5, $1.15 to 83 cents; class A, 83⅓ to 66 cents; class C, 77½ to 55 cents; class D, 65½ to 50 cents, and class E, 63¾ to 43 cents. Prescott, Barstow, Daggett, Ludlow, Searchlight, Blythe Junction, Parker, Needles, Kingman, Williams, Flagstaff, Winslow, Holbrook, Gallup, Albuquerque and Belen are among the places notably favored by the reduction in rates.

COAST PRODUCT.
TO BUILD OIL STEAMER.

Specifying that every inch of machinery, shall be made on the Pacific Coast, the Associated Oil Company has just awarded a contract to the Union Iron Works of San Francisco for the construction of an oil tank steamer, with a capacity of 62,000 barrels and to cost just under $1,000,000. This announcement was made yesterday by President Sproule of the Southern Pacific, who is also president of the Associated Oil Company.

This vessel will not only be larger than any of the ten tankers now operated by the Associated, but it will be perhaps the largest oil tank steamer flying the American flag. In general, it will be modeled after the Chanslor and Herrin. It is estimated that the big oil carrier will be ready for service within thirteen months.

The general dimensions are: Length between perpendiculars, 410 feet; moulded depth to upper deck, thirty-two feet; height between decks, eight feet. The single-screw propellor will be driven by steam from four single-ended boilers, capable of developing 3500 horse power, and driving the vessel at a rate of ten knots an hour when loaded. Two cargo pumps will discharge the full oil cargo from the eighteen oil tanks in nineteen hours. The vessel will be provided with all the latest safety devices, including wireless and submarine signalling apparatus, and will carry a crew of forty-one men. F. J. Trist, constructor for the Associated, is the designer.

Averill Again Promoted.

W. H. Averill, formerly assistant superintendent for the Southern Pacific, here, has been advanced from the position of assistant general superintendent of the Baltimore and Ohio at Pittsburgh, to the assistant general superintendency at New York. This position also carries with it the title of general superintendent of the Staten Island Railway Company and Staten Island Rapid Transit Railway Company. Averill is a nephew of Mrs. E. H. Harriman, the widow of the late railroad magnate.

To Reopen Rate War.

With the Pacific Navigation Company's announcement of cut rates to San Francisco the 20th and 22nd inst., the Los Angeles-San Francisco rate war that stirred the railroads and steamship companies some weeks ago promises to be reopened. The conflict was started by the railroads offering a $12 round trip rate between the two points, which rate was bettered by the steamship companies, and resulted in a heavy movement of travelers both north and south.

Turners on Special Train.

Local Turners and members of their families, nearly 200 persons in all, will leave here at 8:45 o'clock Sunday morning on a special train for Denver to attend the thirty-first annual Bundesturnfest, which opens on the 25th inst., for a four-day session of gymnastics, business and pleasure. Two diners, six Pullmans, three baggage cars, and a club observation car have been engaged.

Blue-grass Special.

Twenty tourists from Hopkinsville, Ky., traveling in a Pullman tourist car, are to arrive here tomorrow night for a three days' stay. The party will go from here to Salt Lake City. Miss Virginia Tibbs is the charterer of the car, according to the advance notices.

THIS CAMP ENTERTAINS THOUSANDS OF BOYS.

THE TIMES CAMP, instituted two years ago, is a wonderful success. The boys the two former seasons have enjoyed a vacation absolutely without expense.

For the camp promises to exceed previous records. Boys from all parts in Southern California are subscribing in subscriptions for The Times outside agents and more boys are working for them. Many have already qualified, it seems, are holding their orders until they have the required etc. If this record is to be maintained, however, The Times cooks will have to be increased. If the Times would, in fact, be a city. The more the merrier, say we.

"Now, fellow asked, when you ask a boy if he will take the paper?"

"Why, we tell him that he merely has to present subscription blanks to get subscribers," the manager asked and then explained a lesson in salesmanship. Everyone seemed to understand the method.

If she didn't he explained that he was soliciting in order to win a vacation. He would then go on to explain that she only had to sign for one month and that she didn't have to pay in advance. According to this boy he had only been turned down once.

The next fellow's system was to first tell the party what he was working for and then prove his story by showing one of the camp circulars. If the party already took the paper he would try to have her or him send it to some friend or relative. Even if the paper was sent East it doesn't cost any more than 75 cents a month.

The third worker explained that he first signed his name to subscription blanks then he would pay all his friends a visit. Before leaving he would explain his vacation plan and leave a few of his order blanks. This friend would tell his friends, pass each person one of the orders to fill out, and soon these same blanks would be turned into The Times office all signed up.

No two boys agree as to the best way to get the orders, but they agree that six subscriptions for one month and thereafter until ordered stopped are easy to get. Also that The Times Camp vacation is the best in the world because it doesn't cost a cent. Come in or write for illustrated circular and subscription blanks, and join this happy, hustling band of outdoor boys.

The Explosion of a Flower.

[Harper's Weekly:] Sometimes the floral spathe of a great palm tree will fly open with a sound like a detonation in a mine. Such an event occurred in the botanical garden in Algiers, recently. The spathe, nearly three feet long, was projected to a great distance and for some moments the head of the palm tree was wreathed with golden dust formed of the debris of the flower. The sun's heat had roasted the flower to the color of rust. The director of the garden explained the explosion as being due to a fermentation in the flower caused by the extraordinary dryness of the air. A violent sirocco had just passed. In Algeria ostrich eggs explode in the same way and from a like cause.

Gasoline's Wierd Trail.

nited had been placed between the parlor and the dining-room and before the two Italians could escape they were caught in a terrific explosion. Out of the wreckage they dashed to their capture.

Detective Charles Jones, who was detailed on the case yesterday, searched the rooms of Principe at No. 680 North Boyle avenue and found the address of Vito Spartio, whose sister had married Joe Principe's brother. Spartio was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where he identified Principe, but asserted that he did not know the other man who was severely burned.

Detective Jones says that Trapani told him he had $2000 insurance on the house and furniture. The house is owned by Mrs. John McCulloch of Anaheim. It contained a great deal of furniture which Trapani told a reporter was insured for "only a few dollars." J. N. Childers, a private patrolman in charge of the property, said yesterday that the insurance on the furniture amounted to $2000. The fire adjusters are still engaged in an investigation of the fire, its cause, and the amount of insurance carried in the Trapani policies.

HOUNDED, HE SAYS.

Trapani is a commission merchant at Ninth and San Pedro streets. He says he has been hounded from New Orleans to Seattle, and then down the coast to Los Angeles for eleven years by the Black Hand. Many times, he says, he has received warning notes signed by the blotch of blood and gravestone cross, always demanding money and promising bodily violence in lieu of none. Some of these letters are held by the police. Detectives have compared the writing with letters found in Principe's room and say it bears a striking resemblance.

Trapani says he and his wife have stood watch over their home, and that many hours of the night he has guarded the house while his wife slept, going to bed only when he had to get enough sleep to last him through the coming day. His wife's health has been shattered, he says, for fear harm would come to him or their son, but he has steadfastly refused to pay tribute.

From New Orleans in an exclusive dispatch to The Times comes a story of the Mafia and its persistent effort to reach Trapani. The cause for the attack upon his home here is given in the dispatch as the direct outcome of the bloody Lucino-Genova feud, an inter-family war. For years this feud kept the Italian colony in New Orleans in constant terror. There would be mysterious clashes in dark alleys and when the police arrived only a dark form in a widening stain on the pavement would be left to show that anything had happened.

Trapani, it seems, was on the Genova side, and is supposed to have taken part in its war councils and battles. Tony Lucino, the last man in direct line of that family, charged that Trapani owed him money and the matter was carried to the courts. The litigation dragged. One night Lucino was assassinated, says the dispatch, and the case was later decided in favor of Trapani. Trapani sold out his business in New Orleans and came West. According to New Orleans reports, his enemies did not lose sight of his movements and finally traced him to this city.

Principe, the police say, has been here over two years. Trapani says he has been getting Black Hand letters frequently during that time. "As long as they don't hurt my family," Trapani says, "I don't care what happens to me."

SAD JOURNEY ENDS.

Mrs. Patterson Returns With Ashes of Beloved Husband Who Died Beyond the Seas.

Mrs. W. C. Patterson, accompanied by her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Callender, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday afternoon from Rome, bringing with her the ashes of her late husband, the well-known and widely-loved vice-president of the First National Bank, who on April 30 died suddenly in Naples.

It was a sad and sorrowful home-coming from a trip that was started for pleasure, and Mrs. Patterson went immediately to the Darby Hotel, where she and her husband had resided prior to starting for Europe. There with her children, Mrs. Callender and Mrs. John Stuart, she went into practical retirement, to recuperate from the long and tedious journey from Italy. Through Callender, she stated that absolutely nothing has been planned in the matter of disposing of the ashes.

"They may be buried or they may be strewn to the winds," said Callender, "as far as we have planned at the present time. Our first endeavor is to overcome the fatigue of the journey and the nervous strain caused by the severe shock of the death of Mr. Patterson."

NEW STATE SOCIETY.

South Carolina Joins the Federation—Florida, Delaware and New Mexico the Only Outlanders Now.

South Carolina came into the fold of the Federated States' Society last evening when a temporary organization was effected at the rooms of the society, No. 953 West Seventh street by the election of Dr. Charles Lewis Allen, formerly of Charleston, S. C., temporary president, and Dr. C. L. Evans, who came to Southern California from Marion, S. C., temporary secretary. Another meeting will be held at the same place Thursday evening, June 26, to make the organization permanent and adopt a constitution. The pilgrims from the old Palmetto State are excellent "reuners" and a strong bond of fellowship and a flourishing society is expected to result.

With the organization of South Carolina, eighty-three State societies are members of the federation, and every commonwealth, but three is represented. Florida, Delaware and New Mexico are still unorganized, but Secretary Parsons states that Florida will come in out of the swamp on Thursday of this week, and that by another month he expects to have corralled the other two.

THE ERA OF HYSTERIA.

The Widespread Charges of Corruption Affect the Members of All Professions and Everybody Is Bad.

[Washington Star:] Mr. Justice Holmes of the Supreme Court tells us that the widespread charges of corruption extend to that tribunal. Of course they do. But there is comfort in the fact. It testifies to the condition upon which the country has fallen. It helps to break the force of the charges brought against other tribunals, and against eminent individuals.

The era is one of hysteria. Not a small portion of our population is raving. It attacks with verbal fury everything and everybody. Whatever is is wrong. Whoever, in office or out, is upholding it is not only wrong, but knowingly and corruptly so.

The lawyer? He is a chartered scoundrel, in action before judges no better than himself. Neither truth nor fair dealing is in him.

The physician? A maneuverer for rich patients, and merciless in his charges. No prosperous member of the profession would turn out of his gold-lined way to heal a pauper.

The minister? A pious hypocrite, with his thoughts not on paradise, but on pelf. He has learned the trick of serving both God and mammon, and gives the Creator the short end of the transaction.

The journalist? Yellow as a pumpkin. Will advocate any cause and spread full details of the most abhorrent matter to increase the circulation of his newspaper.

The merchant? He gives short weight, prefers to sell adulterated stuffs, and amasses a fortune by many kinds of disreputable means. He is willing to make a corner on Easter lilies.

The wage-earner? Willing at any time to turn firebug or murderer to force more pay from his employer. Would halt the industries of the whole country if he could in order to win a local strike.

The indictment covers the whole field of our political, social, business and religious organization. As individuals we are all bad. As a people we are a reproach to what is properly called civilization. Reform must go to the very bottom, and changes everywhere must be radical.

The excess of the charges shows their absurdity. A people so far gone could not redeem themselves. Destruction would be not only their just due, but a necessity. There would be no foundation upon which to rear reform.

The son and namesake of the most buoyant and attractive every-day philosopher of his generation, is, of course, not cast down. He sees a calmer period ahead, and the order and justice that go with it. That is the note; and sounded by such a man, it should carry far.

FRENCH CARRIER PIGEONS.

Their Training Begins When the Birds Are About Three Months Old, With Short Flights.

[Leslie's Weekly:] A military pigeon system is still maintained in France, owing to the success of experiments made during the siege of Paris, when, of 302 carriers liberated from balloons, 73 returned safely. These birds bore messages photographed on collodion inclosed in goose quills, attached by silk threads to the upper part of the tail feathers.

The modern French carrier pigeon is a cross between the biset and the Belgian "traveler." The prevailing type is large, with a long body, head, neck and beak. The female lays two eggs at a time, from which are usually hatched a male and a female. Incubation lasts eighteen days, and both parents share in the process of upbringing. Birds chosen for races are fed on wheat, but when they are to be put to tests of endurance their diet is small dried beans and maize with wather that contains iron. Beechnuts and buckwheat are sometimes given just before a race to impart extra strength for the flight.

Training begins when birds are three or four months old. They are placed in baskets, taken a mile or so from home, and liberated. A few days later the process is repeated at a greater distance, and so on in successive stages, until a bird flies homeward 100 miles or more. At five months it will fly 300 miles in ten hours. A pigeon, however, is not at its best until it is 4 or 5 years old, when it can easily cover 600 or 700 miles. The average speed of a good carrier is twenty miles an hour, and the height at which it flies is from 450 to 500 feet. The price varies from $4 for an ordinary specimen to $250 and more for a prize winner.

FORGET "19," MAKE SLATE.

Dispatchers, Three Hundred Strong, Talk Politics.

Santa Fe Man Will Be Next Association President.

Wage Question "Socialist Issue" and Taboo.

Forgetful, for the nonce, of the pernicious activities of the "nineteen order," 300 members of the Train Dispatchers' Association of America gathered in the assembly hall of Hotel Alexandria last night to discuss "politics," preparatory to the first business session of the twenty-sixth annual convention today.

That J. P. Finan, train dispatcher for the Santa Fe at Needles, will be elected president, succeeding T. W. Kane, who has refused re-election, is a foregone conclusion. It also certain that J. F. Mackie of Chicago, editor of the Train Dispatcher's Bulletin and secretary of the organization for sixteen years, will be re-elected.

This leaves only the vice-presidency to be filled. A. R. Crabb, dispatcher for the Santa Fe at Marceline, Mo.; C. A. O'Conner, dispatcher for the Boston and Albany at Springfield, Mass.; E. W. Weston, chief dispatcher for the Northern Pacific at Livingston, Mont., and J. A. Russell, dispatcher for the Illinois Central at Carbondale, Ill., are among those prominently mentioned for the office.

As the presidency is practically settled for the West, it is thought that the vice-presidency will go to some man from either the Middle West or the East.

OUT FOR EFFICIENCY.

Though there will be plenty of discussion of efficiency changes at the three business sessions today, tomorrow and Thursday, the wage question and other so-called "labor questions" are absolutely tabooed by the rules of the order.

"We are not agitators," said President Kane last night. "We are simply anxious for efficiency in the operation of trains and the safeguarding of the lives of those we handle, consequently socialistic issues do not concern us."

Nearly 300 delegates, the majority accompanied by their wives or other members of their families, arrived yesterday. The largest delegation was from Chicago and adjacent points, 100 in all, who arrived in a special train during the morning.

This party was met by the local Reception Committee headed by Commercial Superintendent McPhee of the Western Union, Assistant General Manager Balch of the Salt Lake, Passenger Agent Jackson of the Union Pacific and Assistant Superintendent Sloan and Train and Station Inspector DeGarmo of the Southern Pacific.

Arrivals today are expected to swell the total to at least 600 persons.

The first business session opens at 10 o'clock this morning in the assembly room of the Alexandria, the meeting headquarters.

THE WELCOMING.

Rev. Baker P. Lee, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, will pronounce the invocation, the Mayor will extend a welcome in behalf of the city, to which President Kane will respond, and Dr. Charles Edward Locke, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, will deliver an address of welcome to California.

While the convention is in session the women visitors will be taken on a shopping tour by the women's committee. A theater party will be given this evening. An automobile tour of the city—of which 150 of the visitors took advantage—and a general get-acquainted assembly at the Alexandria in the evening, comprised the programme yesterday.

Though some changes in the "display signal" system—yellow for first sections of trains and green for second and following sections—may be urged at this meeting, far-reaching changes [illegible]

Dispatchers, Three Hundred Strong, Talk Politics.

Santa Fe Man Will Be Next Association President.

Vays Question "Socialist Issue" and Taboo.

Hopeful, for the nonce, of the peaceful activities of the "nineteen or-der," 300 members of the Train Dispatchers' Association of America gathered in the assembly hall of Hotel Alexandria last night to discuss "politics" preparatory to the first business session of the twenty-sixth annual convention today.

That J. P. Finan, train dispatcher for the Santa Fe at Needles, will be elected president, succeeding T. W. Hunt, who has refused re-election, is a foregone conclusion. It also certain that J. F. Mackie of Chicago, editor of the Train Dispatcher's Bulletin and secretary of the organization for sixteen years, will be re-elected.

There is only the vice-presidency in doubt. A. K. Crabb, dispatcher for the Santa Fe at Marceline, Mo.; J. A. O'Connor, dispatcher for the Erie road at Albany at Springfield, Ill.; E. W. Weston, chief dispatcher for the Northern Pacific at Livingston, Mont., and J. A. Russell, dispatcher for the Illinois Central at Carbondale, Ill., are among those prominently mentioned for the office. As the presidency is practically settled for the West, it is thought that the vice-presidency will go to some one from either the Middle West or the East.

OUT FOR EFFICIENCY.

Though there will be plenty of discussion of efficiency changes at the business sessions today, tomorrow and Thursday, the wage question and other so-called "labor questions" are absolutely tabooed by the rules of the order.

"We are not agitators," said President Finan last night. "We are simply out for efficiency in the operation of trains and the safeguarding of the lives of those we handle, consequently socialistic issues do not concern us."

Nearly 300 delegates, the majority of whom will be accompanied by their wives or other members of their families, arrived in the city yesterday morning. The largest delegation was from Chicago and adjacent points, 100 strong, who arrived in a special train during the morning.

The party was met by the local reception committee headed by Commissioner Superintendent McPhee of the Santa Fe, Assistant General Passenger Agent of the Salt Lake, Pasadena and Los Angeles Jackson of the Union Pacific, Assistant Superintendent Hall of the Coast and Station Inspector Williams of the Southern Pacific.

Delegates today are expected to swell the total to at least 400 persons. The first business session opens at 10 o'clock this morning in the assembly room of the Alexandria, the convention headquarters.

THE WELCOMING.

The Rev. Robert P. Lee, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, will pronounce the invocation, the Mayor will extend a welcome in behalf of the city, to which President Kane will respond. Dr. Charles Edward Locke, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, will deliver an address of welcome in behalf of the Californians.

While the convention is in session visitors will be taken on a sightseeing tour by the women's committee. A theater party will be given each evening. An automobile tour of Pasadena, of which 150 of the visitors have signified their intention to participate—and a general get-acquainted assembly at the Alexandria each evening, comprised the program today.

There are some changes in the "discipline" system, yellow for first offense, red for second and green for second following mentions—may be adopted at this meeting, far-reaching changes, such as that fathered by Secretary Mackie some years ago, which absolutely eliminated the "double order" system, will be brought up.

In fact, aside from the telephonic dispatching system, which is obtaining considerable headway on certain roads, the routine of train dispatching seems to have settled into a groove.

BURN ALL LAW BOOKS.

Litigants Would Get Fairer Treatment by Relying on Fair Play Than by Depending on Legal Precedents.

[Chicago Inter-Ocean:] Two Minnesota district judges have declared themselves disgusted with the present laws of the land. They are Judge William L. Kelly and Judge Frederick N. Dickson, both of the Ramsey County District Court.

Judge Kelly said:

"If all the law books in the country were burned in a single night we would have better laws in ten years than we have at the present time."

Judge Dickson said:

"If attorneys based their arguments more upon an innate sense of natural justice, common sense and fair play, instead of fortifying themselves with decisions of other courts, I believe we would get better results."

Judge Kelly referred to the present day tendency of some attorneys to argue cases by citing authorities and asking judges to rule by precedent. He said there is too little argument in cases today that is based upon real logic. Courts are asked to rule a certain way, he said, because other courts in the past have ruled that way.

Judge Dickson coincided with Judge Kelly.

"I agree with Judge Kelly," he said, "in that the multiplication of law books and legal reports in modern law practice has had this tendency—lawyers rely too much upon precedent and not enough on common sense.

"In the pioneer days lawyers had fewer law books. Consequently they based their arguments upon common sense and fair play as between man and man, instead of fortifying themselves with decisions of other courts. If lawyers could get back to this ground I believe we would be better off.

English Naval Customs.

[Boston Transcript:] The English newspapers discuss at length "the scarcity of naval officers," and its causes, without apparently touching upon what to Americans seems the vital influence, the existence of a pay table which prohibits all but the very well-to-do young men from holding commissions. The Times may be approaching inadequate pay as one of the reasons for the disinclination of young men of modest means seeking appointments, for it reminds its readers that the families which can afford to allowance sons on the quarterdeck constitute but a small percentage of the population of a nation that boasts of its supremacy on the sea. The fact seems to be that a British father whose son has a hankering to become a naval officer must contemplate a long train of expenditures in the way of education and allowances. The British government practically charges parents for teaching their sons the rudiments of the naval profession, and then when the cadet or midshipman takes his commission the pay is so small that the cost of keeping up appearances falls largely on the parental purse. If the end of this system is to prevent the reappearance of a race of Benbows, Collingwoods and Nelsons, it could not be better devised for that purpose.

The Income Tax.

"Four thousand dollars to $5000, 126,000 persons; $5000 to $10,000, 178,000; $10,000 to $15,000 to $20,000, 25,500; $20,000 to $25,000, 10,500; $25,000 to $50,000, 21,000; $50,000 to $100,000, 8500; $100,000 to $250,000, 2500; $250,000 to $500,000, 550; $500,000 to $1,000,000, 250; over $1,000,000, 100.

GOOD ADVICE ON CULTIVATION OF ATTRACTIVENESS.

Distant Manner, Little Speech, Studied Gestures and Lowered Voice Are Among the Requirements Suggested, and Above All, Women Should Be Natural.

[New York Times:] Nada, the artist, who is thought the finest Parisian delineator of the beautiful lines of women, has given his women admirers in La Vie Heureuse some good advice on the cultivation of gracefulness.

Grace, he asserts, is not merely a gift of nature. It is also a complete science, which every woman can and should study, to do herself real justice.

In replying to the critics, who hold that this year's fashionable silhouette and characteristic curved pose of the body are inartistic, Nada says that no woman can fail to be graceful if she follows six rules:

"First—When in company adopt rather a remote air. Don't show too eager interest in what people say. Let it be thought that you are enigmatic. Nothing succeeds so well as this.

"Second—Speak as little as possible unless you say something precise. Above all, speak without gestures, which are the enemy of grace in conversation.

"Third.—When at table, taste rather than eat. Eat with studied gestures, so as to show off the hand and arm.

"Fourth—When receiving at home, or when in a box at the theater, have a few roses with long stalks at hand. Inhale them from time to time. This movement of gathering up flowers close to the face is of never-fading grace.

"Fifth—Study the sound of your voice. So many women lose part of their charm as soon as they open the mouth. A voice of half pitch, low without being grave, may be obtained with very little trouble, and is infinitely seductive.

"Sixth—Let the five foregoing rules be carried out in the most natural way without the smallest effort perceptible; for, if effort be revealed by your way of inhaling the flowers or putting a glass to your lips, better give it up and go back to mother nature."

In order to attain to the maximum of gracefulness, Nada insists that every woman, however gifted naturally, should follow some form of physical culture. Among the systems now in vogue he puts first that of Mrs. Watts, who, he says, revolutionized the aristocratic salons of Rome, and then Paris. Her method still flourishes here, while the inventor is seeking new sources of beauty under the trees of Capri.

In support of his views Nada cites several leading women in French society, such as the Comtesse Goeffulhe, who is one of the most fervent disciples of Mrs. Watts; the Comtesse Etienne de Beaumont and the Marquise Casnati, who have made a profound study of rhythmic gymastics as well as of dancing, and who are regarded as among the most graceful women in Paris, Mme. Guy de Wendel; the Princess Ghika, who every morning takes several turns around the room barefooted with a large Greek jar on her head to obtain that suppleness of back and neck which gives perfect rhythm in walk; Mme. Charles Max, who owes a large part of her charm to her exercises in twisting her wrists, ankles and neck.

A woman who would be thoroughly graceful must, first of all, says Nada, see that her foot is properly poised to carry the weight of her body. He inveighs against high heels, asserting that the ideal footwear should be Greek sandals, now often seen in salons.

As a final hint he gives a general rule that rapidity stands in the way of true grace, which requires that every movement be performed with slow dignity. He also lays stress on the perfect harmony of all movements together.

"It is not permissible to divest one's self of one's cloak with a movement worthy of Cleopatra, or offer the hand with an awkward, ugly gesture to a friend one meets in the street."

Turning in conclusion to the stronger sex, Nada draws attention to the number of prominent Parisians who do not think it effeminate to cultivate ease and grace of carriage, and instances the Duc de Doudeauville, the Prince de Sagan, the Duc de Gramont-Caderousse, the Vicomte de Janze, and the Comte de Montesquiou, who, he says, "have shown us that breeding when put to the service of real distinction of mind may result in the greatest perfection of manly grace."

WHY YOU SHOULD YAWN.

[Pearson's Weekly:] Yawning may be rude—especially in company—but it is a good thing for you to do.

For one thing, it ventilates the lungs. When you take an ordinary breath the lungs are not completely filled, nor are they thoroughly emptied by an ordinary respiration. There is a certain quantity of air left in the lungs always, which physiologists call "residual air."

This air in time becomes foul and affects the blood, and, through the blood, the nervous centers. Certain nerves get tickled as it were, and the result is a yawn, stretching the lungs to their fullest extent, filling them with clean, fresh air and driving the foul air out.

That's one reason why it is good to yawn. For another, yyawning opens and stretches and ventilates all the various passages leading to the lungs. You will perhaps be surprised to know that yawning is even beneficial to your hearing.

The cracking sound which you so often hear when giving an extra big yawn is due to the stretching and opening of the Eustachian tubes. These tubes communicate between the ear and the back of the throat. If they are congested, which happens when you have a bad cold, in the head, people complain of deafness.

If you feel inclined to yawn, then do so. It is Nature's way of cleaning out your lungs and air passages.

QUACKERY ACROSS THE SEA.

Russia Keens the Professional Fakers in Better Control Than Does Any Other Country.

[New York Tribune:] Quackery flourishes the world over. European countries, where on account of strong paternal governments many things are managed well, are not free from this pest. Quacks thrive in England, Germany and other countries of Europe, but benighted Russia seems to keep them in leash better than most other countries. As far back as 1788, laws were provided in Russia protecting the people from all forms of irregular practice, and such laws have continued to hold a restraining hand on quackery down to the present time. By the application of a well known modern political method, however, a "joker" which affords a loophole for a certain amount of irregular practice, has been inserted into some of the laws regulating the practice of medicine. Still, the number of quacks in Russia who do business on a large scale is small.

In Germany during the early part of the nineteenth century laws against quackery were stringent and effective, but, curiously enough, at the instance of the medical society of Berlin in 1869 the regulations against irregular practice were much relaxed and the result was a tremendous development of quackery in Germany. Berthenson says that in 1869 the number of quacks in Berlin was twenty-eight. In twenty-four years the number was over a thousand and the whole number practicing in Prussia was over five thousand. In certain districts the number of irregulars outnumbered the qualified practitioners two to one.

In 1906 it was estimated that the number of quacks in Prussia was ten thousand, and the scope of their practice had become unlimited. The unqualified practitioners are regularly organized and have schools and institutions providing a four months' course for quacks. There are over eight hundred societies for study in "nature healing," with a total membership of 112,000. There are over fifty periodicals, with millions of circulation.

The quacks come largely from the uneducated class, and it is said that over 58 per cent. of the female irregulars have been domestic servants. This condition, says "The Journal of the American Medical Association," has led to efforts to amend the laws in such a way as to limit the practice of these people to the minor ills. This has led to strongly organized opposition, similar to the League for Medical Freedom in our country, and, as in the case of our own Congress, the opposition has found support in the Reichstag. This feeling was shown by the chilly reception which the first reading of the proposed legislation received in that body, the same reason being ascribed as here—namely, that the measure would create a "medical trust."

The forces of graft and unrighteousness are peculiar to no country or clime and they have their champions in the high places and the low. Until the people themselves are better educated concerning the danger and iniquity of quackery they must be protected from the forces that prey. The popular understanding of these matter is becoming better every day, and, aided by proper laws, the time will come, perhaps, when quackery will be unprofitable.

Snake Recognizes Its Teacher.

[Indianapolis News:] "Eat 'em alive," George Ginn called, and a big bull snake that recognized him, crawled into his arms and cuddled its head under Ginn's arm. The magic words lured the throng to the snake show for which Ginn had appeared as barker in a home talent play produced at Bellefontaine, O., last winter. The big bull snake was in a street and passersby were frightened. George Ginn soon rescued his pet and now it is safely caged.

Ginn, a member of the Strollers' Club that gave a play at the opera-house for a benefit, sent to Texas for the snake to be used in a circus scene. The snake came, about eight feet in length, and Ginn practiced night and day with it, and taught it several playful tricks. Suddenly the snake disappeared. A telegram sent to Texas, with another $12 remittance, brought another snake just in time for the show. That snake died shortly afterward and it was presumed the first one that arrived had died somewhere, but nobdy knew where. The original snake had been long forgotten when it appeared in the public thoroughfare.

Birds Save Minnows for Future.

[Indianapolis News:] A naturalist at Cloverdale, Ind., recently learned that kingfishers practice conservation. He was walking near a stream, and was attracted by a chattering noise. Creeping up behind a bunch of willows, he saw two kingfishers busily transferring minnows from a shallow pool to a stream. The birds seemed to have eaten their fill, and, realizing that the minnows must die if left in the pool, where they were stranded, they carefully carried them in their beaks to the running water, possibly for future needs.

Consolidation of Operations
Makes Money for Shareholders

It is the consolidation of operation under one expert management which has made possible the great growth of Gibraltar and the substantial profits realized for the co-operative shareholders. It is the constructive principle of Gibraltar, joined to the economy effected by consolidation, that has created values and caused the assets of this great co-operative Company to steadily increase.

System and efficiency of operation of our great nurseries, seed beds and propagating plants are producing millions of the finest trees at a minimum cost. The same scientific principles have produced from 1897 acres of vacant land a highly improved, fast growing community of orchard homes on Gibraltar Acres, increasing steadily in value, creating profits for our shareholders and independence for those who purchase our orchard tracts.

A Limitless Field

Gibraltar is operating in a field of unlimited possibilities. The day of holding vacant lands is past. Land must be developed and produce to care for the ever-increasing population. No investment is safer than in the land; no investment pays better, consistent with safety, than bringing vacant lands through development into a state of high productivity. No company is so well prepared as Gibraltar to do this. Gibraltar has expert men growing its trees, developing its lands and irrigating systems, planting and caring for its orchard tracts, and experts to teach and advise the purchasers of these tracts in the care of their trees and land.

Under the execution of these scientific principles of modern business Gibraltar preferred shares are increasing in intrinsic worth every day and will advance on June 23rd from 21 to 22 cents

GREAT "FREE-FOR-ALL" SCHOLARSHIP CONTEST.

Want to do this summer, boys and girls?

Ah, here you are! Work, sest, and improvement combined.

A scholarship race is on the start.

The most attractive of scholarship contests will be conducted by The Times this summer, beginning the last week in June and continuing for about seventy days.

Many of these educational competitions have been carried through before, but the plan is well worth repeating. In brief, it affords earnest boys and girls an opportunity to secure a special education in the line they may choose, by securing for subscribers for The Times. It is a business proposition and not one of philanthropy. Both men and women work for it, and the best workers will win.

Prizes will start with a gold and several handsome scholarships in educational institutions to the value of about forty will be offered. There will be business scholarships, music scholarships, college scholarships, scholarships in academies and schools of Manager, care of The Times, Los Angeles, Cal.

special training. Any earnest young worker can win one of these and all the young hustlers will be paid a commission, besides, on all the subscriptions they turn in. Nobody will work for nothing.

The young campaigner receiving most credits for subscriptions will have first choice of scholarships, the second in line next choice, and so on.

This great free-for-all will throw open to the boys and girls of Southern California and Arizona an opportunity to best fit themselves for the great battle of life. Hundreds of young people who gained an education they could not otherwise have acquired, through participation in The Times scholarship contests, are now well established in lucrative occupations or in business for themselves. To lose or win an opportunity of this sort means all the difference between success and failure in life. Energy, willingness to work and a sunny smile are all the capital required.

The Times hopes to see 100 boys and girls enlisted in this competition. All the details, including a list of the scholarships offered, will soon be announced.

Boys or girls desiring to enter the contest should fill out the following Entrance Blank and mail it immediately to the Educational Contest

CALIFORNIA VETERANS GOING TO GETTYSBURG.

Since the court has decided unconstitutional the recent action of the California Legislature in voting $15,000 to meet the expenses of the proposed journey to and from Gettysburg by veterans of the Union army now resident in California, who served in that battle, the sum required for the purpose can only be raised by private subscription. The Times favors this course and will do its part towards raising the necessary fund if other citizens similarly favorable will do likewise. The proper person or persons should lead off in the movement promptly, as the time is short.

JUST A GUESS.

Perhaps it is not the soul that knows gladness and sorrow; it may be that gladness and sorrow are the soul.

A ROTTEN SCRIBE.

Hiram Johnson has now signed over 400 measures. He may not have writer's cramp, but he has certainly put a cramp in the State treasury.

ROMANTIC ATMOSPHERE.

A Holland Baron lost an aeroplane contest at Long Island, but won a bride by the race. A man who goes up in airships is naturally a little flighty.

A JOB IN DISGRACE.

It is said that John Masefield has a chance to become poet laureate of England. Maybe he doesn't want it after the reputation the position has had for the past few years.

RAPID CONVERSATION.

Somebody has made a wireless telegraph machine which talks six hundred words to the minute. We forget the name of the lady who held the record prior to this invention.

A CONUNDRUM.

Railroad men are trying to capture two Indiana bullfrogs which are successfully imitating different engine whistles. It would seem that a bullfrog is not a bullfrog when it is a parrot.

EXPOSED.

The men who have been holding good jobs on the Panama Canal project are doing all they can to delay the opening of the big waterway in order to make their snaps last a little longer. If they are not careful the Presidential sleuth will nose out another lobby.

A GOOD PURCHASE.

A local capitalist has bought a fifty-two-acre tract on San Rafael Heights and will sell it to those who want to build fine residences there. This is one of the beautiful hill properties of Los Angeles and only needs a little energy and capital to make it one of the loveliest and most popular residence sections in the world.

VOLCANIC WEATHER.

Somebody claims that the cool June we are having is due to the volcanic outburst in Alaska many months ago. The dust is supposed to have floated a film between the earth and the sun. This seems rather far-fetched, but, if it is true, then the summer resorts should have all the volcanoes suppressed by the Interstate Commerce Commission on account of their restraint of trade.

REAPING THE HARVEST.

A Spanish historian says he can prove by eighteen documents that Columbus was a Jew. Many Hebrew scholars for a long time have maintained that the expedition of Columbus was financed by two Jewish money-lenders and not by the jewels of Queen Isabella. If all this is true, it is quite appropriate that the Stars and Stripes should really be the flag of the Jew.

A BAD BARGAIN.

A young man had a sweetheart. His father thought a military education would be better for the boy than a wife. He offered him $10,000 in cash to go to Annapolis, but the young man spurned the wealth and went to the bridal altar instead. Some people will argue from this that instead of a fool and his money being soon parted they almost never even meet, but the truth is that $10,000 without the right girl is not worth a cent. This poor lad can't help it if he has an illogical father. The old man ought to understand that it is only when he has a wife that his son really needs the money.

PASTURING PEARLS.

Modern processes in which both high temperature and powerful pressure are invoked, with the aid of electricity, have made possible the production of rubies, emeralds and sapphires that cannot, except by expert examination, be distinguished from genuine stones. Artificial diamonds have also been made, but of such small size that they have little commercial value. Pearls are made that cannot be called imitation, for they are made by the same process that nature invokes in producing genuine pearls. A grain of sand is dropped into the shell of a captured oyster and the bivalve is returned to the water. The oyster, in order to rid itself of the irritation caused by the intruder, covers it with an exudation which grows into a pearl. A pearl will in time lose its luster and decay unless it is fed, and the only way to feed it is to allow it to rest on the plump neck of a young woman. Jewelers desiring pastures for their pearls are requested to keep away from the Times Building.

A FAULTY SYLLOGISM.

It has hitherto been supposed that a study of logic was included in the curriculum of Princeton University, but the recent intellectual antics of its former President would tend to disprove the supposition. He proposes to decrease the cost of living by encouraging the production of food in the United States. He proposes, at the same time, to discourage American farmers from raising more food by admitting flour, and meal, and meat, and vegetables from Canada and Mexico free of duty. Between the major proposition and the conclusion of his syllogism there is a chasm that engulfs the Princeton professor's logic, and into it he falls with a dull sickening thud.

With frozen beef and mutton from Australia coming in free of duty, and vegetables and flour and meal raised in Canada by Hindu and Japanese labor, on the free list, there will be no inducement to the American farmers to increase production. A good many of them will do what a good many have already done—transfer their activities, their capital and their citizenship to the Dominion of Canada.

The only way by which the workers of this country can be secured against impending disaster is by the defeat of the Wilson-Underwood tariff. There are over three hundred millions of Hindus who are British subjects and entitled to enter and reside in Canada without restriction. There are over four hundred millions of Chinese who are free to enter and reside in Canada by paying a head tax, which their companies are ready to advance, and there are fifty-five millions of Japanese who, under the Anglo-Japanese treaty made last month, are free to enter and reside in Canada at their pleasure.

With the Wilson-Underwood tariff in operation the owners of 4820 factories in the New England, Middle and Middle Western States engaged in the manufacture of textile fabrics—which companies employ 833,740 wage workers and produce $1,592,482,000 worth of goods—will have every inducement to remove their establishments to Canada, where they can obtain Asiatic labor at less than half the wages paid American operatives.

The tariff wall is all that preserves the American market to the American worker, whether he work in factory, furnace or field. Free trade would, it is true, give him, for a few articles, foreign markets from which he is now excluded. But it would give them to him because of cheaper production here, and cheaper production here would come only from lowered wages here. Our home market consumes all but a tithe of our manufactured products. What shall it profit a man if he gain the markets of the whole world and lose those of his own country?

The Wilson-Underwood tariff—especially the free-list part of it—is a folly, a wicked, stupendous folly. If it shall slightly decrease the cost of living it will immensely decrease the opportunities of making a living. It will cause the dismantling of thousands of factories, furnaces and forges. It will put a million workers out of employment. It will place railroads in the hands of receivers and bankrupt thousands of merchants.

And all for what?—to gratify the vanity of an egotistical schoolmaster who sets up his ideas of political economy and industrial legislation against those of men whose experience in business and practical life outweigh his visionary academic theories as a ten-pound weight outweighs a bunch of feathers.

Are there not four Democrats in the Senate who will vote to defeat the Wilson-Underwood tariff? Who will defy caucus dictation and pie-counter bribes and save the industries of their country from ruin?

MR. BUSINESS-MAN FARMER.

Every mode of life has its special pleasures for the man who lives it sincerely and accepts it philosophically. Very often, however, we see more readily the extraneous advantages in the other fellow's occupation than the hidden blessings in our own. This accounts for the restlessness and love of change, becoming so common a characteristic of modern life. We are not exactly discontented, but we experience a vague hope for something different.

As in everything else, some good and some bad comes from this common desire for change. Perhaps a complete change of scene and occupation once in a lifetime is the salvation of many individuals. If the restlessness is morbid it cures it; if it springs from ambition it justifies it. Old lamps for new isn't always a bad swap.

Nowhere is this desire for change so general as with the average city man who has gained a competence by combining hard work with shrewd judgment. Not less work, but work of another kind, is the form this spirit of restlessness assumes. Coupled with it is an ever-growing irritation to get away from the confinement of an office and to enjoy the larger freedom of life in the country.

Lately numbers of successful city men have been turning their attention to the most important and least developed, the oldest and the most eternal business on earth—that of farming. In consequence agriculture is being raised to a higher degree of system and science. We do not refer to the millionaires who buy huge estates on a "damn-the-expense" principle and run them as glorified farms. Educationally these help. But we refer to men who have made a success of small businesses and who have taken up land as a practical means for earning a sufficient livelihood.

These are showing that, contrary to the accepted opinion, the same ability that made good at the desk brings results when applied to the farm. A man does not have to be born on the soil to live by the soil. He can leave the skyscraper and become a land-scraper. Farming belongs to the brain, not to mere muscle. Indeed, an expert observer, Mr. Forrest Crissey, declares that the best farming is done today by "the transplanted business man."

Doesn't this stand to reason? The city business man has had to know—generally to learn by hard knocks—not only how to produce his goods at a minimum price to meet his competitors; he has had also to constantly be hunting up new business, propitiating customers and spending large sums on advertising. The farmer is spared the latter part of the programme. He doesn't have to chase after the world, the world has to come to him. Once he has the goods, buyers fight for them. Very little advertising and no drumming up trade is necessary.

Given the ability to meet successfully the fluctuating markets in a city business and to forestall every whim and fancy of a fanciful and whimsical public, a city man has no difficulty in mastering the comparatively simple business rules of system and method on which successful farming depends. The demand for corn and pork and beef cannot be lessened by fashion or fancy, by Balkan wars or political parties. Hunger is an insistent customer, he stands behind the farmer.

Too much conservatism has been a bug in the bonnet of the old-fashioned farmer, born and brought up to the ancient traditions of the soil. The success accompanying every innovation in farming methods introduced by city business men trained to be always up-to-date is educating every farmer in the country in efficiency and economy and in the elimination of waste. Blue books and free seeds and government pamphlets are secondary in comparison. The trained business man, in accepting the call of the land, benefits himself in a hundred ways, independent of the prime object, to make money. He also inspires new life in the farming community wherein he settles. Land hunger is the best antidote for bread-and-meat hunger.

The desire of the city business man to be released from the routine of office for the wider operations of the farm can bring nothing but good to the whole country. It should be fostered and catered to. Hundreds have already made the choice, thousands would do so were they assured that plain business ability can produce paying pork as readily as it can sell pins and pianos and city lots.

The Times believes in the need for more farms and more scientific and systematic farming. California at present leads the country in this opportunity. The day of the "hayseed" is numbered; the era of Mr. Business-Man Farmer has already arrived.

A PEACE PACT.

The French press is filled with comments on a recent letter from Leon Bourgeois to M. Ricket, president of the International Peace Congress, now in session in Paris. Leon Bourgeois represented France at the first peace conference at The Hague. He is recognized as an ultra-pacificist and as one of the ablest statesmen and most profound thinkers in Europe. He is still a partisan of the cause of arbitration and peace, but he concedes that disarmament should be the result of and not the inducement or cause of peace. He claims that this position is not inconsistent with his record, for, when he was a member of the French Senate in 1907, he said in order to make disarmament a practical possibility it would be necessary as a preceding condition that everybody should feel that his rights were secure. The security of rights, therefore, must first be established, and on this basis, and this only, could nations disarm.

Those who favor a world peace have to deal with a condition as well as a theory, and it must not be forgotten that neither in 1907, when the world peace conference was first held, nor now, does compulsory arbitration command the unanimous support of the powers of Europe.

M. Bourgeois in his letter said that the law is for the protection of the weak, and it would injure the cause of peace if those who were urging the reign of law were to be weakened. He claimed that France had proved itself in history to be the champion of liberty and the guardian of right, and that no Frenchman would desire to weaken his own country.

The triple alliance between Germany, Austria-Hungary and France was formed for the purpose of checking encroachments by Russia and France. By its provisions the three powers are bound to support one another in certain contingencies. The exact provisions of the alliance have never been divulged

The triple entente between Great Britain, France and Russia looks to the preservation of the balance of power, the strengthening of the treaty law in the interests of peace, and the status quo, and disarmament.

Before there can be disarmament in Europe there must be, as M. Bourgeois says, a condition of secure rights.

The United States has really no occasion to enter into any alliance for any purpose with any European power. Our eastern frontier is guarded by the Atlantic Ocean, our western frontier by the Pacific Ocean We have only weak Mexico on the south and friendly Canada on the north.

In Europe, while Great Britain is, to a certain extent, protected by sea, all the continental countries are separated from each other by artificial lines or by rivers or mountain ranges easy to cross. A peace pact between Germany, France, Austria-Hungary, Italy and Spain is more desirable, if not more necessary, than one between the United States and any European nation.

Developments in the science of aerostation may in a short time force disarmament of land forces. When an aeroplane with half a dozen men, loaded with tons of dynamite, and running a hundred miles an hour, can leave London, or Paris, or Berlin at dark, reach any city in Europe by midnight, destroy it in half an hour, and return to its starting place by daylight, there would come an end of war, for war would mean mutual extermination.

AMERICANS IN MEXICO.

Sixty-eight American families comprising three hundred persons, residing in Southern Tamaulipas, have applied through the United States Consul at Tampico to President Wilson for protection. They say, "We do not desire to take measures for our own safety which would embarrass our government without giving due notice beforehand." The message, which was transmitted by wire, says in part:

"Having been left without any protection whatever on the part of both sides in the pending controversy, therefore we can look for protection only from our own country. We must know once for all if we can expect same. Having been subjected to slights and a great variety of indignities and gross abuse during the last few days the situation calls for most serious preparations for our own personal safety and the defense of our families and our interests. Therefore, we have assembled for the purpose of considering the best way. We consider protection necessary now."

The message further says the petitioners have borne financial losses silently, but that many of them cannot obey the advice to get away if in danger, as their departure would mean the abandoning of the accumulations of years.

The petition says: "We consider ourselves and our families in danger, and the situation has justified this petition several times in the last few days. It is no longer doubtful that the slighest spark will bring on the dread conflagration at any moment. In many instances the small arms sold American citizens on the part of the American government for their protection have been demanded, and in some instances they have been taken."

The situation is complicated. If the United States sends troops there to protect its people that would be an invasion that might result in war. If it does not thus protect them they are likely to be massacred if they stay, and if they go they will forfeit all their property that is not portable, and they can then pass the balance of one-half of their lives waiting for Uncle Sam to collect indemnity for them from the Mexican government. Then they can pass the other half trying to collect from Uncle Sam the indemnity money which he will collect from Mexico. Witness the history of the French spoliation claims, the Alabama claims and the claims against Russia for seizing our sealers.

A Year Ago and Today.

HOME AT LAST.

In Memory of W. C. Patterson.

BY GEORGE W. BURTON.

It is entirely fitting that the ashes of our departed friend and fellow-citizen, W. C. Patterson, should have been brought back to rest forever under the skies of California, where the beams that gild the dawn shall lighten the spot where he sleeps; that the evening breeze from sunset seas should murmur a perpetual lullaby over his relics; that the thrush and the lark should sing a perpetual requiem over his eternal resting place, and that the flowers of our own Southland may deck it.

It is fitting this should be so for the reason that he loved California with an undivided love, and served this community in various ways and always well for long years. His voice, his pen, his time, his mind, his talents and his wealth were always at the disposal of his fellow-citizens for any and every good purpose. His life was a useful one to us all, and he was ever ready to help forward any important interest of this city, of this section, of this State.

In other communities, before he came here, W. C. Patterson had created a name and reputation for good citizenship and for ardent patriotism. A mere youth when the Civil War broke out, he was for the Union, for the Constitution and for human liberty for all men, for poor men, for black men, for red men and for brown men.

But it is with the life of this man as it was spent here that we are particularly concerned. It is by this part of his life that we can best measure his usefulness and the quality of his citizenship. He came here when his wealth was not great, and when things in Los Angeles were moving but slowly. His first efforts in business were not in a notably exalted way, but he at once made himself felt as a man of sterling integrity, of public spirit and patriotism, in a word as one who might be relied upon in all the events of life to do what was right first, and what was likely to be best, not so much for his own interest as for those of the community. The impression he made on those with whom he came in contact in business begat great confidence and brought him business rapidly. His path led upward at all times; and with increasing business came larger calls upon his time and talents in the handling of his own affairs. But W. C. Patterson never permitted his mind to become so absorbed in his personal concerns as to prompt him to say he had no time to devote to the commonweal or to public affairs outside of the immediate sphere of what might be called his actual duty. It is not too much to say that no reasonable call was ever made upon his time, strength, talents or wealth that found him deaf to the appeal.

Our departed friend was at all times a religious man; but he was a churchman without bigotry, a Christian without prejudice, and his heart was always tender in its charity, not merely for those who differed from him in opinion, but for those whose lives were absolutely wrong.

A member of the Chamber of Commerce from its foundation and of every organization formed here for the furtherance of all public interests, Mr. Patterson's wise counsels always found attention and in every such movement he was always in the foremost ranks, striving for the public good. As a wealthy banker he helped in a liberal manner and with great kindness many of his poorer fellow-citizens struggling upward by honest endeavor to reach a higher plane of life.

When he suddenly passed away in Naples a few weeks ago we presented to the readers of The Times a full record of our friend's life career. The purpose of this writing is to put on record our appreciation of the man as we found him in all the various walks of life.

Mr. Patterson was a young man when he came here, and his life closed prematurely. The twenty odd years of his life spent among us were so fruitful of good deeds that he has left a lasting impress upon this community; and his character, talents and acts have become an imperishable part of the history of this city and of its life. As his ashes are to rest among us through all the future, so his is ours in its beneficent influence and will be an inspiring example to this generation and those to come.

THAT Gus Edwards can sing and act as well as write popular songs he proves to our entire satisfaction at the Orpheum this week. That the author of "School Days" and "Silvery Moon" can also train and manage a company of saucy girls and robust boys is likewise made amply manifest.

His offering, "The Fountain of Youth in Six Spouts," is a big and ambitious thing scenically, sartorially and pulchritudinously. The girls are pretty and shapely, and, what is of more importance, they sing their choruses with due regard to rhythm and simultaneous attack. In the same way are the young men well trained. Edwards's musical comedy skit is a song review of 1913, and its produces calls to our remembrance many of the lubits of tune that have tickled our ears and captured our fancy during the past few months. Too, he brings to mind not a few of his own successes—and it's astonishing how good they are, and how good. Edwards is a host in himself—a resourceful, energetic, ubiquitous person who leads the vanguard in every one of the "six spouts," which are supposed to occur on a sidewalk in New York, in a plaza in Florence, in Lisa Armstrong's residence, near Central Park Lake, and so on. The last scene, under moonlight, is especially attractive.

The assistance, as intimated, is attractive and effective, the most striking part of it being an arch little kid of 5 or 6 known as Cuddles, who is a born actress. A small girl did some good work in imitations. Her programme does not reveal his name very definitely.

Keehan's trained dogs, of many breeds and sizes, do the usual stunts with well-cultivated canines, with a few clever ones of their own, such as jumping rope and extremely high diving.

A sharpshooter of wonderful precision is Gen. Pisano, as true of eye and aim as William Tell and much more varied in his accomplishments. He can hold his rifle in any position, toss like, the bullet always finding the little target.

William H. Lytell and Shirley de Vere, assisted by Henry Wyatt, present a comedy sketch from the pen of Lytell, "An All-Night Session." The amusing situation is developed, turning on the long-exploded delusion that women are gullible creatures. The idea is untrue, but it serves to make fifteen minutes pass quickly and harmlessly enough.

Cliff remains for another week, with a number of new sparkling songs and dances; Lester, with his talkative dummy; Jessie Busley, with Rupert Hu

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.

JOHNNY DUNDEE and Jack White are ready for their twenty-round go tonight. Dundee was never in better shape, according to his manager, Scotty Montieth. Dundee's training spell for Ad Wolgast put him right. He had been boxing at the featherweight limit up to that time and at 133 pounds he can enter the ring at catchweights, which means that he would have been at his best. His match with Jack White is at catchweights, so there is no reason why both boys should not enter the ring at their best.

Dundee has been made a strong favorite for the first time since he has been in the game, and many think he has a cinch with White.

Johnny had boxed here twice, once with Frankie Conley whom he stopped inside of the twenty-round limit, and then got a twenty-round draw from Johnny Kilbane.

In Dundee's fights with Conley he met a boy much like himself in style of fighting. Frankie never knew what it was to back up from an opponent.

Johnny boxes the same way. But Johnny stopped Frankie and so did Jack White, and Jack did so in shorter time than Dundee did.

Dundee might have defeated Johnny Kilbane if he had started in to rush the champion from the start, as he did in the last five rounds, but he did not do so and the best he got was a draw, but this was almost equal to a victory.

White easily trimmed Conley, an aggressive boxer, and also beat Harry Thomas, who is a defensive fighter. This gives us a fair line on Jack White, who never was known as an aggressive boxer. If he can beat two boys of this class, why has he not a good chance to beat Dundee, who is an aggressive boxer?

MUST PROVE K. O.

Dundee has not proven in any of his matches that he is a knocker-out. While he has a long string of knock-outs to his credit, he has not proven this so far on the Coast.

Jack White can knock out any boy he can hit, with either hand, and he is a defensive fighter. Jack likes them to come to him, but he says he will carry the fight to Dundee from the start. If he does this, we should see one of the fastest and best fights that has taken place at Vernon in many a day.

Fighters often say that they will do this and that, but when they enter the ring, they usually fight as they have always done. Remember what our great featherweight champion, Johnny Kilbane, said before he met Dundee? He was going to clean Dundee in a few rounds, but when he entered the ring he beat it from pillar to post.

But this fight looks like a very different one. Dundee can hardly keep away if he wanted to do so; he is an aggressive boy and cannot fight any other way. This style is all to White's liking, as Jack is a good hitter, and likes them to come to him. He also realizes that if he does not win this bout, he will be classed as a back number and he does not want that.

Dundee has been a favorite in the betting, but this never wins boxing contests. I believe there will be plenty of action in tonight's contest and while it is not a championship affair, the fans will get a run for the price they pay for a seat. I saw Dundee in his training with Dalton and Charlie had no trouble in landing his left-hand swing. This is one of White's favorite punches. If Dalton can do that, why cannot Jack do the same?

From the reports we get from San Francisco, Joe Rivers is up to his old tricks again of trying to rag with all the "Flussies" in that town and get into fighting condition at the same time.

Joe is much like Young Corbett, when he was at his best. Corbett did not like the training for a fight and would do most anything to get away from it. All the time thinking he was a wise "guy," believing he was doing something smart and fooling someone. But the only one he fooled was himself, and he paid dearly for it afterward.

Joe Rivers has been given a better chance to make good than any fighter ever turned out in Los Angeles. On two different occasions he failed to train as he should. This is the opportunity of his life, and I sincerely believe he can beat Willie Ritchie if he is in perfect condition for a twenty-round contest. But if he is not onto his job from now on, he will not have a look in.

Ad Wolgast hit Ritchie very often the last time they met. Rivers had no trouble in hitting Ad last Fourth of July. Why should not Joe hit Willie as often or oftener than he did Wolgast? He should lick any man he can hit.

But take it from me, Joe, you will have to get busy from this time on. Rivers has a lot of admirers here in Los Angeles, where he made a reputation for himself and a lot of money. If he does not attend to his training this time, he does not deserve a hand-shake when he comes home.

Abdul the Turk is training Joe and that is a pretty good recommendation that Joe will enter the ring in good condition. Abdul said several months ago, that if Rivers did not train as he should he would leave his camp, if it was the day before the contest, and I believe he will keep his word.

Joe Levy will leave for Frisco Wednesday and live with Rivers until after the fight.

Greetings.

BANTAMS MEET ON THE SAND.

LE DOUX INTRODUCED TO MAN HE FIGHTS NEXT.

French Champion Shakes Hand of Eddie Campi, Who Runs Into Auto Party on the Beach at Venice. Foreigner Tells Next Opponent He Is Due to Fail.

BY AL G. WADDELL.

Charley Le Doux, the French bantamweight champion, met Eddie Campi yesterday afternoon. The two boys who are to fight at Vernon arena one week from tonight did not meet in a ring, but on the sands at Venice.

The little French boxer was enjoying a day of recreation and riding about the country in one of Frank Howard's Buick automobiles. At Venice the party got out of the machine and went down on the beach. As Le Doux was looking out over the breakers, a little fellow in a red sweater and a noisy cap strolled into the scene. It was Eddie Campi.

"Hello, bunch," greeted the new arrival, as he spied Earl Mohen, Walter Monahan, Jack Kelly and Nick Lewis, who were gathered around Le Doux and his manager, Frank Galvin. "What's this your pulling off, a bums' convention?"

Earl Mohen did the honors.

"This is Charley Le Doux, the boy you are to fight." Then turning to Le Doux, "this is Eddie Campi."

Campi never blinked an eye. Le Doux lifted his hat and smiled at the name of Campi.

"Meister Campee, oh, la la," said the Frenchman in near English. Then he bowed and question, "Frenchman you, too?"

"No. That lets me out," answered Campi. "I'm Irish-French; but I can't talk your brand a' chitter."

"How you do, Meister Campee?"

"Put her there," requested Campi, and the two bantams who are to fight a week from tonight shook hands.

"Desirez-vous?"

"Sure," said Campi, "I am strong for the little affair with you. I'll just have to beat you up some and send you back to France in handages."

That line was too heavy for the Frenchman and his manager was sworn in as an interpreter.

"He says he is sorry and must apologize, but he will have to hit you on the nose when he meets you again," relayed Galvin.

"A Frenchman, you? Oh, la-la."

Mandot asked him in plain English if he would beat Campee.

"Meister Campee, he nice, but for me es nothing. I must win for Mme. Le Doux in Paree. Oh, la, la-la."

"THE action of the San Jose Supervisors will not stop the road race," said L. T. Shettler, chairman of the Road Race Committee.

"Mr. Greer is on the ground and I have every confidence in his ability to straighten things out. Even should the San Jose people refuse to make any concessions, however, the race will be run just the same.

"There are two plans by which the race could be pulled off without breaking the speed laws of that county. We could establish a checking station at the county line and check the cars out again on the other side of the county; or we could go around Santa Clara county altogether and finish the race in either Oakland, Stockton or Sacramento.

Stop! Huh?

ROAD RACE NOT PERMITTED TO GO THROUGH SAN JOSE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Unexpected obstacles have been thrown in the way of running the great Panama-Pacific automobile race from Los Angeles to San Francisco.

Today the Supervisors of Santa Clara county held a meeting and decided not to permit the racers to exceed the ordinary speed limit through San Jose.

The Supervisors of San Mateo also met and considered the application of the committee to set aside the speed limit for that day. No definite action was taken, but Walter Hempel, who presented the matter, was given encouragement. The Supervisors seem favorably inclined toward the proposition. Final action in a day or two is expected.

CRACK POLO TEAM GOES TO RIVERSIDE.

That Riverside will assume something of its oldtime prestige as a polo center seems assured with the announcement made today by L. C. Phipps, Jr., of the Denver Country Club, and prominently connected with the Southern Sierras Power Company.

Mr. Phipps states that the well-known Colorado team will make its headquarters in Riverside during its stay in Southern California during the season of 1914.

Among the well-known players of the Denver team are J. Foster Symes and W. B. Hunton. The team will bring a string of at least twenty ponies.

CUBS TAKE MEASURE OF LEAGUE LEADERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 16.—Chicago defeated Philadelphia today in the first appearance of the league leaders here this season. The score was 13 to 3. Incidentally, the visitors found was cut down a full game, inasmuch as New York won from Cincinnati.

Cheney pitched invincible ball in the pinches for Chicago, while the locals found Alexander easy at critical times. He retired after five innings. Three other pitchers were thrown into the breach, but they were unable to stop the scoring.

PLUNGERS RULED OUT OF BALL PARK.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 16.—A large number of men whom the management alleges have been laying odds on the baseball games at the Polo Grounds were denied admission to the baseball park for the New York-Detroit American League game today. It is estimated that 150 of them were not permitted to pass the turnstiles and that fifty others who had evaded the watchfulness of detectives at the gates were ordered from the grandstand.

It is said that recently the baseball authorities have had detectives circulating in the stands to watch for betters and that today's debarments and evictions were due to their work.

President Ban Johnson of the American League, whose hostile views against betting in baseball parks are well known, was a visitor at the Polo grounds today.

WATSON CINCH, SAYS WOLGAST.

Uncle Tom McCarey has received a communication from the Dutchman asking his advice regarding a match with his bad hand bandaged.

According to McCarey, Wolgast says Watson looks like the easy kid and the local promoter advised him to meet the Red personage, if a clause is inserted in the articles which provides that Wolgast shall be allowed to tape or bandage his injured hand in a way that will protect it from further wreckage.

NEW ZEALAND RUGBY STARS TO PLAY HERE.

BY OWEN R. BIRD.

C. M. TORREY, president of the Associated Students of the University of California, had an interesting conference with Warren Bovard, graduate manager of the University of Southern California, at the Los Angeles Athletic Club yesterday. The most important item dropped during the course of the discussion of athletic relations on the Coast was the fact that the All-Star New Zealand Rugby football team would be in California for a series of games with Stanford, California and U.S.C. next season, at the same time that the Waratahs made the trip last year.

Mr. Torrey said that the Rugby Union situation had been satisfactorily arranged and that the big three probably would experience no difficulty whatever in playing out a full schedule. The only hitch, at the present time, lies between Stanford and the University of Southern California in regard to the Los Angeles date. Manager Burbank of Stanford is at present making out the schedule for the Cardinals and is finding a little trouble to place the local date, but this matter will undoubtedly be arranged within the next two or three weeks.

The news that the New Zealanders are really coming for a series of games here should interest all the followers of the English sport in the south. This team probably will play an entirely different type of Rugby than was displayed by the famous Waratahs.

The New Zealanders, or the All Blacks, play with the seven-man scrum and are noted for the way in which the packmen get into the play with the backs once the ball is heeled out of the scrum. From all available reports at hand, we are led to believe that these men will play even a more spectacular and open game than was put up by the Waratahs. It is hard to conceive this, and, if it is true, our teams on the Coast will have to get up early and get on an almighty hump to be in the running at all.

The coming Rugby season, as far as the south is concerned, is to be the crucial test. The American game held its own last season without any trouble at all, the colleges of the south bringing in the big middle western teams and playing them even. In fact, that old sport made a few advances last year. Now Rugby must make its final burst of speed and if there is any more bickering and unnecessary quibbling it may be doomed here.

RICKERT RESIGNS.

Lloyd Rickert, secretary of the St. Louis American League Baseball Club, formally resigned yesterday and he will be succeeded by Hiram Mason, nephew of President Hedges. It is not known whether or not Mr. Rickert received a bonus for his resignation, but it is generally understood that he will receive four months' salary.

HOFFMAN AND FERRY RELEASED.

[By Wireless Line to The Times.]

PITTSBURGH, June 16.—[Special Dispatch.] Artie Hoffman, outfielder of the Pirates and former star of the Chicago Cubs, and Pitcher Jack Ferry have been released by Manager Clarke. Hoffman was slated to go to Kansas City last night, but refused to go and asked to be sent to the Pacific Coast League. Ferry is to go to the Columbus team of the American Association and will leave tonight.

"Let me go to the Coast so that I can spend my winters there," Hoffman requested. "I want to be close to Jeff Overall, Frank Chance and the rest of my old friends."

LINDSAY IN FIRST PLACE.

Portland Player Still Leads Coast League Hitters.

Maggert Steady for Angels While Ellis Slumps.

Carlisle Jumps Thirty Points on Venice Team.

The batting averages for the Coast League players up to date, for those who can be considered semi-regulars, shows but few changes on the whole, which would indicate that the pitchers and batsmen are doing about the same as they did last week.

Lindsay of Portland stills leads the hitters, with a fine average of .390, compared with .351 for the previous week. As a team, Portland is falling off in hitting, for where it had eleven men two weeks ago hitting above .250, it now has but eight. Sacramento is better with eight to six; Los Angeles is even with ten and ten, and Venice is also even with eight and eight. Oakland has seven, where she had eight the previous week.

Bayless and Hoop are holding their own in the Venice team, and Carlisle has jumped from .209 to .236. Ellis of Los Angeles fell off thirty points and Maggert and Howard dropped about four each. In Oakland, Coy held his own at .280, but Cook and Zacher both dropped off.

Mr. Wad Overlooked the Fact That There Are Two Home Teams! —By Gale.

L.A. GOLF TEAM LEADS FOR MORRIS TROPHY.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

With the time of going to press down. One better than the winner last year. Her team was composed of Robert Hunter, who finished 1 down with a medal score of 74; of A. A. French, who finished 3 down with a medal round of 77; of W. H. Cornett with 4 down and a medal round of 79; of J. V. Elliot, with 5 down and 77 medal score; of E. R. Williams, with 5 down and 79 medal score; of R. N. Wright, with 5 down and 78 medal score; of A. W. Brand, with 7 down, and Paul F. Deisz, with 9 down.

The Next Best Scores.

So far as the returns could be ascertained, the next best scores in order of merit were made by the Glen Echo Club of St. Louis, with 44 down; the Memphis Country Club, with 47, the Calumet Club, with 55; the Rock Island Arsenal, with 58, the Midlothian, with 57, and the Skokie, with 60.

News from Riverside direct to The Times gave them 65, and the northern clubs either failed to compete or dropped out, making no show at all.

The San Gabriel Country Club finished 73 down, the best score being made by Conde Jones, with 5 down. H. N. H. Woodcock, Robert L. Tatum, A. C. Scales, W. W. Bacon, Charles Alkire, George Cline and Frank Wade were the other members of the team.

If it should be gloriously true that Los Angeles is again victorious, we shall really have to make rather a fuss of them. This is the most coveted and important golf team trophy in the country and entitles the holders to no end of rank and swank. One hundred and thirty-seven teams took part.

Boyd Comstock,

Something New.

COMSTOCK'S U.S.C. TRACK SQUAD TO TAKE BIG TRIP.

With the election yesterday of Boyd Comstock as head coach at the University of Southern California for the coming year, a new era in the athletic life of that institution has commenced. With Dean Cromwell, Comstock was able to turn out the greatest track team that ever represented a Southern California college this year, and with lots of new material and the added experience of the veterans, Comstock should have even better success next year. He has the confidence of the men on the squad, and, best of all, is full of new and winning ideas.

Comstock first burst into fame two years ago, when he took a bunch of farm hands and taught them how to handle themselves and then won in succession the championships of Southern California, California, Pacific Coast, and finally the national interscholastic title at Chicago for Citrus Union High School.

This last year Comstock and Cromwell shared the coaching at U.S.C., and it is not necessary to mention the wonderful success of the Cardinal and Gold track squad, which defeated both Stanford and California on Bovard field.

Next year Comstock will have practically his entire team of veterans and in addition to these, is banking on a fine bunch of track material in the freshman class. There is a chance, it is whispered, that Howard Drew, the wonderful negro sprinter, will be seen in a U.S.C. track suit next year.

At all events, Comstock is going ahead with great plans for the next season. There will, of course, be the usual dual meets with Occidental, Pomona, California, Stanford and the California freshmen. These meets will be held a little later in the season than usual, so that the entire track season will not stretch out too long.

With the last of the dual meets, instead of calling that the end of the season, as used to be the case, the campaign will be only starting. Comstock is planning to take in the three great conference meets of the country, and is not at all bashful about saying that he has high hopes of winning the national championship.

The beginning of the barnstorming trip will be the conference meet at California, which carries with it the title of Coast championship.

"After winning this," says Comstock, "I expect to take a good-sized squad of point-winners, ten men at the very least, and go across the country to the big eastern intercollegiate meet, providing we are allowed to enter our team."

Comstock thinks that he has a very good chance to land the national title in this meet. After competing in the big eastern intercollegiate, the team will return and compete in the Middle Western conference meet, to which they already have an invitation.

This will be the first real chance that Southern California athletes have had of taking part in open competition, with the best teams in the country, and opens a new field, in which local athletes may distinguish themselves.

MARY WINS CHAMPIONSHIP.

[L. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—Miss Mary Browne of Los Angeles and W. T. Tilden, Jr., won the mixed doubles championship of the United States in the concluding match of the women's national lawn tennis tournament at the Philadelphia Cricket Club today, defeating Miss Dorothy Green and C. S. Rogers, 7-5, 7-5.

RIFLE CLUB'S LOW SCORE IN SHOOT.

The team of the Los Angeles Rifle and Revolver Club is getting no better in the matches of the Short Range Rifle League, scoring but 2203, the lowest yet shot, in the fifth match Sunday. Thus far the club has run 2305, 2295, 2242 and 2335 for the first four matches.

Sunday the team tapered off thirty-four points from first to last man in the five, while a week ago there was but a dozen points between first and last man. The low men did the damage Sunday.

A Berkeley boy, H. T. Carlton, tried the stunt for the first time, having trouble with his sight adjustments, but making the team in spite of that. President Hubbs, usually a fine shot, had a streak of bad luck and the team lost his help for the one match.

Tom Jordan appeared with a new rifle and scored but one point below Hubbs. It is thought that with a good gun he can make the team without trouble.

Twenty shots per man, five-man team, range 50 yards, rifle any .22 caliber, position prone; "possible" 500:

E. C. Crossman	462
G. L. Wotkyns	446
L. M. Packard	435
R. J. Fraser	432
H. T. Carlton	428
Total	2,203

C. B. Hubbs	421

SCOTTY AFTER KILBANE.

"I saw Johnny Kilbane this morning," said Scotty Monteith yesterday, "and offered to match Dundee with him, winner take all at catchweights. But Johnny refused absolutely to box Dundee at a weight of that kind. Still he is talking of meeting any of the lightweights at 122 pounds, and says he wants to meet Joe Rivers. This is Kilbane's excuse to avoid Dundee, simply because he knows that Rivers is tied up with Willie Ritchie. Still, the next we will hear of Kilbane will be when he is matched to box Jimmy Walsh in Boston in the near future, and Jimmie has only one leg to stand upon as far as a championship is concerned. It's a good job Tom McCarey did not give Kilbane that championship belt, for Kilbane would lay awake nights watching it."

BASEBALL PRIMER.

BY DEMON HENRY.

A stands for Angels, the Seraphic band
Who make all the other teams eat from their hand
B stands for Berry whose fortune was made
C's for Carlisle, the speedy young jay
Who makes triple plays unassisted, they say.
D is for Drucke, who winds up and throws
E stands for Elliott who looks like a wreck
F is for Fans who are there every day
And set up a howl when things don't go their way.
G stands for Gill who we thought was a peach,
But who now's pulling teeth at $3 each.
H is for Hogan, the meek little sheep
Who raves all the time even when he's asleep.
I is for Ivan, the base-flicher bold
Whose spikes made the infielders' blood run quite cold,
J stands for Johnston, whose speed on the sacks
K stands for Krestner, the Tigers' white hope
Who usually wins, according to dope.
L is for Litschi who has lots of sand
M is for Metzger, the Dutchman, on third
Who, according to Berry, is surely some bird.
N is for nothing, which seemed to be all
That our friend, Soldier Carson, could put on the ball.
O for O'Rourke, who plays second base
And also occasionally shoots off his face.
P is for Parkin, whose chief value lies
In loud conversation and batting up flies.
Q is for Quick, which might characterize
The way in which Maggert gets after high flies.
R is for Ryan, the big husky swain
Who fell off the wagon, but's back on again.
S stands for Swain, the corpulent sob
Who couldn't get skinny and so lost his job.
T is for Tozer, the steady old hoss
Who we seldom find is charged up with a loss.
U is for Useful, whose right name's Meloan,
He waves a big stick and wins games alone.
V is for vengeance, the same being what
The poor, lowly Seals took on Hap Hogan's lot.
W for Wolverton, champion crab,
On whom all the umpires have to keep tab.
X is for Expurgate, which we have to do
To some of the speeches with which Patsy comes through.
Y is for Yap, which is heard in the land,
When some bunch of players is beating Hap's band.
Z ends the alphabet, and that being true,
It brings me the joy of this ending, too.

THE STORY OF JOE RIVERS.

BY JOE LEVY.

AT FIRST paper, I told you how I came in contact with Joe Rivers when he knocked out Danny Webster, whom I was managing. Danny's match he had under my management was against Jimmy Reagan.

I found Joe at his little training cottage in Venice, where he had prepared for the Webster fight. He was sitting on the porch, cooking and his great-grandmother was a Bronted cake.

Joe was then a wonderful fighter for his time, which was a flash. When I first saw him he did not step in with the fellow to rush him, depending on wonderful ability to counter. The remedy for not stepping in, of course, was to take the aggressive in the fight.

It seems a small affair now, but we waited anxiously for the Reagan fight. Little Reagan was known to be an aggressive, tough little fighter. Luckily, these rushing, impetuous boys were just made to order for Joe, and he knocked Reagan out in the thirteenth round—the same round in which he dropped Danny Webster, Joe Coster and Ad Wolgast.

Joe was now fairly launched on his fight career, and a match was made for him with Johnny Kilbane of Cleveland, who was then beginning to be talked of.

Next time I will tell you about Joe's first fight with Kilbane.

PHILADELPHIA TEAMS STILL IN THE LEAD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 16.—The officials of other contenders to cut down the lead of the two Philadelphia teams in the major leagues were not quite successful. The National League pennant winning six out of seven games in consistent batting, while the Athletics' pitching and fielding was the best out of the ten games played.

The one game in Philadelphia and one in Boston were Cleveland's only victories in the week. Washington was more successful, getting a fifty per cent. break against Detroit and Chicago, while they won handily a sandwiched-in game today at Cleveland.

Boston started a new fight for a better ranking by winning all but one of the six games played. The world's champions opened by breaking pitcher Falkenberg's run of ten straight victories.

The New York club secured an even break on the week and in view of the previous record of almost continuous defeats an even break in six games leads many to believe that Manager Chance at last is whipping the Yankees into shape.

CAMPI GAME.

Battling Chico told Eddie Campi yesterday that the little Frenchman Le Doux was bringing a regiment of French infantry along with him. "It will take the whole French army to keep him from getting his can knocked off," responded Campi, "but maybe that army would fall for me. I am a Frenchman, too."

JONES WINS MISSISSIPPI GOLF.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, June 16.—C. R. Jones of the Evanston Golf Club, Kansas City, made the lowest score of the first day of the Trans-Mississippi tournament which opened on the Glen Echo Country Club's links here today, completing 18 holes of the scores in 78 strokes. There were 321 entries from middle western points. R. H. Rhider of the Hyperion Club of Des Moines, Ia., took second place with 76 strokes.

TOO MUCH SEAWEED.

Beach fishing Sunday along the South Coast was not up to the standard and some of the sports say this was due to the fact that there was so much kelp and seaweed close to the shore.

KING GUSTAVE HAS LOOK AT ATHLETES

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKHOLM, June 16.—King Gustave was at the stadium yesterday to witness the trial matches for the selection of Swedish competitors in the coming English and American championships and to distribute the Olympic decathlon prizes which, after the disqualification of James Thorpe, were awarded at the Lausanne meeting to three Swedes—Wieslander, Holmer and Lombergg.

There was much enthusiasm as three Swedish flags went up, thereby raising Sweden's total of points at the Olympic games of last year from 22 to 25.

Three Rings and a stone in them.

BY GARDNER BRADFORD.

EXIT Della Fox!

The famous comedienne, who in her day, was one of the most popular comic opera stars the stage has ever known, died yesterday at the Roseban Hospital in New York City as the result of an operation which almost till the moment of her death, had been deemed successful. In private life she was Mrs. Jack Levy. Arrangements have been made to send the body to St. Louis for burial.

Few actresses are better known than was Della Fox. She began her stage career at the age of nine, and gained fame as a child actress. Later she appeared with the Conreid Opera Company and the Bennett and Moulton Opera Company.

At the zenith of her fame she was leading comedienne with DeWolf Hopper and Lillian Russell, and starred in such almost forgotten successes as "The Little Trooper," "Fleur de Lis," "The Little Host," and "The Wedding Day."

Prosperity was too much for her, and like Pauline Hall, she almost dropped from sight, only to make a pathetic effort to "come back" as a vaudeville headliner. She was born in St. Louis, October 12, 1872.

"If only Blanche were here it would be a regular family reunion," remarked Frances Ring yesterday, as she passed the sugar to sister Julie, and told her what a great town is Los Angeles.

Julie is headliner at Pantages, and doing nicely, thank you, and Frances is just now trying to learn a little Chinese to use in the coming production of "The Yellow Jacket," which promises to be quite the sensation of the year.

It was only the other day, you remember, in fact on the thirteenth, that Mr. Meighan, hubby of Frances, hot foot from a terminated engagement in the east, arrived on the scene, and between hubby and sister, the Morosco leading woman is finding hard work to attend rehearsals.

This same Yellow Jacket promises to be a great big hit or an equally big fizzle. It is absolutely unique, and like that play of the seventeenth century, "Everyman" there is no real scenery. Four chairs and a bit of cloth do service for a boat, etc.

Yet on the other hand the book, and the play too, are wonderfully artistic, and the logic is as irrefutible as it is fascinating.

And can you imagine the Morosco company as Chinese. Harrison Hunter, all by himself, is the chorus, and has to explain everything. Fah Min, great painted face, will be Thomas McLarnie, and Donald Bowles as See Bin, first farmer, has one of the most important roles.

And by the way, it is interesting to remember that J. Harry Benrimo, the author, is the former husband of Helen Robertson, one of the original members of the Morosco producing company.

When Oliver Morosco arrives next week, I understand he will be sporting a new bally of the most expensive New York vintage. And all because "C.O.D." is playing to capacity at the Burbank for a third week.

You see, if I may be permitted to tell tales out of school, the piece didn't go so very well in New York, and John Cort thought he was betting on a sure thing when he made the wager. The Los Angeles man, however, had diagnosed the partial failure of "C.O.D." in New York as lack of a suitable cast. He pinned his faith on the Burbank, and, as usual, it won him something.

Leave it to the Shuberts and Melville Ellis to devise something new. I was skeptical about this stunt of working among the audience, as they will do in "The Passing Show," until yesterday, when the three mechanics ahead of the organization began chopping out whole blocks of seats for the runway, which will cut right across the Majestic Theater.

It took only a little figuring to show that this feature of the show eliminates just exactly $55 worth of seats every night, or very nearly $1000 a week. So now, instead of being skeptical, I am curious.

One of the new American comedies which is to be produced this fall is "The Bird Cage." The author is a Californian and with just pride in his native heather, has laid his scenes at Coronado.

I wonder if May Irwin thinks I'm a farmer. Yesterday the postman brought me a package of seeds of the May Irwin tomato, as raised on the May Irwin farm, Irwin Island, in the St. Lawrence. I could have used cloves so much better!

With the package she sent me a photo of herself, all round and merry, planting May Irwin tomatoes, and it's a picture no cubist could paint.

I don't believe that when a woman plays an adventuress she is bad, or that when she plays an angel she is that way herself, but it does seem as if there were something in that role of "Glad" in Mrs. Burnett's play, "The Dawn of a Tomorrow."

For Eleanor Robson, who created the part, has since become the wife of August Belmont, one of the leading capitalists of America, and Gertrude Elliott, who succeeded her, has now become Lady Frances Forbes-Robertson, through grace of the King of England.

John W. Considine, executive head of the S. & C. circuit, represented in this city by the Empress, has hied himself north and does not expect to return before fall.

Before leaving he told me that he had set his heart on having a big horse show out here, precisely as they do in New York. He would make it a permanent affair.

Gus Edwards, the prolific writer of popular songs, who is with his own organization at the Orpheum this week, says that song-writing is a gamble. You never know just what will go.

They seem to run in cycles, though, he adds, and cites the craze for Indian melodies right after "Hiawatha" and the demand for character rags after "Lovey Joe," to illustrate his meaning.

Perhaps we Californians can get in on the ground floor of the next cycle, for it ought to be the Panama Canal or the Jap situation.

Promenades.

VARIED PROGRAMMES AT THE SHRINE AUDITORIUM.

Initial Appearance of Miss Lyons, Dramatic Soprano; Hellie, Hughes, Millhouse, Lott, Seebold and Lowe Excellent Soloists of Ohlmeyer's Band for Benefit of Shriners.

BY HECTOR ALLIOT.

Yesterday were given the two first promenade concerts at the Shrine Auditorium. Two more will be given today, at 3 and 8:15 p.m. It will be the last opportunity of hearing Miss Blanche Lyons, soloist of the Ohlmeyer concerts.

Few orchestras have such a list of distinguished soloists as Ohlmeyer's. Four brass soloists were heard yesterday and will play today.

Two other specialists are James G. Seebold, piccolo player, and Charles P. Lowe, sometimes known as the wizard of the xylophone.

In the afternoon concert the humorous paraphrase of "The Tearin' o' the Green," with horn and clarinet solos, bagpipe and piccolo, of Douglas and Litloff's ambitious "Maximilian Robespierre," were presented, with waltzes, and serenades by Cox, Valverde, Harris, and others.

For the evening concert Luder's descriptive fantasy, "Cavalry Charge," was the "piece de resistance," with melodies, overtures and Alpine songs.

The trio for cornets, "The Three Solitaires" of Herbert, and the duet for Fluegel horn and cornet, played in the distance, were most pleasing and were warmly received, as will as Lowe's remarkable xylophone solo, "Semiramide."

Today the afternoon concert will be largely symphonic in character, while in the evening Ponchielli's famous "Dance of the Hours," from "La Gioconda," grande fantaisie "Faust," and Tannhauser's grand march will be the principal numbers.

What the audiences have lacked in number they have made up in enthusiastic applause.

To be frank, the number attending the two first concerts is singularly disappointing, especially in the vast auditorium of the Shrine, where less than 1000 look lonesome.

It may be that the hall is somewhat removed from the musical center; it may be also that Henry Ohlmeyer does not yet possess the magnetism of a Sousa or a Herbert. But it matters little. The receipts of these concerts go toward paying the expenses of the patrol on its eastern pilgrimage, and every noble of Al Malaikah Temple ought to attend and lasso a brace of friends, for at least one concert.

While the Arab Patrol of Honor may cheerfully cross the hot sands of the desert singing "I Love You, California," and roads are fairly good east of the Rockies, it should not be expected to walk all the way to Atlanta!

DANGER LURKS IN ROAD RACE.

Narrow State Highway May Prove Fearful Finish.

BY BERT C. SMITH.

With every mile of the Panama-Pacific road-race course charted, and with exclusive information that will be given at once, The Times National official pathfinder and its crew are back again. Three maps of the route have been shown and three more are to be published.

Bert Dingley, pilot of the official pathfinder, reported to Chairman L. T. Shettler yesterday. The mileage between each of the checking stations was given to the Road Race Committee chairman. The maps and mileage between each town and city touched by the racing cars will be shown in The Times and given to each driver.

Danger lurks in every mile of the 499.5 miles of road to the finish of the Panama-Pacific road race at Tanforan track in San Francisco. Not only is the San Francisquito Canyon will death ride beside the driver and mechanician, but out on the smooth highway, one swerve to the left or right may hurl the racing car into a mass of twisted steel.

Every driver in the Panama-Pacific road race must know the course if he expects to figure at the finish. It is easy to make a wrong turn and easy to drive ten miles out of the way. The night may hold terrors and the San Francisquito may see a tragedy, but the danger will not be over by any means when the first checking point is reached.

Every foot of the route has been charted by Bert Dingley in The Times National pathfinder. In every city touched by the cars the roads in and out of town have been chosen. As a result the course can now be followed and studied carefully. For the first time since the course was chosen the race is routed and the turns marked.

When a driver reaches town now he is shown in an instant just how to leave. At Bakersfield signs are being planned to route the cars on the outskirts of city to the track where the one circuit will be made. Then the racers will be sent away on the run to Tulare, where they are to be checked again and sent spinning over the smooth road into Fresno.

Danger faces the driver in the Tejon Pass, but this run should be made in safety provided the cars are not bunched too closely. They should be well strung out by the time the high hills are reached. From Rose station down to the first left turn toward Adobe station, the road is smooth, but sandy. Here it is possible to hit one of those serpentine curves and turn a complete somersault.

GOOD ROAD HERE.

From Adobe station into Bakersfield the road is wide and should be driven in safety. Out of Bakersfield the road is fine and then again is sandy in spots. This may mean a wreck for some reckless driver. It is easy to hit a seventy-mile-an-hour clip and finish in a sandy stretch that will test the strength, as well as the nerve of every pilot.

After leaving Fresno the first completed stretch of the State highway is reached. Now this highway is of cement. It's a perfect road, but the wooden curbing has just been removed and the work at the side of the completed highway has not been finished. As a result, there is now a sharp ridging which plays havoc with tires and which may mean a serious accident for some reckless driver, who tries to pass a car.

In order to pass it is necessary to pull with about two wheels in the soft earth. This is particularly dangerous, as when the car is whirled back to the smooth surface that edge of cement must be fought and it takes the strength and skill of the most expert driver to turn the trick.

DINGLEY HAS TROUBLE.

There is no better driver than Dingley. He realized the danger on this smooth stretch and when he dropped into the sand at a fast clip, he found his work cut out to keep his National on its wheels. With a car just ahead of you the danger is increased.

Sharp's lane, on the entrance into Stockton, is one of the many dangerous turns. It is almost a right angle and the smooth road which approaches the turn lures the driver into a clip that makes the curve impossible. Some foolish driver, rather than lose valuable time, may be tempted to take the turn as fast as Dingley did. Perhaps Barney Oldfield is the only driver in the race who can hit that curve like Dingley did and keep his mount on its wheels.

The perfectly balanced car will mean much to the man who is a contender in the race. The driver who is unprepared and who then tries to hit a ninety-mile-an-hour clip, may learn that he is not a great road race driver after it is too late to profit by the lesson. The San Francisquito Canyon may become the death valley of this road race if the cars are started at midnight.

BERRY SIGNS NEW PITCHER.

Pitcher Rueter, once almost with the Angels, "has come" back and will join the team here probably tomorrow.

He was here in the early spring to show what he could do and suddenly left for Pittsburgh and signed with the Pirates. If he did not make good he was to get his unconditional release—and got it.

He pitched a two-hit game when the White Sox were playing in San Francisco last spring and now has accepted Berry's terms.

L.A.A.C. NOTES.

While there are no actual handball tournaments going on at the L.A.A.C. at the present time, there are a number of husky young men who are not missing many bets with the elusive pill. Nye Williams, the quiet majordomo, says that he would not be surprised to see an entirely new set of stellar lights come out when the next regular play takes place.

* * *

Now that "Gordo" Whelan has tossed his court laurels into the ring it may be that some of the understudies are going to try and horn into the battle royal and prong the title. At that I think Mr. Whelan is one wise gentleman; few of our crack athletes know enough to quit with an undefeated record hanging over their devoted heads, but "Gordo" has done it, and it is not too much to predict a great and glorious future for this young man, as he has rare judgment.

* * *

At the present time the courts present lively scenes during the noon hour. All the contestants say that they are merely working off their extra poundage, but under it all there seems to lie the fact that most of them are getting ready for the next tournaments. True, these contests do not take place until the first of the fall season, but there is nothing like being ready.

* * *

Tomorrow evening the club members are to be entertained at one of those snappy smokers. There are to be several boxing exhibitions and one wrestling match. All of which tends to make a very enjoyable night of it. Besides the athletic portion of the programme there are to be several vaudeville sketches and some motion pictures.

* * *

The last indoor track and field meet, which, by the way, was the first ever held in Southern California, proved to be a decided success, and proved, to the satisfaction of all, that indoor competition should be a regular thing for the athletes of the South.

* * *

The meets will, undoubtedly, be regular affairs through the summer and fall seasons. It opens a wide field, one which takes in the college and clubman, and, best of all, gives the athlete a chance to stretch his muscles after a long period of rest, as he is able to train and compete in the evening after office hours for these indoor contests.

* * *

This is the chance for the "famous hasbeen." Men who have been out of active work for several years, but who still feel the call "of the wild" in their blood can put on the short pants and go to it.

WESTERN OARSMEN HIT BY THE HEAT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

POUGHKEEPSIE (N. Y.) June 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Oppressive heat that sent the thermometer up to 100 degrees, played havoc with the University of Washington oarsmen today and in a time trial which they rowed late this afternoon the best they could do for the four miles was 21.36, two minutes and eight seconds behind the record they set for themselves last week. Conditions today were not favorable, however, because in addition to the heat the tide was almost at slack water and there was a quartered wind blowing across the course.

None of the men in the Washington boat feels individually the worse for the heat but the boat as a whole has slowed down considerably.

In the first two miles of their trial the Seattle crew rowed 28 strokes to the minute and reached the half way mark in 11.10. In the last two miles they raised the beat to 29 and 30.

OLD RIVALS MEET.

The wonderful baseball squad of Yale University is to wind up the season this week in a game with the old rivals of Eli, the crimson Harvard team. Yale has made a magnificent record this season, having won twenty-four out of twenty-six games played and also having won fifteen consecutive games. Harvard has won fourteen out of twenty games, and has been getting stronger as the season progresses so that the crimson have hopes of putting a dent in the great record of the blues.

JUNIORS SHOW CLASS IN DEL MONTE TOURNAMENT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DEL MONTE, June 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The twenty-sixth annual tennis tournament for the championship of the Pacific States was opened today by play in men's and women's singles. Twenty-seven matches were decided and play in the men's singles was carried to the second round.

Many of the matches were close and interesting, and perhaps the most striking feature of the day was the showing made by the junior players against their elder opponents.

Voorhies Henry, a 15-year-old Golden Gate junior, played and won from R. C. Van Vliet one of the longest and best matches of the day, and then made a grand effort in the next round against Reuben Hunt.

Henry's service and overhead work were particularly excellent throughout both matches.

The match which attracted the most attention during the day was played between Wickham Havens and Wallace M. Alexander, both of Piedmont. Havens won the first set, but found his oppenent too steady after two hard sets and was defeated, 3-6, 6-4, 6-0.

Men's championship singles, preliminary round: John Strachan beat F. Bass, 6-2, 6-6; V. C. Henry beat R. C. Van Vliet, 7-5, 9-11, 9-7; O. Gardner beat H. V. D. Johns, 1-6, 6-1, 6-1; R. Hunt beat James Harper, 6-2, 6-3; W. E. Davis beat E. D. Lederman, default; E. A. Klein beat D. Nolan, 6-1, 6-2.

City Should Pay Half the Cost of Tunnels.

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] If it is finally decided to have two tunnels built through Bunker Hill, just one block apart, the city should pay half the cost of their construction. The Third-street tunnel was built without an assessment, and why should a portion of the taxpayers bear the total cost of two tunnels if they are of such general benefit in relieving the traffic congestion as the advocates of the tunnel plan claim?

The proposed tunnels will probably cost about a million dollars—one-sixty-third of the original aqueduct bond, and one-third of the cost of the old sewer to the sea—and yet it is proposed that a portion of the taxpayers shall stand the entire expense, and that, too, without the benefit of any time to pay assessments.

If the city would pay one-half the cost of the two tunnels it would materially lighten the burden of those in the outlined assessment district and lessen the possibility of any considerable protest that may otherwise materialize.

Those who were in favor of raising the entire hill, from Sunset boulevard to Fifth streets, had presented a concrete, equitable and feasible plan for so doing, such as was outlined in your columns some months ago by Mr. Varcoe, the tunnel proposition would doubtless have been accepted. Many who now oppose the two-tunnel plan realize that the hill will not be razed, notwithstanding the tunnels, as has been the case in other large cities.

The First Submarines.

RIVERSIDE, June 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Permit me to correct the writer, William H. Knight, in his article on "Submarine Navigation," in The Times of the 14th, in which he states that the "idea first took definite shape when, in 1882, the Frenchman, Goubet, constructed a submarine which was concealed as it moved beneath the surface and discharged torpedoes at the enemy's vessels."

The idea of a submarine war vessel was demonstrated as early as 1864 by the building and operation of what was then popularly known as the "fish boats," of which there were several built at a ship yard on the Atlantic coast, and were to be seen daily in the river or about the mouth of the harbor and even out in the North Sea. The writer, a sailor of those days, distinctly remembers seeing them. They were of their name "cigar boat" from their shape, and what is more, the engineer was in front, or at the head of the boat, for the same purpose as designed for the Cage submarine, for better control in submergence, and rising from the water.

The writer saw them both on my return from the East Indies, in 1864. They were of different sizes, and, as stated above, were an every-day sight, at anchor just on the river. From London down to the mouth of the Thames and Medway, in the North Sea. The principle of their design and construction was as a submarine war vessel. As to the question of sufficient implements, there is no doubt the facts can be verified in London, Eng.

Should Pay Half the Cost of Tunnels.

HOLLYWOOD, June 14.—[To the Editor of The Times:] If it is finally decided to have two tunnels built through Bunker Hill, just one block from the city hall, the city should pay half the cost of their construction. The two tunnels will probably cost a million dollars—one-third of the original aqueduct bond issue—and yet it is proposed to levy the entire cost of these tunnels upon a portion of the taxable property in the city, and yet it is proposed to exempt the burden of those who live in the assessment district from any possibility of any contribution to the cost that may otherwise be levied.

Those who were in favor of razing Bunker hill, from Sunset boulevard to Fifth street, had presented what, on its face, equitable and feasible proposition to defend, such as was outlined by Mr. Yarnell, the tunnel proposition, therefore, have been opposed by those who now oppose the Hill-street plan realize that the latter is to be raised, notwithstanding the fact that it has been the case with the Third-street tunnel.

Submarines.

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Permit me to correct the writer, William H. Knight, who wrote on "Submarine Navigation" in The Times of the 14th. The idea of a submarine war vessel was suggested as early as 1864 by the construction and operation of what is popularly known as the "David," of which there were several in a ship yard on the Mississippi river to be seen daily by thousands, or about the mouth of the Mississippi river to be seen daily by thousands, or about the mouth of the Thames river, in the North Sea. The writer saw them both on my return from the East Indies, in 1864. They were a familiar sight, and, as stated, were as every-day sight, at anchor on the river. From London, at the mouth of the Thames river, to the North Sea. The latter, by the way, design and construction of a submarine war vessel, in addition, of sufficient importance, as he doubt the facts stated in London, Eng.

THE MIRROR.

Pullman Vestibule Sleepers in Coaches and Sleeping Cars.

Pullman Vestibule that wakened many of the residence section occurred at 1:15 o'clock this morning. The disturbance lasted about two minutes, according to the best information of persons who felt two distinct shocks—the one that awakened them and another that followed.

The police received no information of damage and it is likely that the temblor was only of slight proportions. It was felt more distinctly in the Wilshire district, although the office buildings downtown were shaken so that late workers resorted to the telephones to learn the extent. Many residents called the newspaper offices to learn what had happened but, reassured of no damage, retired again to their slumbers.

PROTESTS THREE WAYS.

Former County Detective Appeals to Governor Not to Sign Bill Rewarding Detective Burns.

Telephoning, telegraphing and mailing his protest to the Governor, in a last vigorous effort to prevent him from signing Assembly Bill No. 1078, Detective Sam Browne awaited impatiently last night for word from Sacramento that would tell him whether he had prevented the State from paying Detective William J. Burns $10,000 as reward for the service he did the State in the McNamara case.

The word that his protest had availed was not received up to an early hour this morning; neither did early reports of bills signed show that the Governor had passed the protest and had signed the bill.

In answer to a telegram sent early in the day, Browne received a telegram from the Governor to the effect that his objections would have to be wired at once if they were to reach Sacramento before midnight. Browne answered this with a 120-word telegraphed protest, which claimed half the reward, and said mail credentials upholding his claim were on the way to the capital.

Then, to be sure the telegram was safely on its way, Browne got the Governor's office on the long-distance telephone, but succeeded only in talking to the Governor's secretary, who, with the Governor up to his ears in Senate and Assembly bills, was also a busy man.

THE RAILROAD SCRAP HEAP.

[Harper's Weekly:] The wreckage of hundreds of thousands of tons of steel and iron that was piled up after fire and earthquake had devasted San Francisco was called the biggest scrap-heap in the world. Yet it shrinks into insignificance in comparison with the amount of scrap material that the railroads of America accumulate every year.

The scrap heaps of the railroads grow larger and larger every year, owing to the steady expansion of business. They are composed of used-up locomotives, machinery and material of every sort and description. Even at the small prices a ton or a pound at which this metal waste is sold, it brings in millions of dollars every year.

Of all the vast amount of material that a railroad purchases every twelve-month 90 per cent. eventually finds its way into the scrap heap. In no other business are the odds and ends that are no longer serviceable collected with so much care. Everything, from the frames of the lanterns to the ponderous driving wheels of locomotives reaches the scrap dock in the end.

But before anything is "scrapped" it has to be passed upon by about a dozen experts. They look it over to see if there is a possibility of its being used in any other way before it is sold to the junk man. On one of the eastern railway systems a few years ago a large quantity of steel freight car bolsters were found to be unavailable for the type of car for which they were originally intended.

One by one the mechanical experts shook their heads and voted that they be sent to the scrap dock. But one of the examiners suggested drilling an extra hole in the condemned bolsters and using them on a different class of truck than that for which they were intended. This was done at little cost and their journey to the junk pile was delayed.

After the material gets to the scrap dock another set of experts goes over it. There was a time when the junk dealers knew more about the value of scrap metal than the railroad men. The dealers bought craftily and at low prices, because the scrap was sorted into only a few classes when it was offered for sale. After buying the material the dealers resorted it and made big profits. Many of them grew rich.

Nowadays the Railway Storekeepers' Association is as wise to the value of the scrap as the dealers. The members of the association have been studying it year after year, and discussing it at their annual meetings. At present scrap is classified into more than a hundred different grades and varieties. Each has its market price. There is no longer a chance for speculation or guessing. The railways are getting more for their waste material today than ever before. The average is between $15 and $16 a ton.

When the car scrap is picked up and loaded on the cars it is only roughly sorted. Its final sorting and classification occurs when it reaches the scrap docks. The manual labor of unloading and handling this material used to be a very heavy item of expense. Now big electromagnets attached to movable cranes save much time and money. One of these cranes will do the work of fifty men.

No Old Maids in Siam.

[Spokesman Review:] Kings of Siam apparently do not believe in the wisdom of allowing single women to drift unattached about the country. In certain districts after a girl has reached an age where her securing for herself a husband is considered doubtful, she becomes a "daughter of the king." That is, the king takes upon himself the task of settling her suitably in life.

His process is quite simple and to the point. He proceeds to the Siamese penitentiary and looks over the various prisoners. There is a law in Siam that any prisoner can obtain his release by marrying one of his class of girls, and naturally enough, any prisoner whom the king picks out is not likely to be backward about consenting to the ceremony. Nor does it make any difference if he is married, for the men of that country are not restricted to one wife.

As far as can be learned, there is no allowance made for the inclination of the girl in question. She has failed in her mission in life as far as she herself is concerned and she must abide by the decision of the king.

No Matinee Hats in Turkey.

[Philadelphia Inquirer:] There is no trouble about the matinee hat in Turkey, and in that happy country the cry: "Sit down, please," is never heard from the back rows in a theater. As a matter of fact no one sits down at the play at all. The first three rows of the audience lie in a reclining position; the next three rows kneel, and remain in that attitude throughout the piece; everyone else stands up. Another quaint point about the theater in Turkey is that a notice appears on the walls of the building to the effect that "It is strictly forbidden to laugh, for it is a tragedy that is being performed."

What Food shall I give Baby?

Every mother must sooner or later ask herself this question, and it is one which must involve a good deal of anxious consideration. It may be that on the advice of friends various foods are tried to see if baby takes kindly to them.

Now, is it not reasonable to assume that an infants' food that has been in general use for upwards of fifty years, and that has been used, in preference to others, in most of the Royal Nurseries of Europe, is likely to prove a suitable diet for the average infant? Such a food is Savory & Moore's, and all mothers who decide in its favour may be congratulated on the wisdom of their choice.

Infants reared on Savory & Moore's Food are characterised by strong, sturdy limbs, firm flesh, plenty of bone and muscle, easy teething, freedom from infant ailments, and that happy disposition which is the surest sign of perfect health. Ask your Druggist to get you a tin.

BEACH SENIORS MAKE RULING.

WORD "BACCALAUREATE" HAS BEEN SADLY MISUSED.

Week Will Be Taken Up With the Various Exercises Incident to Closing Schools—Preachers Ask Congregations to Support Special Tax to Pay Hospital Bills.

LONG BEACH, June 16.—The programme for commencement week of the Long Beach Polytechnic High School has been completed and includes the following events: Commencement service, High School auditorium, June 22, 8 o'clock p.m.; class day exercises, High School, Tuesday, June 24, 7:30 o'clock p.m.; junior class reception, High School gymnasium, Wednesday, June 25, 8 o'clock p.m.; commencement exercises, First M. E. Church, Friday, June 27, 8 o'clock p.m.; alumni reception, Hotel Virginia, Saturday, June 28, 8 o'clock p.m.

The High School seniors claim to have discovered that the use of the term "baccalaureate" is improper, as applied to high school exercises, since that term, they assert, should be used only in connection with a school which gives bachelor degrees. Hence the service to be held here Sunday, June 22, is called, this year, a "commencement," not a baccalaureate, service.

Heretofore the graduating class has been almost buried beneath an avalanche of flowers. Announcement is made this year that no flowers or present will be received at the church. The senior girls have agreed, also, to taboo the wearing of gloves at the commencement exercises. The dresses they shall wear are not to cost more than $2.50, and at least half the work on each of the dresses is to be done by the sweet girl graduate who is to wear it.

ALLEGED GAMBLERS.

W. A. Snyder, A. D. Herdeg and C. W. Page were arrested last night in a rear room of a building on the Pike, charged with gambling with dice, the proprietor of the building having asked the police to stop the alleged gambling in his place. Acting Chief of Police Robert O'Rourke and Detective Mitchell made the arrests, finding, it is said, about $25 on the floor.

At the police station Snyder is said to have attempted to escape, and a rap over one ear, which subdued him, required slight attention at the hands of a physician, Dr. R. A. Terry being called in. The three men were released on bonds of $25 each.

MORE MONEY NEEDED.

The United States Attorney in Los Angeles was notified today that the abstract of title to the proposed Federal building site at Third street and American avenue has been brought down and that the title is shown to be clear. J. E. Knotts, one of those in control of the lot proposed to be sold to the government as a site, said today that a misapprehension existed yesterday as to the amount subscribed and that more money was still needed. An effort to raise this will be made tomorrow, when ten men will be asked to divide the amount among them and make the subscriptions necessary to close the transaction. This plan was suggested by Col. W. J. Horne.

CHURCH PLANS.

A new church, a convent and a new parish house, representing a total expenditure of $75,000, are improvements contemplated by St. Anthony's Catholic Church of this city. Work on the new convent, which will be a two-story frame structure, containing sixteen rooms, is already under way. This building will be used as a parish house until after the church is completed, when the parish house will be erected. The church will be of brick construction, 84x124 feet in size. The main auditorium will seat 650 people and the chapel will accommodate 220. Two steel towers will be features of the construction.

While the campaign to raise the finances for the new Congregational Church has been going on so successfully, a Los Angeles architect has been getting out the working plans for the edifice. It will be Italian Romanesque in design, constructed of dark blue brick, and will be almost an exact duplicate of handsome churches which may be seen in Italy today. The auditorium and gallery will seat 1400. In the basement will be a dining-room seating about 500, kitchen and social room. There will be a tower 100 feet high. Three rose windows, each eighteen feet in diameter, with stained glass, are specified in the plans. The auditorium will have an open timber ceiling.

The members of the first Brethren Church today occupied for the first time the auditorium of their new edifice at Fifth street and Cherry avenue. The church has been completed at a cost of $21,000. For several weeks the Sunday services had been conducted in the basement.

SEEKS PANSY AND ETHEL.

Los Angeles Man Asks the Venice Police to Aid Him in Locating Two Women.

VENICE, June 16.—Dr. E. H. Edwards, an osteopathic physician of Los Angeles, appeared at the Venice Police Station today and asked the Chief to help him find "Pansy" and Ethel," two attractive young women who relieved him of a $200 diamond ring, $50 in cash, and a gold watch, all that he had on his person, while entertaining the maids here last night. Dr. Edwards, a tall, imposing appearing man with iron gray hair and beard, said he did not learn the last names of the damsels, and he had only met them on the evening when they separated him from his loose valuables.

Dr. Edwards stated that the young women cajoled him into letting one of them hold his hand. They did not want his left hand, but the right one, which bore the sparkler. The physician stated that he did not know when the maidens relieved him of his ring, and was as ignorant regarding time and place when the subject of the loss of his money and watch was brought up. The police took the description of the women and will try and find the friends of the doctor.

WANTED A STEAK.

Bert Edwards, who has been living here about a week, was arrested today and charged with passing a bad check on one of the drug stores here. The proprietor of the store was reluctant when he was asked to cash the check for $11.60, until Edwards returned with the signature of the head clerk, which, it is charged, was forged. In fifteen minutes after the check was found to be a forgery, the proprietor of the drug store found Edwards eating a large porterhouse steak in a restaurant.

Pasadena.

Wants Pacific Electric to Improve the Plan.

Congress May Pass on Arroyo Seco Closing.

PASADENA, June 17.—The proposed new line of the Pacific Electric Railway Company between Pasadena and Los Angeles does not meet with the approval of the Pasadena Realty Board. At a meeting of that organization held at the Hotel Maryland last night resolutions were adopted instructing the Committee on Transportation to confer with the City Commission on the subject of increased transportation facilities at once.

The attitude of the Realty Board, which has long been talking better transportation at its meetings, is that the proposed new line will not afford such relief as the city shall need in its growth. Just what action the City Commissioners will be asked to take was not made clear last night.

The meeting was a dinner served in the hotel grill and, besides the transportation question, several topics of interest to real estate men were discussed. About fifty were present.

NOW A NATIONAL PROBLEM.

The question of whether or not the Arroyo Seco shall be closed to campers in order to prevent pollution of the Pasadena water supply may become an issue before Congress at Washington. The City Commissioners, who are divided as to whether such a step is necessary, have reached the conclusion that it is only by a special act of Congress the canyon can be closed and have now arranged to have City Health Officer Black make an inspection and confer with the government officials.

The subject, thought to have been disposed of, was brought up again yesterday by the result of an inspection of the canyon by the Commissioners last Saturday. They found many things to be desired in the matter of sanitation.

R. L. Metcalf, chairman of the Commission, said last night that there is no authority for any report that the canyon is to be closed to campers. On the other hand, Commissioner Salisbury, who is the chief official in the city water department, declared:

"The Commission has taken no action yet, but Dr. Black is to make an inspection, and the matter will be given further consideration. I believe that for the good of the water supply the canyon should be closed to campers. It would take a special act of Congress, I understand, to do so, and so, of course, nothing can be done this summer."

"I shall inspect the canyon and consult with the government officials," said Dr. Black last night. "It may be found necessary to close the canyon."

The Arroyo Seco is the most beautiful and most accessible canyon near Pasadena, and for years it has been one of the favorite camping places of Southern California. Many permanent cottages have been built in the canyon, which are occupied by residents of Pasadena and Los Angeles in the summer. The owners of these cottages are making a vigorous protest to the proposed law providing the buildings shall no longer be occupied.

COME BACK TIRED.

The Knights of the Rose Tournament and their families who went to Portland in a special train to attend the Rose Carnival there returned home yesterday tired, but as enthusiastic as ever. They made it their duty throughout the time they were away to boost Pasadena morning, noon and night, and the city has never before received such advertising.

The only unpleasant feature of the trip was that Police Surgeon B. O. Coates, who was one of the party, was brought home with a broken left arm and a wrenched left leg. His condition was found upon arrival here yesterday to be more serious than it was at first believed. He was taken home in an ambulance with his leg in a plaster cast. The horse that he rode in the parade in Portland fell with him to the pavement.

The members of the party distributed thousands of books and pamphlets describing and picturing Pasadena, both in Portland and en route. The most popular of all the advertising devices, however, were little feather darts bearing an invitation to attend the Tournament of Roses here next New Year's Day, and so contrived that they would stick to the clothing of whomever they were tossed at.

APROPOS OF BABIES.

The Executive Committee of the Komical Knights of the Karnival burned the midnight oil last night drafting a set of rules to govern the baby show, which is to be one of the chief features of the Fourth of July celebration at Tournament Park. As there are no suffragettes enrolled in the organization nothing but masculine skill was contributed toward the framing of the rules, but so much time was spent on them that the committee is certain they will be all right.

Not only does the baby show promise to be more interesting than either fireworks or horse races, but, as it has turned out, it is the most difficult feature of the entire programme to arrange. Inquiries as to the rules are received daily at the headquarters of the K.K.K.'s.

WILL MEET TODAY.

The Pasadena Gettysburg Veterans' Association, which was organized last week for the purpose of arranging the trip to be made to the historic battlefield by the Pasadena veterans next month, will meet at the rooms of the Board of Trade at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Definite plans for the trip will be made.

Many subscriptions, both large and small, toward the fund that is being raised to defray the expenses of the veterans who are unable to pay the cost of going to the meeting have been received. Nine hundred dollars has been raised. About $3000, however, is desired.

BIG SALE.

One of the largest real estate deals ever made in the city has just been consummated. Former Judge J. W. McKinley of Los Angeles has purchased from C. S. Campbell-Johnson, for a consideration of $800,000, a tract of fifty-two acres in San Rafael Heights. It is the intention of the purchaser to subdivide the property into choice villa sites, and many handsome new homes will probably soon be built there in consequence.

The property lies on the west bank of the Arroyo Seco, between California and Colorado streets. It adjoins the Annandale Country Club golf links on the north.

BIG CROWD EXPECTED.

Indications are that the picnic of the Jewish Society of Pasadena, which is to be held at Redondo Beach next Sunday, will be the largest attended of any the organization has ever had. The party will leave early in the morning and pass the day at the seashore. H. L. Joseph has charge of arrangements.

WILLIAM KRAEMER DEAD.

Information has been received of the death of William A. Kraemer in Berkeley last Saturday. Kraemer lived at No. 230 North Molino avenue. He was in business in Los Angeles. He was prominent in Masonic circles, and was a member of the Jonathan Club in the Angel City. The body will be brought to Pasadena for interment.

ALLEGED PIRATE ARRESTED.

"Shorty" Williams Taken by Officers Off San Pedro While He Was Working His Way South.

SAN PEDRO, June 16.—Charles, alias "Shorty," Williams, who, it is alleged, stole the launch Antioch at Benicia last April, and for whom the officers of five counties have been searching, was arrested early this morning by police Officers Carr and Stephens in the Southern Pacific slip on board the Antioch, and the missing launch was seized.

Several days ago Williams and the launch were sighted near Santa Cruz Island, and a posse left Santa Barbara in the swift launch Otter to apprehend him, but he managed to evade his pursuers. Williams was attempting to make his way to Mexico when arrested, but had run short of water and provisions. Late last night the police department received information that Williams had sent a long-distance telephone message to Hueneme requesting a younger brother to join him here, and kept up an all-night vigil for Williams and the launch.

Early this morning a strange launch was seen crawling slowly into the Southern Pacific slip, and when hailed Williams gave his name as "Watson," and volunteered the information that he had seen the launch Antioch off Santa Barbara Island. The ruse did not work, and Williams submitted to arrest without any resistance.

Williams, it is alleged, is the leader of a gang of harbor pirates which has infested Benicia and other northern ports for a number of years, and his arrest is considered important. The charge against him is grand larceny, and he was removed this morning to the County Jail to await the arrival of an officer from Santa Barbara.

EXCEED SPEED LIMIT.

Port Warden Don Fugit is having complaints drawn today for the arrest of nearly a dozen masters of coastwise steamers upon a charge of exceeding the speed steaming limit in the inner harbor. While the names are withheld, it is stated that the captains of several large passenger steamers making this port are included in the list of offenders.

The ordinances provide for a maximum speed of four miles an hour in the inner harbor, and it is claimed a number of captains make from ten to twelve miles an hour up the harbor. Recently many complaints have been received of this excessive speed causing vessels to break their mooring lines and interfering with the dredging operations and the discharge of cargoes at the various wharves.

The maximum penalty for the offense is a fine of $500 or 200 days in jail or both.

LIME KILN CLUB TO MEET.

SANTA MONICA, June 16.—Mayor Dow has been honor guest at many banquets, but the city's chief executive has never, until now, been called upon to preside at a spread in a lime kiln. A pressed-brick company in the eastern part of the city, which has installed what the brick men say is the largest brick kiln in the world, has issued an invitation to the Mayor, city officials and prominent citizens to enjoy a banquet set in the kiln, while surrounded with half-burned bricks. Waiters in the guise of brick makers will serve the guests, and souvenir bricks will be handed those who participated. The banquet will be served Saturday at 2 p.m.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Although Mayor Dow sent to the City Council tonight a message recommending that the three saloon licenses and four wholesale liquor permits be renewed for another two years, the members of the Council deferred final action on the renewals. The anti-liquor people packed the Council chamber, and argued against the granting of the licenses for the next two years. The Police Commission also favored the renewals. It has been asserted by those who are against the renewals that the referendum will be invoked against the granting of the licenses.

As no candidates have come forward seeking the job of Mayor a movement is gaining ground to increase the salary of the chief executive. It is pointed out that the Mayor receives less than his subordinates in the street, police, fire and other departments. Mayor Dow states that he has enough of the job, and many men already mentioned for the position have hastened to deny that they would accept the job at the present salary.

Police Judge J. J. Carillo was awakened at 11 o'clock last night by a couple who wanted him to marry them. Hayden Wheelock of Hanford was the groom and Mrs. Emma R. Smith of El Paso was the bride. They came to Judge Carillo, they said, because he bore such a remarkable resemblance to the father of the groom. They presented a marriage license issued on Friday, the thirteenth, "Cupid" Sparks at the Los Angeles marriage license bureau telling them that their license was thirteenth in the list for the day.

Jack Steele, former City Trustee, today announced the purchase of the interest of Henry Keating in the Keating estate. The interest comprises about one-sixth of the estate.

HERMOSA BEACH, June [illegible] election was held today on the question of voting $40,000 bonds for improvements. The funds are divided as follows: $25,000 for sewers and City Hall, $10,000 for fire apparatus system, $10,000 for five acres for public playgrounds. Of 661 votes cast, 465 were for the bonds, but 443 voted "no." The country residents voted against the measure and many who voted "yes" pointed in the defeat of the bonds. It was the election a few years ago that worked against today's vote, in retaliation for their defeat. The result was the bonds were defeated.

His lifeless body was found later by his wife when he came to come in for his breakfast. He left a note stating that he was discouraged because of continued ill health.

A brush fire on the east slope of Waterman Canyon, a mile above the city, for a time assumed threatening proportions this afternoon. The origin of the blaze is not known. The only damage was the burning over of a few hundred acres of the watershed.

It was then supposed the road was a public highway, as it had been used for years. The county took the matter to court, but Doyle won. Now a piece of land for road purposes will be condemned by the county.

Public Service: City Hall, Courts.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Work was begun yesterday on a complete inventory of Aqueduct materials, a party going to Lone Pine to carry the task through all the way down the line. The Board of Public Works will not relinquish control until this is completed and a full accounting is made of the expenditure of the aqueduct bond money.

The Park Commission was notified by the City Attorney yesterday that it cannot grant a permit for a railway in Griffith Park, but that the City Council would have to issue a franchise in regular form.

The Municipal Art Commission has turned down the mission-style of architecture for harbor buildings and has recommended very plain structures, relieved with columns.

The Aqueduct Power Bureau needs $285,000 to advance its project and no department seems willing to advance the money. Councilmen charged yesterday that money advanced to put the work in shape so that it could be held up has been used to carry on the project in the regular way.

President Woodman of the Harbor Commission issued an ultimatum yesterday that unless the Pacific Electric and Southern Pacific come to an immediate agreement with the city over the proposed harbor boulevard right of way at San Pedro, proceedings will be started for the highway on the narrower plans.

The county grand jury is again taking a look at the white slave traffic. Two girls were detained yesterday on charges arising out of the investigation of the Jonquil Apartments.

At the City Hall.

STARTS LISTING OF MATERIALS OF THE AQUEDUCT.

Representatives of Three Departments Go to Lone Pine to Progress Down Line to San Fernando Reservoir—Public Works Board in Control Until Task Is Done.

Final invoice of the property of the Los Angeles aqueduct, prior to its being turned over to the control of the Public Service Commission, began yesterday. This is to be carried on under the direction of three city departments. J. K. Hawk, from the City Auditor's office; E. W. Breitkreutz, chief construction clerk of the Aqueduct Bureau, and representing the Board of Public Works; A. B. Craft, representing the Public Service Commission, and a clerk from the accounting department, composed the party that left Los Angeles yesterday morning for Lone Pine to begin the big invoice.

They will work down the line to the San Fernando reservoir. It is estimated that it will take them ten or twelve days to complete this task, and they will then begin the invoice of the material yards at Slauson avenue. The Board of Public Works expects to have a complete listing of every bit of aqueduct property, even down to all papers on file, when the department is turned over to the control of the Public Service Commission.

The Board of Public Works decided at yesterday's session to ask the City Council today to amend the resolution recently passed regarding the transfer of the aqueduct to the Public Service Commission, so as to provide for such transfer when the Board of Public Works completes the invoice now in progress and can render a full and complete account of the expenditure of the bond funds placed in its keeping.

MUST GET FRANCHISE.

GRIFFITH PARK RAILROAD.

The City Attorney notified the Park Commission at its meeting yesterday forenoon that it has absolutely no authority to grant a permit to Col. Lewis Ginger of Glendale for the construction of a railway in Griffith Park, and that if such a railway is desired the only way it can be legally secured is through the City Council granting a regular franchise to the highest bidder in the same form that other railway franchises are granted.

Col. Ginger proposed to build an incline for the purpose of carrying cars on an elevator from the Pacific Electric tracks at the foot of the Griffith Park hills to a line proposed to run on the hillcrests for several miles, and which, it is declared, would provide a route of rare scenic beauty.

The Park Commission will transmit the City Attorney's opinion to Col. Ginger and it is probable that he will apply direct to the Council for the desired permission to build the novel car elevator and hill railway.

TO PASTURE LAKE.

WITH GRASS-EATING FISH.

Hollenbeck Lake's crop of grass is to be cut with a mower, and then the new crop is to be pastured, with fish as the grass-eaters.

A delegation of Boyle Heights folk appeared before the Park Commission yesterday to urge that immediate attention be given to clearing grass from the lake. The commission decided to use a mower that will cut grass under water and to secure a supply of catfish that will eat this sort of grass. The lake will be stocked with these fish, with the expectation that they will be able to pasture on the lake grass and keep it down to an unobjectionable degree.

The commission discussed details of the work on the grand stand at Exposition Park. It is expected that this immense structure will be completed by August 1.

SHED ARCHITECTURE.

MISSION STYLE TURNED DOWN.

The Harbor Advisory Board smiled in self-approval and patted itself on the back recently when it gave its sanction to a design in mission style for transit shed No. 1 on the municipal docks of the Huntington Fill. But the Municipal Art Commission has firmly suppressed the Harbor Advisory Board as a judge of real art. It has rejected the plan.

The approval of the Municipal Art Commission has been given to what is known as plan No. 4, providing for a plain structure with columns at intervals along the long expanse of shed and slight elevations at the corners of the gable ends. This general style will probably be applied to all transit sheds at the harbor.

The Harbor Advisory Board received the commission's recommendations yesterday, spent some time in discussing who was responsible for the mission-style idea—which they all previously thought was great—and then meekly took the programme and ordered the harbor engineer to proceed at once to prepare plans and specifications according to the design accepted by the Art Commission.

MONEY IS WANTED.

FOR POWER BUREAU'S WORK.

Somebody has to provide $285,000 to complete the aqueduct power project, or the work is likely to come to a standstill. The Council's Finance Committee, representatives of the aqueduct power bureau, the Public Service Commission and the City Auditor held a conference yesterday afternoon to discuss the financial situation, but no decision was reached.

Engineer Scattergood represents that the power bureau has advanced $600,000 for joint tunnel work in San Francisquito Canyon for tunnels which both the aqueduct and the power project would use, and that $285,000 is yet required to carry the work through.

The Board of Public Works is not able to provide the money from aqueduct funds; the Public Service Commission declares that the money cannot be spared from water revenues, and the Finance Committee of the City Council objects to advancing the money from the city treasury.

It was intimated yesterday that unless some provision is made so soon for finances, the work will have to stop.

Contracts were made upon the assumption that bonds would be voted at the recent election, and their failure to pass has left the city in a position where it will have to try its hand on "high finance."

Several months ago the City Council agreed to advance money in order to put the power project work in shape so that it could stand without serious deterioration; but members of the City Council yesterday charged that instead of so using the money advanced, it was used to carry on the work in its regular order, and they are not now inclined to make further inroads on the city treasury.

CONFER ON HIGHWAY.

COMPROMISE IS COMING.

President Shoup of the Pacific Electric Railway and the Harbor Commission held a conference yesterday afternoon on the proposed compromise between the city and the railroads, whereby the city will have ample rights of way for the harbor boulevard between Fourth and Fourteenth streets, San Pedro, and the railroads will have certain advantages that will compensate them in agreeing to the proposed compromise.

Practically all details of the agreement have been reached, whereby the city will be enabled to dismiss its condemnation suits, thus saving to Los Angeles several millions of dollars. At yesterday's conference, however, H. V. Platt of the Southern Pacific, could not be present, so nothing final was done.

President Woodman stated that unless the railroads do reach a conclusion with the city immediately, steps will be taken to proceed with the narrower boulevard, and it will be pushed to a conclusion.

The original plans called for a right of way 130 feet wide; then a plan was evolved for a seventy-five-foot highway, so laid out that but a comparatively small portion of the railroad lands would have to be condemned.

The City Attorney was instructed to amend the city's complaint to conform to the seventy-five-foot project, but in the meantime negotiations were taken up with the Pacific Electric and Southern Pacific by a special committee appointed by the Harbor Advisory Board, and it is very probable that the compromise plan will result.

A final conference will be held next Saturday morning, at which time, both President Shoup of the Pacific Electric, and H. V. Pratt of the Southern Pacific, are expected to be present. Filing of the amended complaint will be deferred until after this conference.

More Public Markets.

The Municipal Market Committee of the City Council met yesterday to discuss leases of ground for more free curb markets and other details connected with the work. It decided to approve the plan of Market Superintendent O'Brien for charging 15 cents per wagon on Tuesdays and Thursdays, and 25 cents on Saturdays, and to allow the opening of as many new markets as such a fund will finance for the present. No further steps will be taken for more markets until after the new budget is prepared.

As to Finances.

The Finance Committee of the City Council decided yesterday to recommend that $20,000 be transferred from the reserve fund to various departments that have overrun their annual allowances. This is necessary to meet the expenses of extra municipal elections and the unusual demand for street maintenance and for extra expenses of the police department and several minor departments.

The committee also recommends the passage of an ordinance providing for a system of handling the petty cash accounts in the City Auditor's office.

Wants Anchorage Grounds.

F. S. Carey of Wilmington asked the Harbor Advisory Board yesterday to recommend the dredging of a channel about 900 feet in length to a depth of from eight to twelve feet, to provide anchorage for the mosquito fleet at Wilmington. He stated that the site heretofore used has become so filled through dredging activities that it is not usable unless it is dredged.

As there is no section of the water frontage in that vicinity that can be set aside as a permanent location for the small craft anchorage grounds the board hesitates to expend any money in this line. It is estimated that the desired work would cost about $5000.

Who Shall Pay the Bill?

The question as to whether the Harbor Commission or the Public Service Commission shall pay for the extension of water mains to the Mormon Island Channel wharf and the Water-street wharf is still unsettled. The Harbor Advisory Board decided yesterday to send a committee composed of Commissioners Gordon and Handley to the Public Service Commission today to urge an immediate settlement of the question as it is desired to have the pipes placed as the wharf building progresses.

The mains will be used largely in supplying ships with water. If the Harbor Commission can get the water at regular city rates and then charge the ships the San Pedro rate, keeping the difference, then it is willing to install the mains; but if the Public Service Commission gets the entire revenue, then the Advisory Board feels that it should put the mains in at its own expense.

Keep Up Decorations.

Leonard Merrill, chairman of the International Christian Endeavor Convention Committee, has appealed to the City Council, asking that it recommend that all decorations put up for the 4th of July be allowed to remain until after the close of the convention, which will be held in this city July 9 to 14 inclusive. He also asked that the park department supply flowers and plants for the convention headquarters.

Signs Not Unlawful.

City Prosecutor Nimmo will send to the City Council today a statement that he concludes that neither the State law nor the city ordinance on fraudulent advertising is violated by the signs of real estate operators along the proposed Silver Lake Parkway, and to which objection has been raised at various times by John J. Jones.

City Hall Brevities.

The Crenshaw Boulevard Improvement Association has petitioned for more fire hydrants on Crenshaw boulevard, between Pico and Washington streets. This was referred to the Fire Chief yesterday for a report.

Owners of private garages where several automobiles are kept have petitioned for a change in the ordinance regulating the storage of gasoline, and the Fire Commission sent the proposed ordinance to the Fire Chief yesterday for his recommendation. At present such garages may keep not more than 200 gallons of gasoline on the place; but the amendment would allow the keeping of 600 gallons.

P. J. McCormick sent a check of $15 to the Fire Commission yesterday in acknowledgement of the efficient work of firemen at the Kenneth Apartments, 325 South Grand avenue. The check was placed in the firemen's pension fund.

The estimated fire loss of the past week is $6960. There were fifty-three alarms turned in, of which seven were false; in eight fires the loss was merely nominal, and there were twenty-eight grass fires.

The Fire Commission decided yesterday to ask the City Council to apply the emergency clause to the ordinance providing for the corps of firemen for the house at Seventh and Figueroa streets, so that the men may be placed on duty there on July 1.

The Fire Commission will ask the Council today to purchase at once 750 tons of hay for the fire department. The Board of Public Works will also advertise at once for bids on furnishing 250 tons of hay for work on the aqueduct.

Because of a break in the water line at the Declez quarries, the Russell-Green-Foell Company has been delayed in getting rock for the riprapping at the Mormon Island Channel wharf, and yesterday asked the Board of Public Works for an extension of ten day's time within which to complete the riprapping work there.

At the Courthouse.

WHITE SLAVE TRAFFIC AGAIN UNDER INVESTIGATION.

One Woman Charged With Taking Her Young Sister to Questionable Apartments — Secret Indictment Against Man in Denver—Grand Jury Also Looks Into Junk Case.

The arrest of Miss Imma Meeves, aged 22, and the detention of Esther Cochran, 17 years old, both lodged at the City Jail, will reopen the white slave investigation by the grand jury tomorrow morning. Miss Meeves was one of the habitues of the Jonquil Apartment, and according to her statement to the detectives, she met George H. Bixby, the Long Beach multi-millionaire, indicted for contributing at the Badger Apartments, No. 702 South Spring street.

Miss Cochran, the detectives say, was what is known as an emergency girl at the Jonquil, making appointments for others over the telephone. Both girls will be witnesses before the grand jury tomorrow. Miss Meeves formerly resided at South Pasadena. She took her sister, Edna, aged 14, to Portland. She is charged with having taken Edna to the Jonquil, but denies this, except that on one occasion she did accompany her to the Jonquil, but at a time when no men were present, and as a matter of convenience, while she stepped in for a moment's chat.

A secret indictment was returned by the grand jury yesterday referring to the arrest of a man now in Denver who is wanted for passing a fictitious check for a small amount. Detective Murphy left last night to bring the man to this city.

A portion of yesterday was passed by the grand jury investigating an angle of the so-called junk trust of this city. The investigation was not important, according to Deputy District Attorney Hammon.

BOBS UP AGAIN.

TRIES COURT'S PATIENCE.

Mrs. Delia B. Rawson, the former divorce and matrimonial agent, promises to be as troublesome in Judge Wood's court as the Old Man of the Sea, according to the ancient fable. Under the law a person sent to jail on a fraud judgment may make a motion every ten days for release. Mrs. Rawson has made three appearances. On the first and second appearances she was thoroughly examined by the court as to her financial status, declared she was insolvent and returned to the County Jail.

The court yesterday declined to go over the previous testimony, stating that unless she had new testimony to offer he would remand her into the custody of the Sheriff. Mrs. Rawson said she had deeds which would show that the $30,000 worth of property standing in the name of her daughter, Marie Buller, came to the latter through other parties. This was in defense of the attitude of the court that Mrs. Rawson could realize on these equities.

Mrs. Rawson declared she is without funds and hence unable to pay the $1900 judgment obtained against her by Gertrude Ryckman in a roominghouse deal. She was represented by Attorney George Greer, who is preparing to take the case to the Appellate Court on a writ of mandate, a writ of certiorari, or a writ of review.

WHITE WAY DAZZLES.

OLD MAN LOSES MONEY.

Harry Ross, 74 years old, pleaded guilty in Judge Willis's court yesterday to signing the name of William Wilson to a check on the First National Bank of this city, May 3, calling for the payment of $670. An application for probation in his behalf was presented to the court, and the matter will come up for action Thursday of next week.

Ross came to California in 1847, on horseback, over the old Santa Fe trail, and engaged in various mining enterprises. About May 1 he reached Los Angeles with $1200, he asserts, that he cleaned up in a mining enterprise in Arizona. He journeyed along Spring street and the white lights were too much for eyes that had only been accustomed to the alkali stretches of the land of the Yaquis and Apaches, with the result that when he awoke in the County Hospital he had lost his bank roll and discovered later that in a fit of absent-mindedness he had signed the name of Wilson, which is that of a fictitious person, to a check on which nobody received any money.

Ross blames all of his troubles on John Barleycorn and promises that if allowed to return to the mountains he will remain forever away from the allurements that the white-light district affords a man with a bunch of money, but no backbone to resist temptation.

SUFFERED MUCH.

BECAUSE HE LOVED HER.

"If your wife got drunk and threw the tea kettle and other things at you, why did you go back to her again?" Judge Monroe asked George W. Reed, whose testimony in his wife's divorce suit was heard yesterday.

"Because I love the woman," was his response. He left her, he said, to go to work as usual and upon his return home he found neither furniture nor wife. It developed that Reed married after a six weeks' engagement.

"Did you smell liquor on her breath then?" asked the court. Reed said he had not.

"I guess she did not drink during that six weeks," commented the court. He stated that the suit was premature, dismissed the wife's complaint for want of prosecution and denied the cross-complaint without prejudice so that Reed could bring suit in the legal time. As Reed had stated it was his belief Mrs. Reed had married him for a home and to see what she could get out of him, Judge Monroe said that to tie him up for a year before he could bring suit would be his punishment for marrying the woman.

MURDER IS CHARGED.

SELF-DEFENSE ASSERTED.

Judge Willis and a jury are hearing evidence in the case of Ramon Munez, charged with the murder of Carpio Oliba, in the vicinity of El Monte, March 19, 1913.

It appears from the evidence that Munez had been drinking heavily on the day of the killing and it is the contention of the State that he ran amuck and shot Oliba. It is denied that the men had any quarrel or trouble any sort, but that the shooting arose from the half-crazed condition of the defendant.

It will be contended by the defense that Munez used his revolver in self-defense and only when he was threatened with great bodily harm by Oliba. It seems that a number of Mexicans were drinking together the day of the shooting. Both men are employed on neighboring ranches near El Monte and had always been the best of friends.

INFORMATIONS FILED.

MANSLAUGHTER IS CHARGED.

Under the new rule of the District Attorney's office, twenty informations were filed by Deputy District Attorney Keetch yesterday, the arraignments to follow the succeeding day. The rule hitherto has been to wait thirty days before filing the indictments, but in order to facilitate the business of the office Monday will be information day.

Among the informations filed yesterday was one charging R. W. George, a wealthy ranchman of Whittier, with manslaughter in connection with the death of Mrs. Estelle D. Carman, wife of an Oakland man, May 14, last. Both were in automobiles. George is alleged to have driven into the machine occupied by Carman and his wife, knocking the latter out. He is held under $5000 bonds.

HAPPY AGAIN.

KISS AND MAKE UP.

On Friday the thirteenth, Orra W. Cole obtained a decree of divorce from his wife, Josephine Cole. Yesterday the couple came into Judge Monroe's court and asked that the decree be dismissed.

"We have made up," smilingly explained Cole.

COURT SENDS HER BACK.

Lola Murphy Kreis, who was arrested on a contributing charge and placed on probation, was in court again yesterday charged with breaking her parole. She had "assed" the probation officers after having returned to her mother and husband, and failed to report to the probation office.

"I overheard your mother say in the corridor to submit to the sentence of the court rather than be burdened by probation," said Judge Wilbur. "I will take her at her word."

Mrs. Kreis's face fell, but later Judge Wilbur released her from custody and told her to go back to her husband and obtain work.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

WATER RIGHTS. A demurrer to the complaint of the Mission Land and Water Company against the General Pipe Line Company of California was argued yesterday before Judge York and submitted. The water company is asking for an injunction to restrain the pipe line company from using water which the former claims under a deed from Joseph Boruff. The action followed the attempt of the pipe line company to use the water produced by a pumping plant built on twenty-five acres it purchased in the San Fernando Valley.

ANOTHER ANGLE. A motion to vacate the order restraining the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank from delivering 6000 shares of stock to J. J. Haggerty upon default of payment by W. C. McEvilly, was continued by Judge Cabaniss yesterday. This was another angle of the litigation between McEvilly and Haggerty growing out of the management of a millinery house, McEvilly having bought the stock upon which he owes a balance of $93,000.

TOO YOUNG TO SUE. Because Margaret C. Bealey was only 15 and her husband, Walter Fitzmaurice Bealey, 19 years old, Judge Monroe could not consider the former's suit for maintenance yesterday because they are minors. He appointed Maurice Kuhn and Robert Bealey, the fathers of the couple, as guardians. The suit will be brought in their names. Bealey was married February 28, last, and left his wife May 24. He is a motion picture employee.

SUES FOR SUPPORT. Alleging that her husband, Charles Edward Reeves, is worth $50,000 and that she is permanently afflicted in both eyes and suffering from asthma and consequently unable to support herself, Mrs. Lydia Maud Reeves yesterday brought suit for separate maintenance. They have one son, Charles John Reeves, aged 15 years. They were married at Johannesberg in 1897.

ASSIGNING CASES. Presiding Judge McCormick succeeded yesterday morning in assigning 135 out of 150 cases ready for trial to Departments 16 and 17 which will be filled by the new judges whom the Governor will appoint. Monday of last week 120 cases were assigned to Department 15. None of these are jury cases. The latter will be set by Judge Wood.

GETS PROBATION. In Judge Willis's court, yesterday, Hyman Koplowits, found guilty of buying stolen goods, was admitted to three years' probation.

CASE STRICKEN OFF. R. W. Jackson, charged with assault, was allowed to go on his own recognizance and the case stricken from the calendar, with the understanding that it may be restored at any time.

DARK FOR DAVENPORT. Earl Henry Davenport, convicted of defrauding F. W. Clark and G. Lawrence Stimson with a forged check for $25, was up for sentence and a motion to admit him on probation. The matter went over until to-tomorrow. The report on Davenport does not give him much encouragement for the exercise of the mercy of the court.

INCORPORATIONS. California Post Card Company, incorporators J. A. Long, L. E. Bobo and B. M. Uhrlaub, capital stock $25,000, subscribed $80; A. W. Riewe Company, incorporators A. W. Riewe, George A. Boden and John Houswirth, capital stock $15,000, subscribed $8; Mountain Mission Inn, incorporators Henry Waterman, Fred B. Kuck, Hartwell Haas, Valentine Kratz and W. J. Wood, capital stock $1,000,000, subscribed $5; Commercial Security Company, incorporators F. H. Oliphant, T. W. Newman, W. W. Newman, E. Sheiden and Sydney H. Pritchard, capital stock $25,000, subscribed $1040.

CONTEMPT CASE APPEALED.

Chief Justice Beatty of the Supreme Court has signed a writ of error on review by that court, appealing to the Supreme Court of the United States the action brought by Fred W. Lake, J. B. Treadwell and Charles C. Boynton against the Superior Court of Kern county. The petitioners had been declared guilty of contempt of court for the alleged violation of another judgment given by the Kern county Superior Court, enjoining them from the assertion of any rights or claims to certain valuable real estate in that county.

HER DISAPPOINTMENT.

Aged Mother of Prisoner Wins Him Release on One Charge but Others Remain.

The aged mother of Paul Van Duzen, a young Georgian who is in the County Jail on a charge of having forged postal bank certificates at Atlanta, is to be pitied.

Van Dusen's mother, who resides in Meadville, Pa., trying to have the boy released on his own recognizance, returned the money he is said to have procured on the certificate and appealed to the Attorney-General, who ordered the prisoner released.

Van Dusen was brought to the United States District Court yesterday for a formal entering of the order, but the matter went over until this morning.

Behind the prisoner sat Under Sheriff Robert Brain, armed with two warrants, charging Van Duzen with as many felonies, and had he been released he would have been re-arrested and returned to the County Jail.

James Maropolis, No. 958 San Pedro street; Peter Hopsis, No. 716 Wall street, and Louis Zegules, No. 716 Wall street, were arrested yesterday by Motorcycle Officer White of the East Side Station on a charge of having stolen $150 worth of hay from Ralph Rodgers, an East Fifty-Seventh-street grain dealer.

The men are said to have driven up to the grain dealer's establishment in a wagon, loaded the hay into it and started to drive away when they were pursued by the policeman. Maropolis and Zegules were captured and turned over to another policeman. White took up the chase after Hopsis. The fugitive led the policeman a merry chase over embankments and down into the river bed, but finally stopped. The men are held at the East Side Station.

BELIEVE CATCH IMPORTANT.

In the arrest of "Shorty" Williams, picked up with the gasoline launch Antioch at San Pedro, Capt. Charles T. Connell, chief of the local immigration bureau, thinks that the authorities have found a man, a Chinese smuggler who has given the authorities much trouble the past two years.

The Antioch was stolen at Benecia, north of San Francisco, and the name Stella substituted. The officers say Williams stole a lot of oil from the Union Oil Company at Santa Barbara while bringing the launch south.

When Williams was in the smuggling trade, say authorities, he used the gasoline launch Witch and made trips up the coast with the boat loaded with contraband Chinese.

As Williams is in the County Jail with one charge of grand larceny against him and two others pending, it is understood the State will handle his case.

ALLEGE INFRINGEMENT.

A suit was filed in the United States District Court yesterday, by the Keller-Thomason Manufacturing Company against the Irrigators' Supply Co., Inc., alleging infringement of an irrigating water gate, said to have been invented by William H. Kller of Pomona, June 4, 1900, and afterward assigned to the plaintiff corporation by the administrator of his estate. A restraining order and accounting of profits are asked.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The trail of "the lobby" the Senate has been following more than two weeks led today into the private office of the men in charge of the Washington offices of the United States beet sugar industry, the leading instrument of the campaign against free sugar, and by originals of letters and telegrams and what purported to be copies of others, developed testimony of what appeared to be an attempt at a far-reaching campaign to create public sentiment against free sugar through the columns of individual newspapers and the facilities of press associations.

It was a trail so long and complicated that after more than two hours of patient effort, the committee had succeeded in reading into its record only a small part of the mass of correspondence, which Senators believed had produced the most sensational evidence yet developed.
